A DISPATCH has been received at the East India-House, from General the Marquess of Hastings, K. G. and G. C. B. Governor General and Commander in Chief of the Forces in the East-Indies, dated Goruckpore, 20th June 1818, of which the following is an extract.

Bajee Row having submitted and placed himself in the hands of Brigadier-General Sir John Malcolm, I have the honour to congratulate you on the termination of what still bore a lingering character of war.

The troops with which Bajee Row had crossed the Tapti were completely surrounded. He found progress towards Gwalior impracticable, retreat as much so, and opposition to the British force altogether hopeless; so that any terms granted to him under such circumstances were purely gratuitous and only referable to that humanity which it was felt your Honourable Court would be desirous should be shewn to an exhausted foe.

The ability with which Brigadier-General Sir John Malcolm first secured the passes of the hills, and then advanced to confine Bajee Row in front, while while Brigadier-General Doveton closed upon him from the rear, will not fail to be applauded by your Honourable Court; nor will you less estimate the moderation with which Sir John Malcolm held forth assurance of liberal and decorous treatment, even to an enemy stained with profligate treachery, when that enemy could no longer make resistance.

Bajce Row is to reside as a private individual in some city within your ancient possessions, probably Benares, enjoying an allowance suited to a person of high birth, but without other pretensions.

A dispatch has also been received from the Government of Fort St. George, dated 12th August 1818, of which dispatch and of its inclosures, the following are extracts and copies.

Extract from a Dispatch from Mr. Strachey, Chief Secretary to the Government of Fort St George, to the Secretary to the East India Company, dated 12th August 1818.

I AM directed to transmit to you a copy of a letter reporting that the fortress of Manowlie and the district of Chuckorie, have been delivered up to Brigadier-General Munro, and copies of accounts of the operations of the force under the command of Lieutenant-Colonel Macdowell, against the fortress of Malligaum, and of its surrender* to that officer.

By the accompanying dispatch from the Resident at Poona, the Honourable the Secret Committee will have the satisfaction of learning that the war in the Peishwah's late dominions has been terminated by the surrender of the Fort of Moolheir.

Extract from a Letter from Brigadier-General Munro, to the Honourable Mountstuart Elphinstone, dated 2d June 1818.

After leaving Sattarah on the morning of the 29th ultimo, I rejoined the reserve the following day about noon. On my arrival I found that an order from Appa* Dessye to his officer at Manowliet, directing the immediate surrender of that place to the company, had been received in camp, and dispatched about an hour before. Though the order itself was perfectly clear, I was convinced both from the character of the Dessye and his recent conduct, that it would not be acted upon without an attempt being made to gain time, and to try the effect of negotiation. I therefore determined to prevent all unnecessary delay by marching to Nepawnie.

The Dewan Narreer Phunt said, that he would himself instantly proceed to Manowliet and deliver it up. He set out in the evening with a party of twenty horse, travelled all night, and reached Manowliet in the afternoon of the 31st ultimo, and made over the place to my Amildar next morning.

When I marched from Erroor on the 31st ultimo, Appa Dessye had sent no order for the giving up the district of Chuckorie†. His second Dewan, Singoo Punt, who accompanied me, proposed to deliver up the Sircar, and retain the Enam Villages‡. This plan was at once rejected, because it would in fact have enabled the Dessye to continue to maintain a number of his servants at the expence of the districts;—I told the Dewan that the order must be for the surrender of the whole district without any reservation, and that it must be brought to me before my arrival at Ncpawnie. He met me on the march yesterday morning with this order, but as it reserved the Enam Villages it was returned to him, and he soon after came back with another order of unconditional surrender..

Camp before Malligaum, 1st June 1818.

ON the 20th ultimo, I did myself the honour of reporting to the Quarter-Master General of the Army, for the information of his Excellency the Commander in Chief, the movements and operations of the detachment I command up to that day.

I have now the honour of forwarding a return of killed and wounded from the 18th to the 29th of last month.

On the 28th the breach in the curtain of the Fort of Malligaum was reported and appeared practicable, and the senior engineer, Ensign Nattes, recommended storming next morning.

I made my arrangements for three simultaneous attacks, two on the outworks and Pettah on the opposite side, commanded by Lieutenant-Colonel Stewart and Major Macbean, and the third and principal one on the road leading to the breach under Major Greenhill, who had joined me with the second battalion seventeenth, or C. L. I. on the evening of the 27th. This attack consisted of one hundred Europeans; and five hundred Sepoys of different corps, mostly of the second battalion of the seventeenth, and headed by Ensign Nattes, sappers and miners; ladders, &c. every man carrying two bags filled with wet grass, Ensign Nattes himself setting the example. The road leading to the breach of the outworks is flanked by towers and loop holes ; however, our men moved on gallantly, until Ensign Nattes got to the top of the breach, when he called out " impracticable," and immediately received five balls in different parts of his body. Major Greenhill had fallen a little behind in consequence of a wound in the heel, but Captain Kennedy led on the advance, and was mortally wounded close to where poor Nattes fell. All this time the fire from the towers and loop-holes was kept pretty well under by our shot, shells, and musketry from the reserve. I was obliged, however, to sound the recall, and our brave troops returned more convinced of their superiority over these Arabs than when they advanced. Captain Kennedy and Ensign Nattes with most of the wounded men were brought back, but Lieutenant Wilkinson, of the second battalion of the 13th regiment, and five men who were killed remained in the bed of the river, and on the top of the breach until doolies were sent, and the Arabs permitted them to be brought in. Had it been possible for our men to have got to the bottom of the breach of the fort, I have no doubt we should have carried the place, but there was no road, the enemy having cut away from the inside of the breach of the outwork three times the depth of our scaling ladders.

As the attention of most of the enemy was drawn to this attack, the town of Malligaum was easily occupied, and I have now turned the siege into a blockade until the battering guns and stores arrive from Ahmednuggur. Our approaches on the Pettah side are now within twenty paces of the enemy's outworks, and mines may be easily carried on which the river on the other side prevented. The fort and outworks of Malligaum are uncommonly well-built, and, without mining, it will be impossible to fill up the different ditches. I lament the loss of so many gallant officers and men since I came before this place, but it is with much pleasure I report to his Excellency, that every man was cool and determined, and never flinched until the recal was sounded.
many

Return of Killed and Wounded in a Detachment of the Hyderabad Subsidiary Force, under the command of Lieutenant-Colonel A. M. Dowell, at the Siege and Storm of Malligaum, from the 18th to 29th May 1818.

G. MAITLAND,

Major of Brigade.

5th

5th and 7th June 1818.

I REQUEST you will report, for the information of Brigadier General Doveton, that Ensign Purton was wounded yesterday in the head, but I am happy to say it is merely a graze.

I forward a copy of the orders I issued the 29th and 30th ultimo.

Camp before Malligaum, 29th May 1818.

Notwithstanding Major Greenhill and the officers and men who moved towards the breach this morning met with obstacles not to be surmounted, and were in consequence recalled, Lieutenant-Colonel M'Dowell was highly gratified at witnessing the cool and determined courage of the Europeans and Sepoys on this trying occasion; and begs that Major Greenhill, the officers and men in this attack, will accept his best acknowledgements for their gallant conduct.

Every European and Sepoy this morning engaged, as well as the reserve in the trenches, must be convinced of the superiority of our troops over these Arabs, although behind walls; and the commanding officer looks forward for a good road to the breach, to make an excellent example of them. This order to be particularly explained to the native troops of this detachment.

G. MAITLAND, M. E.

Camp before Malligaum, 31st May 1818.

IN turning the siege of Malligaum into a blockade, the commanding officer has to lament the severe loss this detachment has met with in the fall of so many valuable officers and men since the 18th instant, particularly in Ensign Nattes of the engineers in leading the sappers and miners at the head of the storming party yesterday; the service at large, large, but particularly his corps, has lost in him a gallant and skilful officer. While Lieutenant-Colonel M'Dowell thus deploras the loss in this siege of two successive commandants of the corps of sappers and miners, he cannot withhold his approbation from the surviving officers, and he requests Ensigns Purton, Lake and Underwood will accept his thanks for their zeal and unwearied exertions on all occasions, since they joined this detachment.

Lieutenant-Colonel M'Dowell also laments the fall of Captain Kennedy, of the 2d battalion 17th regiment C. L. I. who was mortally wounded close to Ensign Nattes, and Lieutenant Wilkinson of the 2d battalion 13th regiment N. I. who fell at the head of his company, on the same occasion, as also Lieutenant Egan of the same corps, who died of the wound he received on the night of the 28th, while in command of the left post. He is happy, however, to find that he will not long be deprived of the services of Major Greenhill and the other wounded officers.

The commanding officer takes this opportunity of returning his best thanks to Lieutenant-Colonel Crosdill and the officers and men of the artillery, for their great and laborious exertions in the different batteries during eleven days, by which a breach was completed, with a few guns nearly unservicable.

Lieutenant-Colonel M'Dowell has not yet received from Lieutenant-Colonel Stuart, or Major M'Bean, reports of the operations of the parties under their command in the assaults on different parts of the Pettah, but he is happy to know that their success has given us complete possession of the town.

G. MAITLAND, M B.

to the Adjutant General, dated Malligaum, 17th June 1818.*

SIR,

I HAVE the honour to report, for the information of His Excellency the Commander in Chief, that the garrison of Malligaum surrendered unconditionally on the morning of the 14th instant.

After forwarding to you, on the 1st, a return of killed and wounded, and reporting the result of the attacks on the Fort and Town, on the morning of the 29th May, I changed ground to the Pettah side, throwing up a strong redoubt where our breaching battery was, and keeping possession of all our advanced posts on that side, and blockading the place as closely as the range of the shot from the fort would admit.

I now commenced laying in fresh materials for renewing active operations to occupy if possible the place before the heavy rains set in, taking our two unserviceable eighteen pounders off the carriages, and bringing from Chandoor and Unki-Tunki two others.

On the 18th, gabions and fascines for two batteries were completed, and on the 9th, owing to the great exertions of Brigadier General Smith, a park of four eighteen-pounders, three brass twelve-pounders, some mortars and howitzers, escorted by the 1st battalion 4th Bombay infantry, under Major Watson arrived. On the morning of the 11th a battery of one 10-inch mortar, and seven 8-inch mortars and howitzers opened. Several were thrown to ascertain the proper length of the Bombay fuses, when we commenced a smart bombardment, and at 11 A. M. I had the satisfaction to see the enemy's grand magazine blow up, car-

carrying with it, from the foundation, about twenty-five yards of the work of the inner fort, some of the Pagah wall, and filling up part of the ditch; still an immense strong wall of the out-works was entire.

Within four hundred yards of this a breaching battery was nearly finished on the night of the 11th, when the garrison called out for quarter; our fire on the breach however continued till morning, when the enemy hoisted a flag, and two Arab Jemidars came out; I told them unconditional surrender was the only terms I could give them. These in the course of this day, the 12th, were accepted, and next morning a native officer's party was admitted, and the British flag hoisted on the Tower of the inner fort.

Finding that treachery on our part was suspected, and wishing to do away a report all over Kandeish so prejudicial to our character, I did not hesitate in signing a paper declaring, in the name of my Government, that the garrison should not be put to death, after they surrendered; and I trust His Excellency will approve of this. Next morning about three hundred men, mostly Arabs, marched out and grounded, in front of our troops, about nine hundred arms of different descriptions, in an orderly and regular manner, which, with the conduct of these men, on the morning of the 29th May, in allowing me to carry off my killed and wounded, induced me to return to the three Jemidars, and most of the Arabs the knives that had belonged to their families for ages.

The matchlocks, blunderbusses, swords, &c. were disposed of to Lieutenant Rind's and Cornet Kaye's auxiliary and Hindoostanee horse.

I have the honour to be, &c. &c. &c.

A. M'DOWELL.

THE Commander in Chief has much satisfaction in announcing to the army the successful result of an attack† made by the troops under the command of Brigadier-General Hardyman, consisting of His Majesty's 17th foot, and the 8th regiment of native calvary, on a considerable body of the Nagpore Rajah's troops posted near the town of Jubbulpore, and supported by four pieces of cannon; which after a short struggle were captured by our troops, the enemy being completely routed, and dispersed with considerable slaughter.

The evacuation of the fortified town of Jubbulpore, and the capture of several guns, and a quantity of military stores, were the immediate consequences of the foregoing operations, which reflect credit on Brigadier-General Hardyman, and the troops engaged, and to whom, and especially to Lieutenant Pope, 8th native cavalry, the Commander in Chief desires that his approbation and thanks for their conduct may be communicated.

The Speech of the Lords Commissioners to both Houses of Parliament, on Thursday the 21st day of January 1819.

My Lords, and Gentlemen,

WE are commanded by His Royal Highness the Prince Regent to express to you the deep regret which He feels in the continuance of His Majesty's lamented indisposition.

In announcing to you the severe calamity with which it has pleased Divine Providence to visit the Prince Regent, the Royal Family, and the nation, by the death of Her Majesty the Queen of the United Kingdom, His Royal Highness has commanded us to direct your attention to the consideration of such measures as this melancholy event has rendered necessary and expedient with respect to the care of His Majesty's sacred person.

We are directed to inform you, that the negotiations which have taken place at Aix-la-Chapelle, have led to the evacuation of the French territory by the allied armies.

The Prince Regent has given orders, that the Convention concluded for this purpose, as well as the other documents connected with this arrangement, shall be laid before you: and He is persuaded, that you will view with peculiar satisfaction the intimate union which so happily subsists amongst the Powers who were parties to these transactions, and the unvaried disposition which has been manifested in all their proceedings for the preservation of the peace and tranquillity of Europe.

The Prince Regent has commanded us further to acquaint you, that a Treaty has been concluded between His Royal Highness and the Government of the United States of America, for the renewal, for a further term of years, of the Commercial Convention now subsisting between the two nations, and for the amicable adjustment of several points of mutual importance to the interests of both countries; and, as soon as the ratifications shall have been exchanged, His Royal Highness will give directions that a copy of this Treaty shall be laid before you.

Gentlemen of the House of Commons,

The Prince Regent has directed that the estimates for the current year shall be laid before you.

His Royal Highness feels assured, that you will learn with satisfaction the extent of reduction which the present situation of Europe, and the circumstances of the British empire, have enabled His Royal Highness to effect in the naval and military establishments of the country.

His Royal Highness has also the gratification of announcing to you a considerable and progressive improvement of the Revenue in its most important branches.

My Lords, and Gentlemen,

The Prince Regent has directed to be laid before you such papers as are necessary to shew the origin and result of the war in the East Indies.

His Royal Highness commands us to inform you, that the operations undertaken by the Governor-General in Council against the Pindarries were dictated by the strictest principles of self defence ; and that in the extended hostilities which followed upon those operations, the Mahrattah Princes were in every instance the aggressors. Under the provident and skilful superintendence of the Marquess of Hastings, the campaign was marked in every point by brilliant achievements and successes ; and His Majesty's forces, and those of the East India Company (Native as well as European), rivalled each other in sustaining the reputation of the British arms.

The Prince Regent has the greatest pleasure in being able to inform you, that the trade, commerce, and manufactures of the country are in a most flourishing condition.

The favourable change which has so rapidly taken place in the internal circumstances of the United Kingdom affords the strongest proof of the solidity of its resources.

To cultivate and improve the advantages of our present situation will be the object of your deliberations ; and His Royal Highness has commanded us to assure you of His disposition to concur and co-operate in whatever may be best calculated to secure to His Majesty's subjects the full benefits of that state of peace which, by the blessing of Providence, has been so happily re-established throughout Europe.

Lord

1819.*

India-Board, February 24, 1819.

THE dispatches and reports, of which the following are extracts and copies, have been received at the East India-House from the Governor-General in Council at Fort-William, and from the Governor in Council of Bombay, containing statements of operations, of which (although not of recent occurrence) the official accounts had not previously been received.
..of

Extract from a Dispatch addressed by the Governor in Council at Bombay to the Court of Directors, dated 12th September 1818.

CAPTAIN SWANSTON, of the Madras Establishment, who had been detached with two hundred auxiliary horse and two companies of the 1st battalion of the 7th regiment of Bombay native infantry, to Tullygaum for the escort of some stores, charged a body of four hundred of the enemy, and put them to flight, with the loss of several men and horses*.

The Commanding Officer of the Southern Division of Guzerat was ordered to take possession of the valuable Pergunnah of Oolpar, which was effected by a small detachment from Surat, under Lieutenant Rigby, of the 2d battalion 5th regiment, on the night of the 28th of November.

Copy of a Dispatch from Major-General Marshall to the Adjutant-General, dated Camp, Beechee Tal, 15th December 1817.

SIR,

IN continuation of my letter of the 13th instant, I have the honour and satisfaction to report, for the information of the Most Noble the Commander in Chief, that I marched, at twelve o'clock at night on the 13th, from Bijraoun for the Ghaut of Laudowna, twenty-two miles due west, which our intelligence stated that the Durrahs had forced, and were encamped at Beechee Tal, five miles above it. Owing to the badness of the roads, we did not arrive at the foot of the Ghaut till between two and three o'clock yesterday afternoon; when, hearing that the united Durrabs of Wassel Mahomed and Kutreem Khan had not left their camp, I ordered the division to mount the Ghaut, and arranged for the cavalry pushing on, supported by the 1st battalion 14th regiment native infantry and galloper brigade; seeing that much time would be lost in waiting for the guns and remainder of the troops. Accordingly Brigadier Newbery mounted the pass with the whole of the cavalry, immediately in the rear of the infantry advance guard under Major Lamb, and was followed by the 1st battalion 14th, dragging up the galloper guns; but Brigadier Newbery, seeing a body of Pindarries, very judiciously ordered the cavalry to charge, without waiting the arrival of the gallopers and battalion. On receiving this intelligence, I proceeded instantly with Brigadier-General Watson, four of the gallopers, and 1st battalion 14th, to follow the cavalry with the utmost speed. The battalion, notwithstanding the fatiguing march of twenty-two miles, and having been under arms so many hours, moved on at double quick in the highest spirits. The Durrabs, a few hours before, had moved off with their families and baggage, leaving a thousand or two of their fleetest horse to cover their retreat. It was one thousand of these the cavalry pursued, and killed between forty and fifty; but the terror and dismay of the Durrabs was extreme, for though they had got many miles off before our cavalry arrived at the Ghaut, the Hirkarabs report that they threw away much grain and baggage, and left many head of cattle on their march, and that the inhabitants of the country were employed all night in collecting what the fears of the enemy induced them to throw away.

Brigadier Newbery's pursuit of their rear guard continued for about ten miles from the top of the

pass, when, having dispersed it, and finding the pursuit no longer useful, from the great fatigue the horses had undergone, he returned to the ground on which the Pindarries had been encamped, where I had just arrived with the 1st battalion of the 14th and gallopers, when I gave orders for encamping the division till we could obtain intelligence of the road the Pindarries had taken; for it was not clear that the main body had gone in the direction of those pursued by the cavalry.

I cannot speak too highly of the ardour displayed by the whole of the troops composing the division on this occasion.—The four troops of the 2d Rohilla cavalry, under Lieutenant Turner, and four troops of the 3d, under Lieutenant Frobisher, are very highly spoken of by every one, for their zeal and intrepidity, as reported by Brigadier Newbery. That highly distinguished 4th regiment native cavalry, under the command of Captain Ridge, with their usual gallantry and intrepidity, were ready and equal for every thing in the power of their horses to carry them to.

Intelligence now states that the Pindarries fled yesterday nine coss in the direction of Kotah, and part of them four coss further. No doubt they have moved again to-day. I purpose pursuing again according to the information I may receive.

The guide and intelligence, and every part of the duties of the Quarter-Master-General's Department, is conducted with such zeal and ability by Lieutenant Pickersgill, Deputy Assistant-Quarter-Master-General, that the utmost benefits may reasonably be expected to result therefrom.

I have the honour to inclose a return of the killed, wounded, and missing; likewise a copy of my Orders of this date.

I have, &c.

D. MARSHALL, Major-General, commanding the left Division.

Return

Return of Killed, Wounded, and Missing, in the 3d Brigade of Cavalry, in Action with the Pindarries on the 14th December 1817.

Killed—1 trooper, 17 horses.

Wounded—1 duffadar, 8 troopers.

Missing—8 horses.

F. NEWBERRY, Colonel, Commanding
3d Cavalry Brigade.

*Division Orders by Major-General Marshall, Com-

Camp Beechee Tal, December 15, 1817.

Major-General Marshall congratulates the Division he has the honour to command, on the result of their exertions for the last two days, which, though they have not yet been crowned with such decided success as he could have wished, in consequence of the flight of the Pindarries, will prove to the enemy that no opportunity will be lost of coming up with them; and with troops so eager for the contest as ours shewed themselves yesterday evening there can never be any doubt of a glorious result.

The Major-General returns his best thanks to Brigadier Newbery, and the Officers and men of the 3d cavalry brigade, for the gallant manner in which they charged the enemy's rear-guard, and the perseverance of the pursuit till they had dispersed it, notwithstanding the tired condition of our horses; and also to Brigadier-General Watson, C. B. and the Officers and men of the horse and foot artillery and infantry, for their great exertions and alacrity in getting the guns up the Ledowna Ghaut, and proceeding on in the hope of sharing in the action, which was prevented by the precipitate flight of the Pindarries.

W. JAMES, D. A. A. Gen.

Copy

Copy of a Dispatch from Major-General Donkin to the Marquess of Hastings, dated Camp, on the Parbuttee, December 17, 1817.

MY LORD,

I THIS morning, about two hours before daylight, surprised a small camp of about two hundred and fifty Pindarries, twenty of whom were killed or wounded, about six were taken, and the rest escaped in the dark, before Lieutenant-Colonel Knox, with the 1st native cavalry, could effectually surround them. They discharged all their matchlocks before flight, but fortunately with no effect.

This proved to be the camp of the family of Kurreem Khaun, which will give the circumstance perhaps a little more importance than it otherwise could have. They had been to seek a refuge in a neighbouring fort, which the Killedar had refused, and they were returning to Kurreem. They had been on the ground only four hours when they were surprised.

Two of the prisoners assert that Kurreem's son was in the camp in charge of the family, and a young man has been killed who answers to the description given of him. We have taken twenty camels laden, several horses, and some clothes, shawls, and female ornaments.

They were so completely dispersed that I do not suppose twenty have gone off together in any one direction; the alarm therefore which they will spread will be in proportion to their diffusion over the country.

As we have been making forced marches for some time, I am unable to pursue Kurreem Khaun to-morrow, as I have outmarched all my supplies. He left this place yesterday, but is now thirty miles off; a distance I could not gain on him, particularly in his present state, in a week. He two days ago gave away all his goods and baggage, burnt his tents, and dismissed his women and camp followers; he has retained only three or four thousand of his best soldiers, with whom he is pressing for the Morundra pass according to some accounts, and according to others to Sheerghur, a fort near Luckut-poor, but into which I conclude Zalem Sing will refuse him admittance.
his

I am in hopes that Lieutenant-Colonel Adams, who was to be at Goolgul Chuppra on the 15th, will either get up with him or drive him back on me.

After surprising the camp, I detached Lieutenant-Colonel Gardiner with his frontier horse after a party of Pindaries I had intelligence of in this direction; they were about three or four hundred; he attacked and dispersed them, killing about twelve or fourteen, and taking thirty-two camels, some of them valuably laden.

Their Bazar is also this moment brought in. Your Lordship will see by this account that the Pindaries no longer exist hereabout as a formidable power; they appear to be scattered over the face of the country, without resources, plans, or hopes.

I have, &c.

B. S. DONKIN, Major-Gen.

Extract of a Dispatch from Captain J. Tod, Political Agent at Kotah, to Mr. Adam, Secretary to the Governor-General, dated Kotah, 24th December 1817.

MY letter to General Donkin's address of the 22d instant, copy of which I had the honour to lay before you, will have informed you of a little exploit of Gardiner's horse, aided by a naik and twelve of my infantry escort.

In

In the conclusion of that letter I mentioned my having just heard of two bodies of Pindarries of three and five hundred each, who escaped from Colonel Adams's pursuit eastward, and finding no outlet from the hills south, were skulking between them and the rivers, and that I had just dispatched a jemedar, one havildar, two naiks, and thirty-two sepoy's of my own escort, with about two hundred and fifty horse and foot of the Raj Rana's, to beat up their quarters.

They set out at eight in the evening, and by some accident my sepoy's separated from the Raj Rana's party, but continuing their march came on the Pindarree camp about a quarter of an hour before day-break.

A Hircarrah was sent on to reconnoitre, who reported an extensive camp, and that they were just saddling preparatory to moving. After a momentary hesitation the party advanced within a few yards, pouring in volleys amongst them, which were continued till the camp was cleared.

As the day broke a body of three to four hundred, well mounted, were seen moving off, and another of about one hundred, who, making a circuit, seemed inclined to cut off the little band. When within sufficient distance a fire was opened on them, which immediately compelled them to fly. Being on the edge of the Caly Sind, many in their flight were precipitated down its banks.

The reports of the mischief were various, some said eighty, some one hundred, others one hundred and fifty, but they remained too short a period to have any certainty in this respect. Each took a horse and returned a mounted corps. Some lascars (two of whom are missing), driving before them sixteen camels already laden, various arms, thirty swords, besides spears and matchlocks, were brought in, and a great quantity of their camels and horses were destroyed by the fire, which was incessant.

When within ten miles of camp, a body of one hundred and fifty Pindarries moved in sight; the party dismounted and formed, but they were too much alarmed to come within shot. The little party returned amidst the admiration of the Raj Rana's whole force, about four in the evening, having in twenty hours marched near sixty miles.

Copy of a Dispatch from Lieutenant-Colonel Adams to the Adjutant-General, dated Camp, Gogurney, 25th December 1817.

SIR,

I HAVE the honour to acquaint you, for the information of the Most Noble the Commander in Chief, that having received intelligence from my Hircarrahs, on the evening of the 23d instant, that a body of Pindarries had just descended the Targe Ghaut, near to which they had been concealed for some days by the people of the country (Kotah), and from which place of shelter they were forced by the movement of the Bhopaul horse on their flank, I detached Captain Roleer-st with the 1st Rohilla cavalry in pursuit, and have the pleasure to annex his report, stating that he had the good fortune to overtake and disperse them.

The number of the Pindarries appears to have been about four hundred, and the distance marched by the 1st Rohilla Cavalry, including pursuit, nearly sixty miles.

I have, &c.

J. W. ADAMS, Lieut.-Col. commanding
N. S. Force.

Extract from a Dispatch from Brigadier-General Hardyman to the Adjutant-General, dated Camp, Jubbulpore, 20th December 1817.

YESTERDAY I had the honour to report, for the information of the Most Noble the Commander in Chief the total rout* of the enemy before Jubbulpore. Since then, and in the course of yesterday afternoon, the town and gurry of Jubbulpore have been entirely evacuated by armed people of every description; and four guns, some gingals, and a variety of small arms, have been brought into my camp.

I shall endeavour to reach the Nerbudda this evening, and make the necessary arrangements for crossing it to-morrow, in progress to Nagpore.

Copy of a Dispatch from Major-General Brown to the Adjutant-General, dated Camp, near Jowud†, 29th January 1818.

SIR,

SINCE I wrote to you, Capt. Caulfield, who had demanded that Bhow Sing and Imaum Buksh should be given up, as men who had been found to have screened and protected the Pindarries, finding only delays and evasions, I informed the Bhow yesterday that his intercourse with him was at an end until these men were surrendered: he persisted in making evasions and excuses, and in the mean time Bhow Sing was preparing to make off. Upon finding that his cavalry was saddling I sent down a squadron close to his camp, with orders to attack him if he moved; but upon the squadron passing near their camp a fire of matchlocks and three guns was opened upon them. This commencement of hostilities put an end to all doubt of the character in which the Bhow had placed himself. Two horse artillery guns, brought up to the aid of the cavalry, drove his men from their guns into the fort; and as the fire was continued I blew open the gate, and forced my way into the town under a heavy fire, but with little loss. In the mean time Captain Ridge and Lieutenant Franklin attacked and carried, in a most gallant style, the enemy's infantry camp and four guns, under a heavy fire. I am happy to say our loss there also has been very slight, the particulars I shall have the honour of giving you to-morrow.

I have, &c.

THOS. BROWN, Major-General.

Extract from a Dispatch from Major-General Brown to the Adjutant-General, dated Camp, Jowud, 30th January 1818.

THE enemy's loss must have been very severe, certainly not less than a thousand killed and wounded. Ours, I am happy to say, has been very trifling; Lieutenant Paton, of the dromedary corps, was wounded by a sword in the hand; I inclose a return of casualties. I have to express my strong sense of the zeal and gallantry of the whole of the Officers and men engaged.

I am under great obligations to Captain Caulfield, who assisted me with his information; and I beg to point out in the strongest manner, the services I received from Lieutenant Franklin, Deputy Assistant-Quarter-Master-General, whose professional ability deserves the highest praise; his accurate reconnoissance in the first instance was essentially useful to me, and afterwards the judicious and spirited manner in which he conducted Captain Ridge's detachment, reflects the highest credit on him.
and

I beg also to express my sense of the services I received from Captain Beatson, Deputy Assistant-Adjutant-General, as well as of my Personal Staff, Captains Hanbury and M'Kinley, to the former of whom I entrusted an enfilading battery of two guns, which he managed with skill and effect.

Return of Casualties in the Detachment commanded by Major-General Thomas Brown, at the Assault of Jowud and Capture of Jeswunt Row Bhow's Camp and Guns, on the 29th January 1818.

THOS. BROWN, Major-General.

Extract from a Dispatch from Mr. Russell, Resident at Hyderabad, to Mr. Adam, Secretary to the Governor-General, dated 28th January 1818.

AS the communication with the Southern Mahratta territories is now very irregular and uncertain, I have the honour to send you, for the notice of His Excellency the Most Noble the Governor-General, copies of Major Doveton's reports to Brigadier-General Pritzler, describing two little affairs which our cavalry had had with the Peishwa's army on the 7th and 17th instant. Nothing can show more clearly the contemptible character of the Peishwa's troops, than that ten thousand of them were routed by three squadrons, amounting to only two hundred and eighty swords.

Copy

Copy of a Dispatch from Major Doveton to Brigadier-General Pritzler, dated 8th January 1818.

SIR,

IN obedience to the Brigadier-General's orders, directing me to report the circumstances of an affair with the enemy yesterday, I have to state, in a few days I pushed on with four squadrons of my brigade, and, at the distance of two miles from the head of the column of infantry, I came up with the advanced or reconnoitring troop with six or seven hundred of the enemy's horse in their front; after crossing a steep and bad nullah, I formed the brigade into echelon of squadron, left in front, for attack, and moved on at a gallop; numerous ravines and nullahs greatly impeded my progress, and observing no inclination on the part of this contemptible body of the enemy to stand the charge, I directed the advanced squadron to break and pursue; about sixty or seventy of the enemy were cut up; thirty small horses and tattoos, together with some swords, spears, a camel, and some prisoners, taken; one horse of the 7th missing and one wounded.

I have, &c.

JOHN DOVETON, Major Commanding.

Copy of a Dispatch from Major Doveton to Brigadier-General Pritzler, dated 18th January 1818.

SIR,

HAVING received the Brigadier-General's command to report the particulars of an affair which a party of my brigade had with the enemy yesterday, I have the honour to state for his information, that a little after two o'clock P. M. intelligence was brought me by a trooper, that the cavalry picquet

were pressed by a large body of horse, and that numerous others were collecting on a height about three miles in front of the camp. I immediately repaired to the spot, and in my way ordered out the picquets coming on duty to support the old. I found them formed within two hundred yards of a nullah, from the opposite bank of which numerous straggling horse were keeping up an irregular and ill directed fire on our party, from matchlocks and gingal pieces. I directed the picquets, which were now reinforced by those coming on duty, to stand their ground. In about a quarter of an hour afterwards a galloper and two squadrons, under Major Dawes, which the Brigadier-General had been pleased to send to my support, coming up, I joined them, and moved down upon a road leading across the nullah, the picquets on my left advancing at the same time. Having succeeded in getting the gun over, I directed Major Cleaveland to open with the spherical case shot upon some large bodies in front of his left, whilst the squadron were crossing and forming to the right, leaving orders for the picquets to remain with and support the gun. I pushed on to attack a body of three thousand, which appeared to be making a movement to their left, in order as I thought to gain and turn my right flank; but observing my advance they halted and formed. At this moment a squadron of the 7th, under Lieutenant and Adjutant Weir, joined me; I directed it to form in rear of and outflanking my right, at the distance of two hundred yards, as a support, and on no account to attack, unless they saw me pressed or outflanked. I charged and routed this body, and was on the point of ordering out pursuers, when another almost as numerous made its appearance on my left flank within six hundred yards. I immediately changed position on the left half squadron, bringing forward my right the quarter circle, I charged and dispersed them, but was again brought brought up by another body more numerous than the first, threatening my left at the distance of eight hundred yards. I wheeled the squadron into echelon to the left eighth of a circle (the supporting squadron conforming with promptitude to my movement), charged and pursued them to some distance. Our horses being by this time much blown I sounded a halt. About ten minutes afterwards the brigade of gallopers, under Major Cleaveland, joined me. They were opened with good effect on masses of the flying enemy. Finding myself upwards of six miles from camp, and the enemy fast closing in, I directed the whole to return to their lines.

The inconsiderable number of the enemy cut up upon this occasion (about fifty I should suppose), may be accounted for from my positive orders, which were as strictly obeyed, that no man should quit his ranks to pursue; a precaution rendered absolutely necessary to the very existence of my small party, surrounded as they were by such numbers.

Some horses, spears, and swords were captured, only a horse of the 22d and two of the 7th are missing, and two of the latter corps wounded.

However despicable the enemy have proved themselves except in numbers, which, by the statement of the prisoners taken as well as from every other account, are said to have amounted to ten thousand, I cannot refrain from expressing my high admiration of the steadiness and gallantry of my three squadrons, namely, one of His Majesty's 22d Dragoons and two of the 7th regiment L. C. amounting in all to two hundred and eighty swords; their charges and movements were executed with a promptitude, compactness, and celerity well worthy such men under such Officers.

I have, &c.

JOHN DOVETON, Major Comg.

Extract from a Dispatch from Major M'Pherson, Commanding at Hoossingabad to the Adjutant-General, dated Camp Colesuneh, 23d January 1818.

SIR,

I HAVE the honour to forward you a copy of a letter from the Resident at Nagpore, received by me on the 18th instant, and to acquaint you, for the information of His Excellency the Most Noble the Commander in Chief, that in order to carry the instructions therein contained into effect, I considered it a necessary step to obtain possession of the fort of Soony*, a small but strong place, the walls faced with masonry and a ditch, which was occupied by Khundoo Pundit, a Foujdar of the Berar Government, who since the commencement of the late disturbances in this quarter has evinced a disposition hostile to the British Government.

I accordingly marched with five hundred men of the 2d battalion 10th Regiment and 2d battalion 23d, two hundred Rohilla cavalry, two eighteen-pounders, and two six-pounders, field pieces, and arrived before the place at twelve o'clock of the 21st instant; I immediately summoned Khundoo Pundit then in the fort to evacuate it, assuring him that he would be allowed to retire unmolested, with his family, followers, and property, granting him two hours to make his preparations, and to which he then agreed.

At the expiration of the time allowed I demanded the fulfilment of his agreement, but he evaded it for some time, and finding that he did not intend to give up the fort, but had merely in view to gain time, I ordered the guns to a position distant three hundred yards from that post, which had been selected by Lieutenant Walcott for breaching.

* Situated to the south of Hoossingabad.

The battery, made with brinjarry bags, being ready at four P. M. the guns opened, and were answered by a smart fire from the fort, which was soon silenced by the six pounders, most judiciously placed by Lieutenant Walcott to destroy their defence.

The guns were served with the utmost skill and precision; and I conjectured from the appearance of the wall that a breach would have been effected by sunset; but after having fired nearly two hundred rounds, I was, in consequence of the enemy's being far advanced, necessitated to order the firing to cease.

At this time the breach was not considered practicable, and the enemy taking advantage of the cessation of our fire retired from the fort in small parties.

One of these bodies, amounting to about fifty, was attacked and dispersed, leaving fifteen men killed by the party under Lieutenant Macqueen; the remainder escaped from the lateness of the hour and the numerous fields of sugar cane in the vicinity; although without doubt numbers of the fugitives remained in the town during the night, I did not allow the troops to enter, fearing that general plunder would inevitably have taken place.

Upon my receiving intimation that the fort was evacuated, I sent a party to take possession.

Return of Ordnance and Ammunition found in the Fort of Soony.

Twelve guns, two matchlocks, seventy-four loaded rockets, with a large quantity of shot and ammunition of all descriptions.

Extract from a Dispatch from Major-General Donkin to the Adjutant-General, dated Camp, Raepoor, February 11, 1818.

I HAVE the honour to report to you for the information of the Most Noble the Commander in Chief, that I arrived with part of the division under my command, and took possession of the fort of Raepoor*, in conformity to instructions from the Most Noble the Governor-General, and I shall in the course of a day or two deliver it over to the agent of the Oudipoor Rajah, whose troops are now here: it was formerly in possession of Bapoo Sindia, whose troops marched out this morning by capitulation, the terms of which are annexed.

Terms of Capitulation.

1st—To be allowed to take away with the garrison all their personal property, arms, and horses.

2d—To have a safe convoy to Ajmeer.

3d—Payment of their arrears, which are stated to be under one thousand rupees.

Extract from a Dispatch from Major-General Donkin to Mr. Adam, Secretary to the Governor-General, dated Camp, Nuth Dwarrah, 21st February 1818.

I HAVE had the honour of acquainting you, in my letter of the 16th, that I had directed the Deputy-Quarter-Master-General to proceed to Koomulnair* to present the order of Uswunt Rao for its surrender, and to make the best terms he could with the garrison.

I am sorry to say that the intelligence I at first received of the intention of the garrison to resist has been verified, and up to last night our troops have been refused admittance.

Extract from a Dispatch from Major-General Donkin to Mr. Adam, Secretary to the Governor-General, dated Camp, Lowah, 26th February 1818.

YOU will have heard from Captain Tod of the evacuation of the fortress of Koomulnair on the terms originally demanded of me, namely, the actual payment, on the spot, of the whole of the arrears of the garrison.

Major M'Leod, commanding the artillery of this division, and whom I sent to look at and report on Koomulnair, has stated to me, that so impracticable is the road for many miles before he got to that place, and so great are the difficulties to be surmounted, that he could not have got the two eighteen-pounders into battery, or have fired a shot before the 1st of May.

The cause of the pertinacity of the garrison, in demanding actual payment, did not originate in mistrust of us, but was the result of a premeditated plan to defraud their creditors in the town of Koomulnair; and, accordingly, on receiving their money, they turned their backs on that place, which is on this side of the ghaut, and marched out at the opposite gate at Jondpour.

At Todah, which is on my route to our provinces, I shall leave certain native corps, as I have been directed, under the command of Lieutenant-Colonel Vannan, and proceed with the remainder to Agra.

*Extract from a Dispatch from Lieutenant-General Sir Thomas Hislop, Bart. and G. C. B. to the Governor-General and Commander in Chief, dated Camp, Sindwah*, 23d February 1818.*

I ARRIVED at this place yesterday, and having had the necessary communication with the Killeddar, the fort was this morning taken possession of by our troops.

I shall to-morrow prosecute my march, in pursuance of the intention expressed in my dispatch of the 16th instant, to meet Brigadier-General Doveton, and to conclude the arrangements for breaking up the army of the Deccan.

Extract from a Dispatch from Lieutenant-Colonel Vanrenan to Mr. Secretary Adam, dated Camp, Rampoorra, 13th March 1818.

FOR the information of the Most Noble the Governor-General I have the honour to apprise you that the fort and district of Rampoorra* have this day been taken possession of by the detachment under my command. The garrison have surrendered upon receiving their arrears, which I hope will not exceed ten thousand rupees, and for granting which I had previously received authority from Major-General Sir David Ochterlony.

Extract from a Dispatch from the Governor in Council at Bombay to the Court of Directors, dated September 12, 1818.

Brigadier-Generals Doveton and Smith having met at Jaulna, concerted operations for pursuing the Peishwa, and marched from thence, the former on the 1st and the latter on the 2d of April for that purpose. His Highness appears to have been much disconcerted by the seizure of Appa Saheb, who had been expected to join him. By an encounter with Colonel Scott†, and by the approach of Brigadier-General Doveton and Colonel Adams, his Highness's movements about the middle of April between Murdy and Pandercourah‡ were slow and uncertain, which enabled Brigadier-General Doveton to obtain the command over all the roads by which His Highness could escape to the southward, and Colonel Adams to attack him on the 18th at Sewny.

The pursuit was taken up by Brigadier-General Doveton, who prevented his recruiting, and completed the dispersion of the army; the enemy fled to Omerkair, suffering the utmost extremities of fatigue and hunger. The principal part of the force left with his Highness then separated, apparently by mutual consent, and returned towards the districts to which the Officers under whom they were serving belonged. One body appeared on the 28th near Ahmednugger, and quietly dispersed to return to their homes. Another considerable party sent their submission to Mr. Elphinstone on 1st May.

A party which had taken their route to the westward of Nandair†, were pursued by Brigadier-General Smith to Punderpoor, and immediately submitted.

After leaving Punderpoor the Brigadier-General returned to the cantonments at Seroor, and every arrangement has since been made by him for securing the tranquillity of the country.

Captain Barton, in conducting the duties confided to him, had also opportunities of distinguishing himself, by cutting up a party under Bapoo Row Lambia, and obtaining possession of several forts commanding the passes into the Deccan.

*Copy of a Dispatch from Lieutenant-Colonel Scott to Lieutenant-Colonel Adams, Commanding the Nag-pore Subsidiary Force, dated Camp Wurodah*, 3d April 1818.*

SIR,

I HAVE the honour to acquaint you that I reached this place about a quarter before eight o'clock in the morning, and having just taken up our position, a body of horse was observed coming upon our right flank; I immediately moved after them with the cavalry, horse artillery, and Captain Pedlar's horse, and pursued them rapidly for about five miles, when finding further pursuit was useless, and being anxious to prevent any attack on the baggage, I returned to this ground.

All the troops behaved with great zeal and animation, and I only regret that the enemy would not give them an opportunity of closing with them; we killed and wounded ten or twelve of the enemy, and took two prisoners. By the information I received from them it appears that the party we attacked consisted of about five or six hundred men, and belonged to Gunput Row Muddun Sing, and Gokla's brother; the prisoners also agree (on separate examination), that the Peishwa, Gunput Row, Ram Deen, and Trimbuckjee have united their forces, and were this morning about six coss S. of this place, and ready to march on the route to Chanda: their information regarding the chieftains being united was corroborated by some men who were mortally wounded this morning, and also that the whole of their force amounted to about forty thousand, with two or three guns.

I propose marching at an early hour to-morrow morning towards Chanda. I have sent out hircarrahs for information, and expect them to return in the course of the evening.

Reports state the Chanda man has refused to receive the Peishwa; I shall endeavour to open a communication with him on my arrival in his neighbourhood to-morrow morning, and confirm him in this determination.

Extract from a Dispatch from Mr. Russell, Resident at Hyderabad, to Mr. Adam, Secretary to the Governor-General, dated 16th April 1818.

I HAVE the honour to send you, for the notice of His Excellency the Most Noble the Governor-General, copy of a letter, dated the 13th instant, from Major Woodhouse, who is employed at Neermul* in superintending the public bunjawahs, reporting a surprise which he had given a body of Mahratta horse, under a leader named Muddun Sing, who was lately detached from Bajee Row's army for the purpose, it is supposed, of destroying the grain collected by the Nizam's Government, in the districts on the Godavery, between Neermul and Nandair.

* Neermul, a town near the Godavery, one hundred and forty miles N. of Hyderabad.

Copy of a Dispatch from Major Woodhouse to the Resident at Hyderabad, dated Neermul, 13th April 1818.

SIR,

I WROTE to you yesterday evening when on my march to ascertain the route and intentions of Muddun Sing, who with a party of Mahratta horse had got down the ghauts.

It fortunately chanced that the party of the Aumil* of Neermul were just collected ; I therefore thought an opportunity offered of giving the enemy an alert, and pursued the route I expected he would take with forty horse of the Aumil of Neermul, forty of Captain Davies's reformed horse, seventy men of Rajah Chundoo Loll's battalion, and eighty Rohillas and Sirdars in the service of Muddoo Khan.

Between twelve and one o'clock this morning the guides led me down close to where the horse lay, namely, a mile E. of Tembroonee, and I accordingly formed for attack, seeing every probability of success from the nature of the ground. I then entered their camp, and marched through it in every direction. Two of the enemy were killed, several wounded, and three taken prisoners : the tent of the Sirdar, and a number of tattoos, bullocks, &c. were secured as plunder by my people. A little before daylight I continued my march to Tembroonee, where I took post.

A havildar of Rajah Chundoo Loll's battalion was wounded badly by a spear ; no other casualty.

Just after daylight I saw the enemy collect on the high ground, send a party down to the place of their late encampment, take off his people, and then

hastily continue his march towards Moodul and Nandair, up the right bank of the Godavery.

The surprise would have been much more complete had not a party of the enemy's people, who were in an adjacent sheepfold plundering, returned, and given information time enough for the major part to saddle.

The prisoners say, that Muddun Sing's party consisted of one thousand five hundred horse; I think they appeared to amount to one thousand two hundred, or more.

Subjah Meah, who now acts as Munsoor Khan's Naik, I summoned to accompany me, and I beg to point out, that he very willingly put himself under my orders.

I hope the steadiness and attention of these people will meet your approbation, and have, &c.

W. WOODHOUSE,
Major, 1st Batt. 7th Reg.

Extract from a Dispatch, addressed by the Governor in Council at Bombay to the Court of Directors, dated 12th September 1818.

SOME forts to the northward of the range of hills dividing the Beema from the Godavery, namely, Ruttunghur, Kotalghur, Allunghur, and Muddunghur, were taken by Captain Barton with a detachment of the 2d battalion of the 4th regiment of native infantry, who ascended the Ghauts from the Northern Concan. He was also of great use by his judicious communications with the Bheel Chiefs and people of the neighbouring districts, in preventing their active hostility.

A very gallant affair took place under Lieutenant Crosby, a young Officer left in command at Mahé, who hearing of a party of Arabs, Mahrattas, and Patans, nearly five hundred in number, being posted at Poladpore, made a rapid movement with his detachment, consisting of seventy-five rank and file and one hundred and forty auxiliary horse, surprised them, and, in a quarter of an hour, completely routed them with severe loss.

The enemy having assembled in a strong body on the opposite bank of the Dewghur River, and fired on vessels passing and repassing, was attacked and driven off with considerable loss, and the stockades by which it had been covered, destroyed. After these operations, the detachment of His Majesty's 89th regiment was embarked for Bancoote.

The cruizers of your marine establishment, under the command of Lieutenants Robson and Dominicette, co-operated in the reduction of the forts in the Concan, with a zeal and gallantry very creditable to that branch of your service. The conduct of the last mentioned Officer in particular was very conspicuous throughout the whole of the operations on that coast.

SIR,

IT is with real concern I have the honour to inform you that Appa Saheb (the late Rajah of Nagpore) made his escape between the hours of two and three o'clock this morning, accompanied by six sepoys of the 22d native infantry, five of whom took with them their muskets, &c. It appears that only two of his attendants have accompanied him, named J'Reeba and Narrain.

I have the honour to be, &c.

CAVE BROWNE, Captain, Commanding Detachment.

SIR,

I AM directed by the Commander in Chief to transmit, for the information of Government, the accompanying letter of the 27th ultimo, from Lieutenant-Colonel Adams, and its inclosure, communicating in detail the circumstances which occasioned the loss of Captain Sparkes, and the party under his command.

On this melancholy occasion it is, the Commander in Chief observes, some satisfaction to know that the unfortunatesufferers nobly maintained thereputation of the Army, and gave their enemy no just cause of triumph at their success against a small party by an overwhelming superiority of numbers.

I have, &c.

JAS. NICOL, Adj.-Gen. of the Army.

*Copy of a Report from Lieutenant Wardlow to the Officiating Assistant-Adjutant-General of the Nagpore Subsidiary Force, dated Baitool*, 24th July 1818, inclosed in a Dispatch from Lieutenant-Colonel Adams to the Adjutant-General, dated Hoossingabad, 27th July 1818.*

SIR, .

FOR the information of Lieutenant-Colonel Adams, commanding the Nagpore Subsidiary Force, I have the honour to state to you an account of the late unfortunate affair of the 20th instant, as communicated to me by some of the wounded men.

Captain Sparkes, with a detachment, consisting of one subadar, one jemadar, four havildars, four naicks, and ninety-nine sepoy, marched on the afternoon of the 19th instant, and arrived that evening at a small village called Bharwee, where he halted for the night; next morning he crossed the River Taptee, and had not got above one and a half coss beyond that river, when he perceived about one hundred and fifty Sowars; on seeing this, he immediately ordered a party of one havildar, a naick, and twelve men, to proceed on a-head to attack the horsemen, at the same time forming up his company and advancing.

The havildar's party fired a few shot, and the horsemen immediately retreated; when the company had advanced a little farther, Captain Sparkes perceived about two thousand horsemen and one thousand five hundred Arabs coming on to attack him; he immediately took advantage of a ravine that was close at hand, and took post there; in this situation he remained for an hour, keeping the enemy at bay, and killing a number of them, without losing a man.

Captain Sparkes, finding that the enemy were closing in and attempting to surround him, ordered his company to take possession of a small height close to the ravine; this they succeeded in accomplishing, but Captain Sparkes was wounded slightly in the attempt; a square was formed on the top of the hill, when a dreadful fire was commenced on both sides, and was continued for two hours, during which time the Arabs charged three times, but were beat back with loss: at this time however Captain Sparkes's small party were considerably reduced, having lost one jemadar and forty-one men. The enemy on seeing this made a fourth charge, and were again beat back; the sepoys followed down the hill, driving the enemy before them, with the intention of getting possession of another hill to the right, which was a stronger position. In attempting this Captain Sparkes received a mortal wound, the subadar was also wounded, and a number of sepoys killed. In this critical state of affairs the enemy both horse and foot closed in; the subadar, although unable to stand, seized a loaded musket, killed one sowar, bayoneted a second, and took his sword, with which he defended himself for a considerable time, at last he received a shot which proved fatal. The sepoys defended themselves with the greatest bravery, but were at last so completely overpowered by numbers (their ammunition being expended), that they were all either killed or wounded; about ten of the latter have since been brought into camp, and I am in great hopes that the most of them will recover. Previous to the battle a party of two micks and seven sepoys were left in charge of the baggage; they were attacked by a small body of horsemen, but beat them off, and made good their retreat to Baitool.

SIR,

I DO myself the pleasure of forwarding to you, for the information of the Right Honourable the Governor in Council, the accompanying copies of two letters received from Captain W. Gordon to the address of the Assistant in the Military Department, reporting the capture, by assault, of the town and fort of Comptah*.

I beg on this occasion to bring to the favourable notice of Government, the conduct of Captain W. Gordon (2d Madras native infantry), Lieutenants Thullier (1st Madras native infantry) and * Eighty miles from Nagpore, between that place and Ruttunpoor.

Fraser

Fraser (His Majesty's 30th foot), and the whole of the Madras troops engaged in this brilliant and decisive action, which is likely to have the most beneficial effects on the whole of the disturbed districts.

I have, &c.

R. JENKINS, Resident.

Copy of a Report from Captain W. Gordon to Captain Bayley, Military Assistant to the Resident, dated Camp, Comptah, 18th September 1818.

SIR,

FOR the Resident's information I have the honour to communicate, that at daybreak this morning I moved down to attack the town of Comptah, in three columns; the left column under Lieutenant Thullier, with one hundred and forty men of the 1st battalion 1st Madras native infantry, twenty-four of the 20th Madras native infantry, and two hundred of Major Jenkins's brigade, under Lieutenant Fraser; the centre column, consisting of a gun and a company of Major Jenkins's brigade, and the 3d and right column, consisting of Appa Anund Row's and Mubarick Jemadar's men, all under the former.

The left column moved down in a most gallant style, every second man carrying with him a fascine to fill the ditch; having thrown them in, they forced their way into the town, and having entered it, Lieutenant Thullier detached Lieutenant Fraser round to the left with the brigade, and with the remainder of his column moved round to the right: they drove all before them in the noblest manner, killing many of the enemy, and forcing the rest to take to the plain, who were immediately attacked by two columns of Captain Pedlar's auxiliary horse, posted to the right and left, the right under myself, and the left under

Cornet

Cornet Wilkinson ; both columns did great execution, killing from three to four hundred men.

Whilst the left column was advancing to the attack, the gun kept up a smart fire upon one of the enemy's principal batteries ; and Lieutenant Thullier had no sooner got in than the company supporting the gun dashed at the battery upon which the gun was playing, and possessed themselves of it. Anund Row advanced at the same time, and took possession of the battery to which he was opposed. We no sooner gained the town than Lieutenant Fraser invested the Ghurry on one side, and set fire to it ; and Lieutenant Thullier, under a heavy fire, attacked the gate, carrying with him the gun : an attempt was made to blow open the gate with the six-pounder, but without success ; an elephant driver, by a present of two hundred rupees, was induced to bring up his elephant to it, with which the first gate was forced open. On our arrival at the second gate Chinna Potail held up a flag of truce, and I gave him my hand as a pledge for his life and that of his family. I was induced to do this as having him in my possession will, I have no doubt, render unnecessary all further military operations in this district ; orders will be sent by him immediately to surrender Lanjee, Rampylee, and in fact every place now in his possession.

Chinna Potail says his force in the town amounted to upwards of two thousand men, and not a gun amongst them. The loss of the enemy may amount to from five to six hundred men, and I fear we have lost in killed and wounded fifty or sixty, a return of whom will be sent to-morrow. I have every reason to be highly satisfied with all engaged.

In the town we have taken a gun larger than a six-pounder, which yesterday was brought from Lanjee, also four zumboors and many gingals.

I have, &c.

W. GORDON.

Copy.

Copy of a further Report from Captain Gordon to Captain Bayley, dated Comptah, 19th September 1818.

SIR,

IN my letter of yesterday, I neglected to mention the Jemadar's party of the 6th Bengal cavalry, who were most conspicuous throughout the battle. They are most gallant soldiers, and ever since I marched from Nagpore, have behaved in the noblest manner.

I have, &c.

W. GORDON.

Return of Killed and Wounded in the Storm of the Town and Ghurry of Comptah, on the 18th September 1818.

Killed—4 sepoys.

Wounded—2 jemadars, 4 havildars, 3 naicks, 40 sepoys; 1 jemadar, 7 duffadars of horse.

*Copy of a Report from Major Munt, C. B. to Mr. Jenkins, Resident at Nagpore, dated Camp Mooltye,* 14th September 1818, inclosed in a Dispatch from Mr. Jenkins to Mr. Strachey, Chief Secretary to the Government of Madras, dated 19th September 1818.*

SIR,

It is with much pleasure I inform you that in consequence of the information I received of the movements of the enemy, I sent an express to Major Bowen, whom I had stationed at Amilah, to meet me at Boordye with all the troops he could safely take from his post as soon after the receipt of my express as possible.

Boordye is situated to the north east of my position, Amlah north westwardly, and I therefore hoped by a simultaneous movement to meet Major Bowen at Boordye, and punish at once the presumption of the enemy. At the moment of moving off the parade, I received a note stating the enemy to have appeared in force near Baitool, and that the Officer commanding that place was moving out to attack them.

It immediately occurred to me that the enemy must have divided their forces; I therefore detached Captain Cuffley with one hundred rank and file of light infantry, and a strong troop of cavalry, together with a galloper gun, under Cornet Logan, to reinforce Major Bowen, and I waited with considerable solicitude the result of further information regarding the strength and progress of the enemy, to decide upon which post to make a rapid movement myself, to insure if possible the success of both attacks.

The unceasing heaviness of the rain having filled the rivers, prevented the junction of Captain Cuffley with Major Bowen's party. Major Bowen, however, with the spirit and promptitude you will no doubt appreciate, pushed for Boordye (the position occupied by the enemy in his quarter), formed a line of less than one hundred rank and file of infantry, with one troop of cavalry on either flank, when close upon the place, and instantly closed with his enemy, who drew up in front of the village to receive him, but who were soon overpowered and fled through the village, when they again fell into the hands of the cavalry, who together with the infantry left three hundred out of five hundred dead upon the spot.

Captain Cuffley's party in the mean time, being unable

unable to join Major Bowen, had received intelligence of another movement of a party of the enemy, in a westwardly direction, towards the village of Khirlee. He pushed for it, and arrived in time to prevent its being plundered; but as the enemy fled precipitately to the hills on his approach, he was unable to close with them.

While these affairs were going on to the north east, the enemy appearing at Chichowlee to the north west, Captain Newton prepared to attack them, as he at first stated he should do, and his party marched for that purpose; but the Sum-priah River becoming impassable from the excessive and continued heaviness of the rains, this detachment of the enemy escaped in the direction of Mail Ghaut.

I trust this little affair will confine the Arabs to the hills for the rest of the season, or if famine force them to come amongst us again, that it will only be to submit, or to disperse.

I have, &c.

H. MUNT,

Commanding a detachment Field Force.

FROM THE

LONDON GAZETTE of MARCH 20, 1819..

At the Court at Carlton-House, the 19th of March 1819,

PRESENT,

His Royal Highness the PRINCE. REGENT in Council.

WHEREAS there was this day read at the Board a Memorial from the Commissioners appointed by Act of Parliament for more effectually discovering the Longitude at Sea, dated the 4th of last month, in the words following, viz :

“ Whereas by an Act of the fifty-eighth year of His present Majesty, intituled “ An “ Act for more effectually discovering the “ Longitude at Sea, and encouraging attempts “ to find a Northern Passage between the
“ At-

“ Atlantic and Pacific Oceans, and to approach the Northern Pole,” it is provided, that, “ for the encouragement of persons who may attempt the said Passage, or approach to the Northern Pole, but not wholly accomplish the same; the said Commissioners may, by their Memorial, propose to His Majesty in Council, to direct and establish proportionate rewards to be paid to such person as aforesaid, who shall first have accomplished certain proportions of the said Passage or Approach:”

And whereas it appears that the progress of discovery has already advanced on the Eastern Coast of America, and within the Arctic Circle, as far as 90 degrees West Longitude, or thereabouts, from Greenwich; and Northwards has not yet arrived, according to any well authenticated accounts, so far as 81° of North Latitude:

We, your Memorialists, beg leave most humbly to represent these particulars for your Royal Highness's consideration, and to submit, with all humility, whether your Royal Highness may not be graciously pleased to establish the following scale of rewards, to be allotted according to the intentions of the Act:

1.—To the first ship belonging to any of His Majesty's subjects, or to His Majesty, that shall reach the Longitude of 110° West from Greenwich, or the Mouth of Hearne's or Coppermine River, by sailing within the Arctic Circle £5,000

To the first ship, as aforesaid, that shall reach the Longitude of 130° West from Greenwich, or the

Whale

Whale Island of Mackenzie, by sailing within the Arctic Circle - £10,000

To the first ship, as aforesaid, that shall reach the Longitude of 150° West from Greenwich, by sailing Westwards within the Arctic Circle - - - - £15,000

The Act having already allotted to the first ship that shall reach the Pacific Ocean by a North West Passage the full reward of - - £20,000

2.—To the first ship, as aforesaid, that shall reach to 83° of North Latitude - - - - £1,000

To 85°. - - - - £2,000

To 87°. - - - - £3,000

To 88°. - - - - £4,000

The Act having already allotted to the first ship that shall reach to or beyond 89° the full reward of - £5,000''

His Royal Highness the Prince Regent having taken the said Memorial into consideration was pleased, in the name and on the behalf of His Majesty, and by and with the advice of His Majesty's Privy Council, to sanction and approve of, and doth hereby sanction and approve of, the scale of rewards proposed in the said Memorial.

Hanover, May 11, 1819.

THE ceremony of the baptism of Prince George-William-Frederick-Charles, son of His Royal Highness the Duke of Cambridge, Governor-General of Hanover, and of Her Royal Highness the Duchess of Cambridge, Landgravine and Princess of Hesse, His wife, was performed this day, according to the rites of the Established Church of England, at Cambridge-House, by the Reverend John Sanford, Domestic Chaplain to His Royal Highness, in the presence of their Royal Highnesses the Dukes of Clarence and Cambridge; their Serene Highnesses the Landgrave and Landgravine of Hesse, the Princess Louisa of Hesse, and the Princess of Nassau-Usingen; the Earl and Countess of Mayo, the Hanoverian Ministers of State, the Foreign Ministers, the Grand Officers of the Household, and the whole Court.

The sponsors for the young Prince were His Royal Highness the Prince Regent, represented by His Royal Highness the Duke of Clarence, as proxy; His Royal Highness the Duke of Clarence, represented by the Earl of Mayo; and Her Majesty the Queen Dowager of Wirtemberg, represented by the Countess of Mayo.

Carlton-House, May 20, 1819.

This day His Excellency the Baron Fagel, Ambassador Extraordinary and Plenipotentiary from His Majesty the King of the Netherlands, had a private audience of the Prince Regent, to deliver a letter from his Sovereign; also His Highness the Prince Esterhazy, Ambassador Extraordinary and Plenipotentiary from the Emperor of Austria, had a private audience of the Prince Regent, to deliver a letter from his Sovereign, and to present to His Royal Highness the insignia of the Austrian Orders of Saint Stephen, of the Iron Crown, and of Leopold, in the name of His Imperial Majesty; and His Excellency the Marquess de Latour Maubourg, Ambassador from His Most Christian Majesty Louis the Eighteenth, King of France, had his first private audience of the Prince Regent, to deliver his credentials; to which several audiences their Excellencies were respectively introduced by Lord Viscount Castlereagh, His Majesty's Principal Secretary of State for Foreign Affairs, and conducted by Sir Robert Chester, Knt. Master of the Ceremonies.

The Prince Regent having been pleased to appoint this day for the ceremony of the public audience of His Excellency Mirza Abul Hassan Khan, Ambassador Extraordinary from His Majesty the King of Persia, the Marquess of Headfort, one of the Lords of His Majesty's Bedchamber, and Sir Robert Chester, the Master of the Ceremonies, were appointed to conduct His Excellency from his residence in Charles-Street, Berkley-Square, to Carlton-House.

ORDER OF PROCESSION.

A troop of cavalry.

A leading coach and six of the Prince Regent, conveying the Ambassador's Secretary, and His Excellency's credentials.

A leading coach and six of the Prince Regent, conveying presents from the King of Persia.

A leading coach and six of the Prince Regent, conveying more presents from the King of Persia.

Eight Persian horses, richly caparisoned, presents from the King of Persia, led in single file, by the Prince Regent's grooms on one side, and the Persian grooms on the other.

A leading coach and six of the Prince Regent, conveying some of the Ambassador's attendants.

A leading coach and six of the Prince Regent, conveying more of His Excellency's attendants.

Cavalry.

A state coach and six of the Prince Regent, conveying the Ambassador, who was accompanied by the Lord in Waiting, the Master of the Ceremonies, and Mr. Morier, His Excellency's Mehmander.

Cavalry.

The procession was flanked by cavalry, and the streets were lined by cavalry and infantry the whole way from the Ambassador's residence, to Carlton-House; the bands playing and Officers saluting His Excellency as he passed. A subalterns guard was mounted at the Ambassador's house at twelve o'clock.

The procession set out at half-past two, and proceeding along the south side of Berkely-Square, Hay-Hill, Dover-Street, Saint James's-Street, and Pall-Mall, arrived at Carlton-House a few minutes before three o'clock.

The

The Ambassador on alighting, was received by the Master of the Horse, and other Officers of the Household. His Excellency was shewn into the west anti-room, from whence, accompanied by the Lord in Waiting, the Master of the Ceremonies, the Mehmander, and the attendants, His Excellency was conducted by the Marquess of Hertford, Lord Chamberlain of His Majesty's Household, into the presence of the Regent, who received His Excellency standing under the canopy of the Throne in the state room; His Royal Highness was attended by Lord Viscount Castlereagh, His Majesty's Principal Secretary of State for Foreign Affairs, and by His Royal Highness's Great Officers of State. On approaching the Regent, the Ambassador made three reverences, which His Royal Highness returned in the usual manner; and His Royal Highness descending from the steps of the Throne, advanced to receive the Ambassador; His Excellency then presented his credentials, and delivered a short speech, to which His Royal Highness made a most gracious reply. The audience being finished, the Prince Regent was pleased to conduct the Ambassador to the adjoining apartment, where the Presents were displayed, and where His Royal Highness conversed with His Excellency for some time. His Royal Highness then reconducted the Ambassador to the state room, where His Excellency expressed himself highly gratified by the gracious reception and affability of His Royal Highness, His Excellency upon withdrawing from His Royal Highness's presence made three reverences, and was conducted back by the Lord Chamberlain. The procession returned to the Ambassador's house in the same order in which it came.

At half past three o'clock, His Excellency Aly Capirdan, Ambassador from His Serene Highness the Dey of Algiers, attended by A. Salame, Esq.
His

His Majesty's Interpreter, had his first private audience of the Prince Regent, to deliver his credentials; to which he was introduced by Earl Bathurst, His Majesty's Principal Secretary of State for the Colonial Department, and conducted by Sir Robert Chester, Knt. Master of the Ceremonies.—His Excellency was conveyed to Carlton-House in a carriage of the Prince Regent, and presented four fine horses, richly caparisoned, and other valuable presents from the Dey of Algiers, which His Royal Highness was pleased to accept in the most gracious manner.

The Count de Ludolf, Envoy Extraordinary and Minister Plenipotentiary from His Majesty the King of the Two Sicilies, had also a private audience of the Prince Regent, to deliver letters from his Sovereign, announcing the marriage of Her Royal Highness the Princess Charlotte, His Sicilian Majesty's grand daughter, with His Royal Highness the Infant of Spain, Don Francis de Paula; the Count de Ludolf was introduced to the audience by Lord Viscount Castlereagh, His Majesty's Principal Secretary of State for Foreign Affairs, and conducted by Sir Robert Chester, Knt. Master of the Ceremonies.

PRESENT,

His Royal Highness the PRINCE REGENT in Council.

WHEREAS by an Act, passed in the fifty-seventh year of His present Majesty, intituled " An Act to continue and extend the " provisions of an Act of His present Majesty,
 " for regulating the trade and commerce to and " from the Cape of Good Hope, until the fifth " day of July one thousand eight hundred and " twenty; and also for regulating the trade of the " Island of Mauritius;" His Majesty is authorised, by and with the advice of His Privy Council, by any Order or Orders to be issued from time to time, to give such directions, and to make such regulations touching the trade and commerce to and from all islands, colonies, or places, and the territories and dependencies thereof, to His Majesty belonging or in His possession, in Africa, or Asia

to the eastward of the Cape of Good Hope (excepting only the possessions of the East India Company), as to His Majesty, in Council, shall appear most expedient and salutary, any thing contained in an Act, passed in the twelfth year of the reign of His Majesty King Charles the Second, intituled “ An Act for the enconraging and increasing of shipping and navigation,” or in an Act, passed in the seventh and eighth years of the reign of His Majesty King William the Third, intituled “ An Act for preventing frauds, and regulating abuses in the plantation trade,” or any other Act or Acts of Parliament now in force, relating to His Majesty’s colonies and plantations, or any other Act or Acts of Parliament, law, usage or custom to the contrary in any wise notwithstanding; His Royal Highness the Prince Regent, in the name and on the behalf of His Majesty, and by and with the advice of His Majesty’s Privy Council, is pleased to order, and it is hereby ordered, that from and after the date of this present Order, British vessels arriving at any port of the Island of Mauritius, or its dependencies, from any country in amity with His Majesty, laden with any articles of the growth, production, or manufacture of such country (excepting all articles composed of cotton, iron, steel, or wool of foreign manufacture), shall be permitted to enter and land their cargoes, and dispose of the same in the said ports, subject to such duties as may be payable thereon :

And it is further ordered, that every such British vessel, arriving as aforesaid, shall be permitted to export to any such foreign country in amity with His Majesty, a cargo consisting of any articles of the growth, produce, or manufacture of the Island of Mauritius, or its dependencies, or of any other articles which shall have been legally imported there, on payment of such duties as may be payable thereon :

And it is hereby further ordered, that vessels belonging to the subjects of any foreign state in amity with His Majesty, which foreign state shall allow British vessels to carry on trade as aforesaid between the ports of such state and the Island of Mauritius, on the same terms as in vessels of such foreign state, shall be permitted in like manner to import into the ports of the Island of Mauritius, or its dependencies, from any port of the country to which such vessel shall belong, any articles of the growth, production, or manufacture of such country (excepting all articles composed of cotton, iron, steel, or wool of foreign manufacture), and to dispose of the same in the ports of the said Island and its dependencies, on payment of the same duties as shall be payable on the like articles when imported from such foreign port in British vessels; and that every such foreign vessel shall be permitted to export a cargo consisting of any articles of the growth, produce, or manufacture of the Island of Mauritius, or its dependencies, or of any other articles which shall have been legally imported there, on payment of the same duties as shall be payable on similar articles when exported to such foreign ports in British vessels :

It is, however, hereby further ordered and declared, that no foreign vessel, allowed by the terms of this Order to export a cargo from the Island of Mauritius, or its dependencies, shall be permitted to export such cargo to any of His Majesty's possessions, or to any other place than a port or place belonging to the state or power to which the vessel itself shall belong :

And the Right Honourable the Lords Commissioners of His Majesty's Treasury, and the Lords Commissioners of the Admiralty, are to give the necessary directions herein as to them may respectively appertain.

 Council.

WHEREAS the time limited by the Order of His Royal Highness the Prince Regent in Council of the thirty-first of October last, for prohibiting the exportation of gunpowder, arms, or ammunition, to the places therein specified, will expire on the thirtieth day of this instant May; and whereas it is expedient, that the said prohibition should be continued for some time longer; His Royal Highness the Prince Regent, in the name and on the behalf of His Majesty, and by and with the advice of His Majesty's Privy Council, doth, therefore, hereby order, require, prohibit, and command, that no person or persons whatsoever (except the Master-General of the Ordnance for His Majesty's service) do, at any time during the space of six months (to commence from the thirtieth of this instant May), presume to transport any gunpowder or salt-petre, or any sort of arms or ammunition, to any port or place on the Coast of Africa, or in the West Indies, or on any part of the Continent of America (except to a port or place, or ports or places in His Majesty's territories or possessions on the Continent of North America, or in the territories of the United States of America), or ship or lade any gunpowder or salt-petre, or any sort of arms or ammunition, on board any ship or vessel, in order to transporting the same into any such ports or places on the Coast of Africa, or in the West Indies, or on the Continent of America

(ex-

(except as above excepted), without leave or permission in that behalf first obtained from His Majesty, or His Privy Council, upon pain of incurring and suffering the respective forfeitures and penalties inflicted by an Act, passed in the twenty-ninth year of His late Majesty's reign, intituled "An Act to empower His Majesty to prohibit the exportation of salt-petre, and to enforce the law for empowering His Majesty to prohibit the exportation of gunpowder, or any sort of arms or ammunition, and also to empower His Majesty to restrain the carrying coastwise of salt-petre, gunpowder, or any sort of arms or ammunition;" and also by an Act, passed in the thirty-third year of His Majesty's reign, cap. 2, intituled "An Act to enable His Majesty to restrain the exportation of naval stores, and more effectually to prevent the exportation of salt-petre, arms, and ammunition, when prohibited by Proclamation or Order in Council:"

And the Right Honourable the Lords Commissioners of His Majesty's Treasury, the Commissioners for executing the Office of Lord High Admiral of Great Britain, the Lord Warden of the Cinque Ports, the Master-General and the rest of the Principal Officers of the Ordnance, and His Majesty's Secretary at War, are to give the necessary directions herein as to them may respectively appertain.

And four private bills.

St. James's, July 13, 1819.

THIS day His Royal Highness the Prince Regent proceeded in state from St. James's Palace to the House of Lords, where he arrived at two o'clock; and, having alighted from the state coach, he was received at the portico by the Great Officers and others, and proceeded to the robing room in the usual manner; His Royal Highness was there robed, his hat on his head, and the procession moved into the house in the usual order.

His Royal Highness being seated on the throne, the Great Officers and others standing on the right and left, Sir Thomas Tyrwhitt, Gentleman Usher of the Black Rod, was sent with a message from His Royal Highness to the House of Commons, commanding their their attendance in the House of Peers. The Commons being come thither accordingly, His Royal Highness, in the name and on the behalf of His Majesty, was pleased to give the Royal assent to

An Act for applying certain monies therein mentioned, for the service of the year one thousand eight hundred and nineteen, and for further appropriating the supplies granted in this session of Parliament.

An Act to amend and render more effectual an Act, passed in the last session of Parliament, for building, and promoting the building, of additional churches in populous parishes.

An Act to repeal two Acts, made in the fifty-fourth and fifty-fifth years of the reign of His present Majesty, for maintaining and keeping in repair certain roads and bridges in Scotland, to provide more effectually for that purpose, and for regulation of ferries in Scotland.

An Act for the better regulation of the General Penitentiary for convicts at Millbank.

An Act to alter and amend an Act, made in the fifty-fifth year of the reign of His present Majesty, intituled An Act to repeal the Acts now in force relating to bread to be sold in the city of London and the liberties thereof, and within the Weekly Bills of Mortality, and ten miles of the Royal Exchange; and to prevent the adulteration of meal, flour, and bread, and to regulate the weights of bread within the same limits.

An Act to enable the directors of the poor of the several parishes within the city of Worcester, and of the parishes united therewith, to sell and dispose of certain lands discharged of all claims of the Crown, in respect of any forfeiture incurred under the Statutes of Mortmain.

An Act for amending and keeping in repair the mail coach road leading from Banbridge, in the county

county of Down, to Belfast, in the county of Antrim.

And two private bills.

After which His Royal Highness delivered the following most gracious speech to both Houses of Parliament :

My Lords, and Gentlemen,

IT is with great regret that I am again obliged to announce to you the continuance of His Majesty's lamented indisposition.

I cannot close this session of Parliament without expressing the satisfaction that I have derived from the zeal and assiduity with which you have applied yourselves to the several important objects which have come under your consideration.

Your patient and laborious investigation of the state of the circulation and currency of the kingdom demands My warmest acknowledgments ; and I entertain a confident expectation that the measures adopted, as the result of this inquiry, will be productive of the most beneficial consequences.

Gentlemen of the House of Commons,

I thank you for the supplies which you have granted for the service of the present year.

I sincerely regret that the necessity should have existed of making any addition to the burthens of the people ; but I anticipate the most important permanent advantages from the effort which you have thus made for meeting at once all the financial difficulties of the country ; and I derive much satisfaction from the belief that the means which you have devised for this purpose are calculated to press as lightly on all classes of the community as could be expected when so great an effort was to be made.

My Lords, and Gentlemen,

I continue to receive from Foreign Powers the strongest assurances of their friendly disposition towards this country.

I have observed with great concern the attempts which have recently been made in some of the manufacturing districts, to take advantage of circumstances of local distress, to excite a spirit of disaffection to the Institutions and Government of the country. No object can be nearer My heart than to promote the welfare and prosperity of all classes of His Majesty's subjects; but this cannot be effected without the maintenance of public order and tranquillity.

You may rely, therefore, upon My firm determination to employ for this purpose the powers entrusted to Me by law; and I have no doubt that, on your return to your several counties, you will use your utmost endeavours, in co-operation with the Magistracy, to defeat the machinations of those whose projects, if successful, could only aggravate the evils which it is professed to remedy; and who, under the pretence of reform, have really no other object but the subversion of our happy Constitution.

Then the Lord Chancellor, by the Prince Regent's command, said;

My Lords, and Gentlemen,

It is the will and pleasure of His Royal Highness the Prince Regent, acting in the name and on behalf of His Majesty, that this Parliament be prorogued to Tuesday the 24th day of August next, to be then here holden; and this Parliament is accordingly prorogued to Tuesday the 24th day of August next.

Behalf of His Majesty,

A PROCLAMATION.

GEORGE, P. R.

WHEREAS by an Act, passed in the fifty-ninth year of the reign of His present Majesty, cap. 25, intituled " An Act to enable " His Majesty to fix a rate, and direct the disposal of freight-money for the conveyance of " specie and jewels on board His Majesty's ships and vessels," it is enacted, " that from and " after the eighth day of April one thousand eight hundred and nineteen, all freight-money to be " paid for the conveyance on board any of the ships and vessels of His Majesty, his heirs, and
" successors, of gold, silver, and jewels, or of any other article which may be by special order
" received on board the said ships and vessels, and for which freight shall be payable, shall be paid
" at such rate, and distributed and applied for such purposes, and divided to and amongst such " persons, in such proportions, and after such manner as His Majesty, his heirs, and successors shall from time to time think fit to order
" and direct by any Proclamation or Proclamations to be issued for that purpose; and that no " freight-money or reward shall hereafter be de" manded, “ manded, paid, received, or detained by, to, or “ for the use or on account of any person or per“ sons for the conveyance on board of any of the “ ships and vessels of His Majesty, his heirs, or “ successors, of any gold, silver, or jewels, or “ any other article which may be by special order “ received on board the said ship or vessel, and “ for which freight shall be payable, other than

 “ for the purposes, and by the person or persons, “ in the proportion, at the rates, and in the “ manner so to be paid and allowed by Procla“ mation or Proclamations ; and that all bargains, “ contracts, covenants, and agreements made or “ entered into for the payment of any freight-“ money for or in the name or on the account of “ freight for the conveyance of gold, silver, or “ jewels, or other articles as aforesaid, on board “ of any of His Majesty’s ships or vessels, at any “ rate, or for any other purpose, or by or to any “ other person or persons, or in any other manner “ or proportions than as aforesaid, shall be, and the “ same are hereby, declared to be utterly void ;”

We do, therefore, in pursuance of the powers so vested in His Majesty, his heirs, and successors, by this Our Royal Proclamation, in the name and on the behalf of His Majesty, and by and with the advice of His Majesty’s Privy Council, think proper to order and direct, and We do hereby order and direct, that all gold, silver, and jewels, or other articles received as treasure by special order, conveyed in His Majesty’s ships and vessels in the care and charge of the Captain or Officer commanding such ship or vessel, shall be liable to the payment of freight, whether such treasure belong to the Crown or to other parties.

That on the delivery of any gold, silver, or jewels, or other articles as aforesaid, laden on board of any of His Majesty’s ships or vessels, for

for which freight may or shall be payable as aforesaid, or according to the provisions and directions hereinafter contained, a receipt or bill of lading, or receipts or bills of lading, shall be made and signed by the Captain or Officer commanding such ship or vessel, describing the quantity or value of such gold, silver, jewels, or other articles as aforesaid, and the terms on and extent to which such Captain or Officer commanding such ship or vessel so receiving the said gold, silver, or jewels, or other articles, on board his said ship or vessel, shall be liable or responsible for the same, in case of loss or damage thereof, to which by law he might be liable, in form or to the effect following:

And it is hereby stipulated and agreed between the said _____ and the shipper and owners and consignees of the said _____

, that in case of loss or damage happening to the said gold, silver, jewels, or other articles as aforesaid, the Captain or Officer commanding such ship or vessel as aforesaid shall not be holden liable or responsible for more than three fourths of the amount of such loss or damage.

That the rates at which freight shall be paid for public and for private treasure respectively, and in peace or war respectively, and for different voyages, shall be as follows, viz.

That in case of any difference on any question arising out of the above scale, or omitted in the said scale, the Lords Commissioners of the Admiralty shall have authority to decide what the freight shall be under the said scale, or adhering as nearly as possible in cases not specified, to the spirit and principles of the said scale.

That on the shipment of gold, silver, or jewels, or other articles received on board as treasure by special order, the rate of freight per centum according to the above scale shall be endorsed on the bill or bills of lading, or receipt or receipts of the Officer receiving the charge thereof, such endorsement or endorsements to be signed by the said Officer; but in case of any difference of opinion abroad, or when immediate reference cannot be had to the Lords of the Admiralty, it may be expressed, "at such rate as the Lords Commissioners of the Admiralty shall decide."

When treasure belonging to the Crown shall be shipped in any of His Majesty's ships or vessels with a commissary or conductor specially charged with the care thereof, the Officer commanding such ship or vessel shall not be required to give any receipt, nor to sign any bill of lading, and such Officer shall not receive any freight on account thereof, nor be liable to make good any loss or damage which may happen to the same.

That

That the Lords Commissioners of the Admiralty shall have authority to direct at what time, and for what time; and within what limits the war freight shall be payable on private treasure received by special order.

And We do hereby further order and direct, that the whole amount of the said freight when received shall be divided into four parts and distributed as follows, subject to the proviso hereinafter mentioned, one-fourth to the Admiral or Admirals if more than one on the station, or in the squadron to which the ship receiving treasure on board may belong.

Two-fourths to the Captain or Officer commanding such ship or vessel, who shall give his receipt or sign the bill of lading for the treasure, and one-fourth to Greenwich-Hospital for the use of that institution.

That when there shall be more than one Flag-Officer on the station, the said one-fourth part shall be divided and distributed amongst the several Flag-Officers on the station in the following proportions, viz.

If there be but two Flag-Officers, the Chief shall have two-third parts of the said one-fourth, and the other shall have the remaining third part; but if the number of Flag-Officers be more than two, the Chief shall have only one-half, and the other half shall be equally divided amongst the junior Flag-Officers; but if there be no Flag-Officers on the station, or that the ship or vessel be not under the orders of a Flag-Officer, then that the Captain or Officer commanding the ship or vessel shall have three-fourths, and Greenwich-Hospital one-fourth, provided that such Admiral or Admirals shall not be entitled to claim his or their respective share or shares in such freight-money otherwise than on condition that he or they shall, before the gold, silver, jewels, treasure, or other articles as aforesaid shall be put on board such ship or vessel, have respectively given notice in writing to the Captain or Officer commanding such ship or vessel, or his agent, or have entered or caused to be entered in a public order book on board the ship of the Commander in Chief, or the senior Flag-Officer commanding on the station or in the squadron to which such vessel belongs; or in case of a junior Flag-Officer absent from the Commander in Chief, unless such junior Flag-Officer shall have notified under his hand to the Commander in Chief to be entered in the said Order Book an engagement, in writing, in form or to the effect following;

I, A. B. am desirous of partaking in the advantages with the risks attendant thereon, arising out of the conveyance of freight of treasure in any of the ships or vessels of the squadron (or in the particular ship as the case may be). And I hereby engage to make good to the Captain or Captains, Officers or Officer, commanding such ships or vessels respectively (or ship or vessel as the case may be), such part of any loss or damage for which he or they may be liable in respect to the gold, silver, treasure, or other articles so carried on freight, and which he or they respectively shall have actually paid and satisfied, as shall be in proportion to the share or interest in the said freight money to which I may be entitled. And that such share or shares of the Admiral or Admirals as aforesaid, to which he or they shall not be entitled on the conditions hereinbefore expressed, shall go and belong to the Captain or Officer commanding the ship or vessel in which the gold, silver, treasure, or other articles shall be carried on freight as aforesaid.

That in the event of loss or damage happening to the gold, silver, jewels, or other articles so received ceived on freight exceeding the total freight-money, Greenwich Hospital shall not be entitled to receive any sum on account of such freight; and in cases in which the loss may not amount to the whole of the freight money, Greenwich Hospital shall be entitled only to its proportion of the balance of freight-money over and above such loss or damage.

That Commodores, with Captains under them, and Captains of the Fleet, are to be considered, agreeably to the rules of the service, as Flag-Officers, and Commodores, without Captains under them, shall with respect to freight be also considered as Flag-Officers, when in the command of a station.

That when the Captain or Commander, or his agent, shall have received the freight, he shall pay over to the senior Flag-Officer, and to the Treasurer of Greenwich Hospital, without delay, their respective shares, and the Captain shall be held responsible to both for any loss which may occur, through his neglect or delay, in receiving or paying the same; but if there be any question or difficulty as to the payment, he is to apprise the Senior Flag-Officer and the Treasurer of Greenwich Hospital respectively, of the causes of such delay.

That the Captain or Officer commanding, on receiving any treasure on board any of His Majesty's ships or vessels, shall transmit to the Senior Flag-Officer, when such Captain or Officer commanding shall be under a Flag-Officer, and in every case to the Treasurer of Greenwich Hospital, and to the Secretary of the Admiralty, a return of the amount of such treasure, and of the freight paid or to be paid thereon.

That when the treasure shall, during the voyage, be transhipped into one or more ships, the freight shall be divided, pro rata itineris, among the Admirals
and

and Captains and who may be entitled to share therein according to the services performed by the different ships respectively; and if any difficulty or dispute shall arise respecting such division or distribution, any party interested therein may refer the same to the Lords Commissioners of the Admiralty; and the decision or orders of the Lords Commissioners of the Admiralty, or any three of them, as to such division or distribution shall be final and conclusive thereon.

That in order to prevent any doubt or misunderstanding as to the rate or distribution of freight on gold, silver, jewels, or other articles as aforesaid, received on board flag-ships, or any other of His Majesty's ships and vessels, and to prevent any private agreements inconsistent with these regulations all Flag or other Officers are expressly forbidden to receive on board any of His Majesty's ships or vessels any gold, silver, jewels, or other articles as aforesaid, upon any agreement or condition different from these regulations, or to take, demand, or receive any sums, other than those established by these regulations.

That these rules and regulations shall be in force from the day on which they shall be received by His Majesty's Officers, and be thenceforward taken and understood to be the established rule and custom of His Majesty's naval service on the several particulars to which they refer till they shall be revoked or otherwise altered by any Proclamation or Proclamations to be issued by Us.

FROM THE

LONDON GAZETTE of JULY 31, 1819.

By His Royal Highness the PRINCE of WALES,
REGENT of the United Kingdom of Great Britain and Ireland, in the Name and on the
Behalf of His Majesty,

A PROCLAMATION.

GEORGE, P. R.

WHEREAS in divers parts of Great Britain, meetings of large numbers of His Majesty's subjects have been held upon the requisition of persons who, or some of whom, have, together with others, by seditious and treasonable speeches addressed to the persons assembled, endeavoured to bring into hatred and contempt the Government and Constitution established in this realm, and particularly the Commons House of Parliament, and to excite disobedience to the laws and insurrection against His Majesty's authority :

And whereas it hath been represented unto Us, that at one of such meetings the persons there assembled, in gross violation of the law did attempt to constitute and appoint, and did, as much as in them lay, constitute and appoint a person then nominated, to sit in their name and on their behalf in the Commons House of Parliament; and there is reason to believe that other meetings are about to be held for the like unlawful purpose :

And whereas many wicked and seditious writings have

have been printed, published, and industriously circulated, tending to promote the several purposes aforesaid, and to raise groundless jealousies and discontents in the minds of His Majesty's faithful and loyal subjects :

And whereas We have been further given to understand, that, with a view of the better enabling themselves to carry into effect the wicked purposes aforesaid, in some parts of the kingdom, men, clandestinely and unlawfully assembled, have practised military training and exercise :

And whereas the welfare and happiness of this Kingdom do, under Divine Providence, chiefly depend upon a due submission to the laws, a just reliance on the integrity and wisdom of Parliament, and a steady perseverance in that attachment to the Government and Constitution of the Realm, which has ever prevailed in the minds of the people thereof; and whereas there is nothing which We so earnestly wish as to preserve the public peace and prosperity, and to secure to all His Majesty's liege subjects the entire enjoyment of their rights and liberties :

We, therefore, being resolved to repress the wicked, seditious, and treasonable practices aforesaid, have thought fit, in the name and on the behalf of His Majesty, and by and with the advice of His Majesty's Privy Council, to issue this Our Royal Proclamation, solemnly warning all His Majesty's liege subjects to guard against every attempt, to overthrow the law, and to subvert the Government so happily established within this Realm, and to abstain from every measure inconsistent with the peace and good order of society, and earnestly exhorting them at all times, and to the utmost of their power, to avoid and discountenance all proceedings tending to produce the evil effects above described :

And We do strictly enjoin all His Majesty's loving ing subjects to forbear from the practice of all such military training and exercise as aforesaid, as they shall answer the contrary thereof at their peril.

And We do charge and command all Sheriffs, Justices of the Peace, Chief Magistrates of Cities, Boroughs, and Corporations, and all other Magistrates throughout Great Britain, that they do, within their respective jurisdictions, make diligent enquiry in order to discover and bring to justice the authors and printers of such wicked and seditious writings as aforesaid, and all who shall circulate the same; and that they do use their best endeavours to bring to justice all persons who have been or may be guilty of uttering seditious speeches and harangues, and all persons concerned in any riots or unlawful assemblies, which, on whatever pretext they may be grounded, are not only contrary to law but dangerous to the most important interests of the kingdom,

Given at the Court at Carlton-House, this thirtieth day of July one thousand eight hundred and nineteen, and in the fifty-ninth year of His Majesty's reign.

Whitehall, July 30, 1819.

His Royal Highness the Prince Regent hath been pleased, in the name and on the behalf of His Majesty, to grant unto Joshua Crosse, Esq. Captain in the 36th (or Herefordshire) Regiment of Infantry, His Majesty's royal licence and permission, that he may accept and wear the insignia of the royal and distinguished Military Order of San Fernando, which His Majesty Ferdinand the Seventh, King of Spain, hath been pleased to confer upon that Officer, in testimony of the sense which His Catholic Majesty entertains of the intrepidity displayed by him in several actions with the enemy in the Peninsula; provided nevertheless, that His Majesty's said licence and permission doth not authorise, and shall not be deemed or construed to authorise, the assumption of any style, appellation, rank, precedence, or privilege appertaining unto a Knight Bachelor of these realms :

And His Royal Highness hath been further pleased to command, that the said royal concession and declaration be registered in His Majesty's College of Arms.

GENERAL ORDER, by His Excellency the Governor-General.

THE service within the Nagpore territory having been closed by the reduction of the fortresses of Mundelah and Chanda, the Governor-General has infinite pleasure in professing his acknowledgements to Major-General Marshall, and to Lieutenant-Colonel Adams, under whose able management the captures were respectively effected.

The difficulties which Major-General Marshall had to encounter in getting forward his battering-train, through a country singularly rough, and wholly devoid of roads, were such as, notwithstanding the indefatigable efforts of Captain Cane, and of the Ordnance Department, under Acting Deputy Commissary Donald, could not have been surmounted by ordinary means. Nothing could have overcome the obstacles but the admirable zeal which appears to have pervaded every branch of the division. The sèpoys deserve the highest encomiums for their patient and protracted labour in dragging the artillery and waggons up the rocky steeps ; and the Governor-General desires that his warm praise may be communicated to them : but it is obvious that their cheerful perseverance in such severe toil could only flow from the cordial confidence subsisting between their Officers and them. To the Officers, therefore, his Lordship directs it to be explained, that from an effect so beneficial to the public he knows how to appreciate justly the habitual tenor of their behaviour towards their men, for which he offers them his applause and thanks.

The conduct of the siège by the principal engineer, Captain Tickell, was marked with the same science and judgment observable at Dhamoinie, and does great credit to the professional skill of that Officer. The high terms in which Major-General Marshall represents the exertions of Captain Tickell, as well as those of Lieutenants Peckett and Cheape, Ensigns Colvin and Irvine, and Cadet Warlow, of the same corps, are amply justified by the circumstances attending the fall of the fort.

The gallant manner in which Brigadier-General Watson led the assault, and dislodged the rallying enemy from various parts of the town, reflects great honour upon him and must have materially influenced the success of the attack.

Major O'Brien in procuring information on which to ground the plan for investing the place, manifested a judicious activity extremely useful.

The zeal and intrepidity of Lieutenant Pickersgill, Deputy Assistant-Quarter-Master-General, in reconnoitering the breach, will remain duly impressed on the Governor-General's memory. His Lordship has further to be mindful of the unwearied assistance which Major-General Marshall states himself to have received from Captain Watson, Assistant-Adjutant-General, and from Captain James, Deputy Assistant-Adjutant-General to the Division.

No exposition of the meritorious service of the storming column, nor any proof of the energy of Brigadier Dewar who commanded it, with Majors Midwinter and Thomas under him, can be requisite, beyond the fact of its complete success :—Lieutenants Lewis and Aitchison, with a small party of pioneers and a few men of the 1st battalion 14th native infantry, had the pride of accompanying Brigadier-General Watson through the breach, and were eagerly supported by Captain D. Aguilar, with a detachment of the 13th native infantry.

In reflecting on this triumph, the speedy prostration of the enemy's defences, whence the storm became practicable, exhibits conspicuously the merits of Major Hetzler, Captain Lindsay, and the other Officers and men of the Artillery. The service rendered by Major Hetzler is highly estimated by the Governor-General.

Where every man whose station gave him an opportunity of taking a special part is stated to have distinguished himself, the Governor-General could not without going into a too minute detail express his opinion of every Officer particularized by Major-General Marshall; therefore he must content himself with saying, that, he confirms and echoes the praise bestowed on the several individuals or corps in the Division Order* of Major-General Marshall on the occasion.

In adding the reduction of Dhamonnie and Mundelah to that of Hatras, all achieved with little loss, Major-General Marshall has evinced how judiciously he applies the principles of art in sieges, a branch perhaps the most scientific in the military profession.

The skill with which Lieutenant-Colonel Adams made a scanty supply of heavy ordnance suffice for the capture of a strong fortress, powerfully garrisoned, fitly crowns the conduct that had distinguished him during antecedent operations. The vigorous decision with which he had previously given a blow to the army of Bajee Row, productive of irremediable distress and despondency in that force, is not more to be admired than the judgement visible in the attack of Chanda. The gallantry of the Officers and men serving under him has well seconded the ability of their leader.

Lieutenant-Colonel Scott, of the Madras Establishment, who guided the assault, displayed a courage no less calmly capable of perceiving and securing every advantage than it was brilliant. His success demonstrates how judiciously his valour was applied. He appears to have been worthily supported by the intrepidity of Lieutenant-Colonel Popham and Captain Brooke, who led the right and left columns of attack. In noticing this part of the day's achievement the Governor-General should not forget the animated exertions of Lieutenants Beven and Fell (commanding the Pioneers), or the zeal of Lieutenant Hull, who volunteered to lead the Bengal grenadiers; nor can he omit noticing the strenuous bravery with which Captain Charlesworth, Lieutenant Casement, and Lieutenant Watson (all wounded on the occasion), contributed to the fortune of the day.

The rapid demolition of the enemy's defences and the speed with which a breach was effected would sufficiently testify the science of Lieutenant Anderson, Field Engineer, and of Lieutenant Crawford, of the Bengal artillery, acting as engineer, in indicating the positions for the batteries, even had not Lieutenant-Colonel Adams professed his obligations to those Officers so warmly.

It is distressing that Major Goreham has not survived to enjoy the just reputation which his eminent merit in the command of the artillery chalchallenged for him : yet, if he sunk under his too earnest exertions, he bore with him to the tomb the universal admiration of the Army, and his name will long be quoted to excite similar energy in others. Captain Rödder, Captain Mædowell, Captain McIntosh, and Lieutenant Waleott seem to have highly deserved the praise which their commander bestows upon them. Indeed the efforts of all the Officers and men were laudable, and in particular the successful attempt of Lieutenants Paggenpohl and Hunter to get one of the guns of the horse artillery over the breach exhibits a spirit and resource of superior tone.

The number of those who would be justified by their behaviour on this occasion to prefer a claim for separate acknowledgement lays the Governor-General under the same impossibility of particularizing every body, which existed with regard to Mundelah; but his Lordship must notice that Major Clarke stands with his usual prominence of distinction; and that special praise is due to Captain Scott, Officiating Assistant Adjutant-General, and to Captain Sandys, Deputy Assistant Quarter-Master-General, the latter of whom attached himself to the head of the storming column.

In fine the reduction of the two fortresses splendidly terminated a campaign of no ordinary exertion; leaving the Commander and their troops with augmented title to that approbation from Government which it is the purpose of this Order to proclaim.

By order of His Excellency the Most Noble the Governor-General.

J. ADAM,

Secretary to the Governor-General.

GENERAL ORDER, by His Excellency the Most Noble the Governor-General in Council.

Fort-William August 29, 1818.

THE occupation of the territories heretofore belonging to the late Peishwah being completed, by the reduction of the last fortress of that Prince in Kandeish, the Governor-General in Council indulges himself in the gratifying task of communicating his applause to the Officers by whom the conquest has been achieved.

Though the Honourable Mountstuart Elphinstone does not strictly come within the description, he has had too marked a personal share in the military operations of that quarter, and has too signally promoted their success by the generous example of his intrepidity in exigencies the most perilous, to be omitted when praise is given to the conduct and valour of the army. But, beyond this participation in the dangers of the troops, Mr. Elphinstone had, in his capacity of Commissioner, so great a part in guiding the application of the force, that the favourable issue is to be mainly ascribed to his ability in its direction.

Brigadier-General Munro has splendidly exhibited how apparently insufficient means may be rendered adequate by judgment and energy; his subjugation of fortress after fortress, and his securing every acquisition with numbers so unproportional to the extent of his endeavours, is the most unquestionable evidence of his talents. Lieutenant-Colonel Newall has entitled himself to much approbation in his execution of the Brigadier-General's instructions. The approaching retirement from active duty of Brigadier-General Munro is a subject of deep regret to the Governor-General in Council, whose mind will retain a lasting lasting impression of his singular merits and services through a long and distinguished career.

To Brigadier-General Doveton high commendation is due for the general tone of his exertions, in wearing down the army of Badjee Row, as soon as he could take part in the pursuit, nor are his services at Nagpore unconnected with that object: as his discomfiture and dispersion of the Rajah's army, under the walls of that capital, deprived the Peishwah of a material resource, he must be considered as having importantly contributed to the success of the principal undertaking.

The merit of Brigadier-General Smith is not prominent only in the indefatigable activity of his efforts in the outset of the war, to chastise the profligate treachery of the Peishwah, or in the judicious gallantry displayed when he with his cavalry attacked the enemy at Ashtah, on the 20th of February, but great and continued skill is manifest in the details of those persevering movements through which he at length forced Badjee Row to quit his own dominions, with a broken spirit and discomfitted army, and to seek another current of fortune by junction with the Nagpore Rajah.

The uniform tenor of General Smith's procedure has been admirable, and His Lordship in Council has marked with peculiar approbation the strict attention to discipline, and the unceasing regard for the welfare and security of the inhabitants of the country in which his operations were carried on, which have marked the whole course of Brigadier-General Smith's command.

A zeal, no less active evidently animated Brigadier-General Pritzler, though it had not equal scope. His success in the capture of so many strong and important fortresses advanced materially the objects of the campaign; and his destruction of Badjee Row's infantry at Sholapore, under the direction of Brigadier-General Munro, was a service not

not only brilliant, but of essential consequence towards the speedy termination of the contest.

The conduct of Lieutenant-Colonel Boles, Lieutenant-Colonel Deacon, and Lieutenant-Colonel Eldridge in the portions which they had to fulfil of the above operations, bears a stamp highly creditable.

The rapid succession of fortresses, including many of high reputation and remarkable strength, subdued by Lieutenant-Colonel Prother in the Concan with an inconsiderable force sufficiently testifies the eminent exertions of that officer ; and the claims of Lieutenant-Colonels Kennedy and Inlack to praise will be evinced by the same proof. The merits of these officers and the gallant troops under their command have been marked in details by the Right Honourable the Governor in Council of Bombay, under whose immediate direction the operations in the Concan were conducted.

A corresponding character belongs to the efforts of Lieutenant-Colonel MacDowall who, with a very limited force, has by a series of bold, active, and judicious operations effected the reduction of the province of Kandeish, including many fortresses hitherto deemed impregnable.

The momentary check which his progress received at Malligaum, only afforded fresh opportunity for the display of the gallantry and perseverance of the troops and their exemplary patience under great privation and hardship. The efforts of Lieutenant-Colonel MacDowall have been ably seconded by Major Jerdan and the other officers commanding separate detachments in Kandeish.

Were it practicable to particularise every officer employed in the late operations against Bajee Row, the Governor-General in Council would have cause to distinguish each by a separate tribute of approbation ; but, as that is impossible his Lordship in Council must entreat them to accept collectively his best thanks for the service which they have rendered to the state.

By command of His Excellency the Most Noble the Governor-General in Council.

J. ADAM,
Chief Secretary to the Government.

GENERAL ORDERS by His Excellency the Governor-General in Council.

Fort William, 26th September 1818.

THE Governor-General in Council has had the satisfaction of offering to the officers commanding divisions and separate detachments of the army during the operations against the late Peishwah the tribute of applause due to their eminent exertions ; but it still remains to particularise the names of other officers who though in less prominent stations have not less zealously and successfully discharged their duty in their respective spheres, and whose claim to public approbation for services performed since the cessation of the more immediate superintendence of Lieutenant-General Sir Thomas Hislop in the Deccan, it becomes the grateful duty of the Governor-General in Council to record in detail.

The course of service in the Poonah territory rendered the siege and reduction of the numerous fortresses of the enemy an important feature of the war. In the operations before the strong and frequently well defended forts which were reduced by the reserve division under the command, first of Brigadier-General Pritzler, and subsequently of Brigadier-General Munro, the conduct of Lieutenant-Colonel Dalrymple of the Madras establishment, commanding the artillery, was eminently conspicuous in every siege from Saugur to Sholapore, and has received the unqualified and well-earned earned testimonies of the officers under whose command he served, to his intrepidity professional skill and unwearied personal exertion.

Captain Nutt of the Bombay establishment; who commanded the engineer's department on some of these occasions, and Lieutenant Grant of the Madras establishment; who in the absence of Captain Nutt on other duty occupied that important station have been deservedly applauded for the activity and service they evinced.

The conduct of Colonel Hewett, C. B., of the Madras establishment to whom was entrusted the execution of the immediate operations of the infantry of the reserve division, both during the command of Brigadier-General Pritzler, and after it was assumed by Brigadier-General Munro, has established a just claim to applause for the manner in which he discharged that important trust. In the operations before Wussota and in conducting the assault of the fortified Pettah of Sholapore, where his efforts were admirably supported by Lieutenant-Colonel Newall of the Madras establishment, and Major Giles of His Majesty's 53d Regiment, the merits of Colonel Hewett have been especially brought to notice by the officers successively commanding the reserve.

Major Smith of the 2d of the 9th battalion native infantry and Captain Gwynne of the rifle corps, Captain Chadwicke of His Majesty's 22d light dragoons, and Captain Munro of the 7th Madras light cavalry, and Lieutenant Smithwaite of the Madras pioneers, have been honourably distinguished by their commanding officers, and the testimony borne by Brigadier-General Munro and Brigadier-General Pritzler respectively, to the able and useful assistance they derived from Captain Jollie of the Adjutant-General's department, from Captain O'Donoghue of the Quarter-Master-General's department, and the other officers of their public and personal staff, is highly creditable to those officers.

The principal operations of Brigadier-General Smith's division were performed before the period embraced by this order, but this limitation does not exclude the active and vigorous pursuit by Captain Davies, commanding His Highness the Nizam's reformed horse, of a body of Bajee Row's troops, headed by Chinnajee Appah, the Peishwah's brother, and Appah Dessye retiring to the Poonah territory, in the course of which Captain Davies and his detachment displayed equal ardour and perseverance in the pursuit and forbearance, and discipline after they had overtaken the enemy and received his submission. Captain Sutherland of the same corps has distinguished himself by a gallant and well conducted movement against a noted predatory leader, and in assaulting sword in hand a ghurry where the banditti had taken refuge: the conduct of this valuable corps on every occasion of service has proved the soundness of the principles on which it has been formed, and the fitness of the individual officers belonging to it for their arduous task.

Major Cunningham, commanding the Poonah auxiliary horse, and the officers and men of that corps have, on all occasions distinguished themselves by every soldier-like quality, and the conduct of Major Macleod, Captains Spiller, Rind and Swanston, demands a distinct acknowledgment.

In Kandeish the conduct of Lieutenant-Colonel Stewart, Major M'Bean, and Major Greenhill, of the Madras establishment, who respectively commanded the columns of horse at the assault of Maligaum on the 29th of May, and of Major Andrews of the Madras European regiment, who bore an active part in the operations before that place, has been viewed with high approbation by the Governor-General in Council. His Lordship in Council lamented

laments the loss the service has sustained in the death of Lieutenant Davics of the Madras Engineers, an officer of distinguished merit, and of Lieutenant Nattes of the same corps, Captain Kennedy of the 17th Madras Native infantry, Lieutenant Wilkinson and Lieutenant Egan of the 2d of the 3d Madras Native infantry, who fell in the operations before that place in the honourable discharge of their duty.

Lientenant-Colonel Crossdill who has commanded the artillery throughout the operations in Kandeish with signal zeal, exertion and success, is entitled to the marked approbation of the Government for his zealous and meritorious services.

If the Governor-General in Council confines himself to the names and occasions above-mentioned, it is only because the necessary limits of an Order restrain him from adverting to every particular event of a campaign so fruitful of gallant and successful enterprize. His Lordship in Council must, therefore, be satisfied with repeating his warm acknowledgments to all those who in the late operations in the Deccan have so greatly contributed to enhance the reputation of the distinguished army to which they belong, and to enlarge the possessions and consolidate the power of the British Government.

By command of His Excellency the Most Noble the Governor-General in Council,

J. ADAM,
Chief Secretary to the Government.

Extract from a Report from Brigadier-General Hardyman to the Adjutant-General, dated Camp, Talwarah Ghaut, north bank of the Nerbudda, 20th December, 1817.

I HAVE now the honour to report in detail, for the information of the Most Noble the Commander in Chief, the leading particulars of the few operations which took place yesterday morning in action* near the large town of Jubbulpore.

After a march of twelve miles, and at ten o'Clock in the morning, Major O'Brien, commanding the 8th regiment of Native cavalry, with his usual activity and intelligence, brought my small detachment before a large body of the Nagpore horse and foot, whom I could only consider as enemies to our Government.

Their several positions were instantly and closely reconnoitred by Major O'Brien, Captain Despard, Major of Brigade, and Captain Fitz-Clarence, one of his Lordship's Aides-de-Camp, who honoured me with his personal attendance on this occasion.

Their line of horse, guns, and a large body of infantry interspersed, were ascertained to be strongly posted on elevated and broken ground, having to their front a difficult nullah for cavalry to pass.

Their right flank rested close to the base of a steep range of lofty rocks shaped into two separate hills, which were covered with infantry. Their left flank was protected by a large tank adjoining the town of Jubbulpore, and received further security from a fortified gurry not easily to be assailed.

To assault the enemy's line without loss of time, our disposition was shortly taken up as follows:—

Two squadrons under the immediate command of

* A short notice of this action was contained in a dispatch from the Government of Bombay, published in the Gazette of 9th June 1818, p. 1047.

Major O'Brien, were pushed on nearly a mile, so as to threaten the enemy's left flank, and to be in readiness to take advantage of their flight towards the Nerbudda, which it was expected they would attempt in case of being routed.

His Majesty's 17th Foot, under the command of Lieutenant-Colonel Nicoll, occupied a favourable position opposite their front, commanding a fire on their right and centre, where their guns were supposed to be placed.

Our battery, directed by Lieutenant D'Oyley, was flanked by the 17th regiment, having a reserve of cavalry and infantry in the rear, commanded by Major Beck.

The troops all thus formed to advance, our guns were unmasked by withdrawing the cavalry, and instantly commenced a fire of shrapnells well directed, into the enemy's ranks. The discharge was rapidly returned from four guns, and soon followed by rockets, grape and chain-shot, which fortunately flew high over our troops, who continued steadily to advance. Our opponents were soon observed to be in motion. This was the moment for a general charge. Lieutenant Pope with his squadron took the lead, passing under a galling fire from the heights, and rapidly penetrated to their guns, driving the fugitives before him. He was ably supported by Cornet Kennedy of the 5th Cavalry with the remainder of the reserve, assaulting their left flank. Major Beck with two companies and guns pushed on to the centre, secured the enemy's guns and tumbrils, and having upset the whole of them, took a commanding position on the heights, where Lieutenant D'Oyley again formed his battery.

Lieutenant-Colonel Nicoll with six companies, lost no time in charging their infantry, strongly posted on the two hills (Captain Thompson leading the left division) and completely dislodged them at the

the point of the bayonet, descending on the opposite side of the heights, in possession of seven of the enemy's standards taken during the last contest.

The number of the enemy were estimated at about three thousand, and four hundred were said to have been killed.

During the action, the public cattle, stores and baggage were collected at a tank in our rear, and there protected by the rear guard.

Considering the march of the morning, I trust the Most Noble the Commander in Chief will be satisfied with the exertions of all the officers and men, Europeans and Natives, throughout the day. They have my utmost acknowledgments. It fell to the lot of one individual to be more conspicuously distinguished than the rest, and that fortunate officer is Lieutenant Pope of the 8th Cavalry. He charged steadily under a heavy fire from the heights, penetrated to the enemy's guns, received a spear into his body, and continued the pursuit with vigour.

In the course of the afternoon and next day the whole of the guns, ordnance stores, and other valuable articles found in the arsenal within the town, were either brought into camp or destroyed on the spot by the exertions of Major O'Brien, Lieutenant D'Oyley, and Lieutenant Harvey, of the Commissariat.

Return of Casualties in the Detachment under the command of Brigadier-General Hardyman, in the Action at Jubbulpore, on the 19th December 1817.

2 rank and file killed; 3 Officers, 2 serjeants, 5 rank and file, wounded.

Officers wounded.

Lieutenant Pope, 8th native cavalry, severely, not dangerously; Lieutenant Maw, 17th Foot, severely, not dangerously; Lieutenant Nicholson, 17th Foot, slightly.

Extract from a Report from Major-General Brown to the Adjutant-General, dated Camp, near Rampoorah, 10th January 1818.

I HAVE the honour to report to you, for the information of the Most Noble the Commander in Chief, that having good information I marched from Aurotte this morning, and succeeded in surprising the remnant of Holkar's infantry and a body of cavalry under Paim Sing, Roshen Beg, and Roshen Khan, in the town of Rampoorah.

The result is that Paim Sing is a prisoner in my camp; and there is a report that Roshen Khan is amongst the slain, but it wants confirmation. We have taken about one hundred horses and much other baggage, and the number of killed and wounded must be nearly double. Our own loss is only one horse killed. The force of the enemy was reckoned at two hundred horse and two hundred infantry.

Extract from a Report from Brigadier-General Munro to the Honourable Mountstuart Elphinstone, dated Camp, Sholapore, 15th May 1818.

I HAVE the honour to report that after the defeat* of the enemy's force before Sholapore on the 10th instant, preparations were immediately begun for the siege of the place, but from the difficulty of procuring materials, our batteries were not ready to open until the morning of the 14th; the fire was so well directed that before noon a breach was nearly made in the outer wall, when a message was received from the Killedar requesting that hostilities might cease, and that he would give up the place at sun rise next morning. The terms were agreed to, and the garrison marched out at the time appointed with their arms and private property; they were accompanied by Gunput Row Phanseah, who had gone into the fort on account of the wound which he received on the 10th.

I have been greatly indebted to Lieutenant-Colonel Dalrymple, commanding the artillery, and to Lieutenant Grant, of the engineers, for their able services, and to all the Officers and men of the force for their meritorious exertions during the short but active operations of the siege.

* An account of this affair was published in the Gazette of 12th October 1818, p. 1829.

Extract from Division Orders, dated Camp, before Sholapore, 11th May 1818, by Brigadier-General Munro.

THE Officer commanding congratulates the force on the complete success of the operations of yesterday ; he requests that Brigadier-General Pritzler will accept his sincerest thanks for his able and zealous services with the reserve in supporting the columns which escalated the pettah, and in defeating the attack made by the enemy with their infantry and guns : his best thanks are also due to Colonel Hewett, C. B. for the cool and steady manner in which he directed the escalade, and to Lieutenant-Colonel Newall and Major Giles, for the spirit with which they escalated at the head of their respective columns, and drove the enemy from the pettah. Much of the success is to be attributed to the excellent firing of the artillery under Lieutenant-Colonel Dalrymple, by which one of the enemy's tumbrils was blown up, and their lines thrown into confusion ; and to the gallantry of that valuable Officer in leading the column which charged the enemy and captured three of their guns, in which service he was joined by Lieutenant-Colonel Newall from the pettah. The commanding Officer returns his thanks to Lieutenant Grant, of the engineers, for his useful services in reconnoitring the pettah and guiding the columns to the points of escalade ; and to Captain Smithwaite and the Officers of the pioneers who placed the scaling ladders ; and he has great pleasure in expressing his approbation of the behaviour of every Officer and man employed in the attack, for the whole seemed to be animated by one spirit of the most determined courage.

The Officer commanding the force has received a report from Brigadier-General Pritzler of his pursuit and attack of the enemy's infantry yesterday evening ; and he has much gratification in observing, that the success has far exceeded his most sanguine expectations. He cannot speak too highly in praise of the conduct of that distinguished Officer on this occasion : he thanks Captain Chadwick for the able manner in which he executed the Brigadier-General's orders, and for his judicious bravery in not allowing his men to use their pistols until they had passed through the whole length of the enemy's column : he also thanks Captain Munro, of the 7th regiment of cavalry, who commanded the auxiliary horse, for the service which he rendered them, and Lieutenant Dickenson, of the artillery, for his management of the guns, as also Captain O'Donoghue and Lieutenant Dunn, of the Assistant Quarter-Master-General's Department, and Lieutenant Grant, of the engineers, who acted as the Brigadier-General's Staff.

The commanding Officer is much indebted to all the Officers and men of His Majesty's 22d light dragoons, for their gallant behaviour in this affair ; and he congratulates the force on the important influence which it must have on the future operations of the war ; for, joined to the previous success of the morning, he considers it as having annihilated, as a military body, the Peishwah's infantry, which had been so long formidable to the country.

By order,

WAL. JOLLIE, A. A. Gen.

Extract from Division Orders, dated Camp, near Sholapore, May 15, 1818, by Brigadier-General Munro.

THE commanding Officer congratulates the force on the surrender of Sholapore this morning : this important event has been greatly accelerated by their gallant efforts on the 10th instant ; which, by dispersing the enemy's army, removed every obstacle to the immediate commencement of the siege. Lieutenant-Colonel Dalrymple is entitled to great praise for having, in a few hours firing, nearly effected a practicable breach ; and the commanding Officer begs, that Lieutenant Grant, of the engineers, will accept his best thanks for the skill shewn by him in selecting the positions for the batteries.

By order,

WAL. JOLLIE, A. A. Gen.

Extract from a Letter from Lieutenant Sutherland to Major Pitman, Acting Political Agent in Berar, dated Camp, at Amba, 1st August 1818.

I DO myself the honour to inform you that Durmajee* and his brother are our prisoners.

From intelligence received during the march on the night of the 30th, I changed the direction from Dyton to Daby, which place I reached a little before day-break on the morning of the 31st, and surrounded it with a few men who had come up for some miles at a gallop ; the place was afterward closely invested, and two thirty-foot ladders being ready by three o'clock, preparations were made for an escalade.

* This is the service referred to in the General Order of 26th September 1818, published in page 1383 of this Gazette.

The garrison threw open the gate to receive my party, and stood to defend it sword in hand. Shad-dee Khan advanced with a coolness and determination which would have done honour to any troops, planted his ladder and advanced through the body of the place to meet the other party. I was wounded at the gate and rendered unable to advance, but not until we had made an example of the fellows who so gallantly defended it; the two parties however advanced and carried every thing before them, drove the garrison from bastion to bastion, and at length came to the one where Durmajee had taken post with a few men; they threw down their arms, and here Durmajee and his brother were made prisoners.

The ghurry is of considerable strength, and noted as a receptacle for thieves and vagabonds. It is a square of one hundred and fifty yards with eight bastions: the garrison were chiefly Brinjaries, and fought with the utmost determination, neither giving up their arms, nor taking quarter, except Durmajee and his small party; our loss is therefore I am sorry to say very considerable: a return of it I have the honour to annex.

I cannot conclude without bringing to your notice in the most particular manner the conduct of Nawaub Mahomed Azim Khan, who volunteered to accompany me from Bheir, and to whose intelligence and local knowledge, on a night march of forty-five miles, the darkest and most rainy imaginable, I owe every thing.

Return of Killed and Wounded at Duby on the 31st July 1818.

Killed—1 jemadar; 8 horsemen.

Wounded—Lieutenant Sutherland; 22 horsemen.

the force I have the honour to command about noon this day, where as soon after as possible Brevet Major Owen, of His Majesty's 67th regiment, by my orders occupied the whole of the gates and fort, with part of the flank companies of that regiment. This service I am happy to say was effected without firing a shot. May I request your orders respecting the disposal of Ally Jemadar and his followers, who are now prisoners in Camp.

The particulars of this with a detail shall be forwarded in the course of to-morrow.

I have, &c.

Extract from a Letter from Mr. Maddock, Political Agent in Bundelcund, to Mr. Adam, Chief Secretary to the Bengal Government, dated Camp, Gurra Kotta, 30th October 1818.

THE fort of Gurra Kotta* was this morning taken possession of by the army of Brigadier-General Watson. The Garrison were permitted to march out with their arms.

Extract from a Letter from Captain Stewart, Acting Resident with Scindia, to Mr. Adam, Chief Secretary to the Bengal Government, dated Gwalior, 1st December 1818.

I HAVE the honour to transmit, for the information of the Most Noble the Governor-General in Council, Captain Blacker's report of the affair with Dhokul Sing. Considering that this is the first occasion on which the contingent has been engaged without the support of the British troops, His Excellency will I doubt not appreciate the steadiness and resolution with which they behaved, particularly when opposed with such gallantry by the Rajpoots of Kurheewairah, who have hitherto been regarded by the Mahrattas with considerable awe.

It is evident that the good conduct of the contingent on this occasion is to be attributed in a great degree to the order and subordination introduced into the corps by Captain Blacker, and to the example of courage and resolution set to them by that Officer, to whose conduct I may therefore be again permitted to draw the attention of His Excellency the Governor-General.

Extract from Captain Blacker's Report, inclosed in the preceding, dated Camp Purwah, 25th November 1818.

Dhokul Sing was at Muxoodenghur levying contributions, and threatened to proceed to Bhelsa; he had a force it was said of about three thousand horse and foot, the latter were composed of Scinds, and he had also a small body of horsemen of the same tribe. The Rajpoot horse formed a small but very brave body of men, and the remainder consisted of Pindarries or late adherents of Ameer Khan, on whom no dependence could be placed.

On my arrival at Serroge (by which route I came to deter him from going towards Bhilsa), I was joined by Captain Fielding with the second corps of the contingent.

Dhokul Sing moved from Muxoodinghur in a northerly direction and crossed the Parbuttee river west of Ragooghur: I followed him, requesting Cap-

Captain Fielding to take a route to my right to prevent his entering the jungles of Keitrywarra.

I crossed the Parbuttee on the 21st, when hearing that he was not far distant, I advanced at sunset with five hundred of the British levy and fifteen hundred Mahratta horse. About midnight I was assured by the villagers that he was only five miles distant, and halted such time as would allow me to reach his camp by daylight.

He had, however, moved in the evening and taken to the thick jungles which line the banks of the Parbuttee, supposing, as I have since heard, that I could not follow him. I arrived at eight A. M., 22d, at the ground he had left an hour before, and could perceive his party at intervals about three miles in front of me.

I pursued as fast as possible, but the jungle was so thick, and the ground so broken with deep ravines and rocky nullahs that a single sowar could with difficulty pass in most places. After proceeding about six miles, I found him drawn up on a small open spot, with his infantry and a select body of horse. The utmost I could muster then, owing to the thickness of the jungle, was about two hundred British levy and one hundred and fifty Mahratta horse, with which, as he stood, I formed and moved down; he, however, anticipated my attack by charging us; a small party penetrated through the line, but none I believe returned.

This was decisive of the affair, the remainder dashed their horses through the jungle, and being well mounted, while our cattle were fatigued, soon escaped from the pursuit which was continued only a short distance, twenty-five or thirty were left dead on the field, and I ascertained from one of the wounded that they were his principal people. Two Scinde jemadars were among the number. His party dispersed in every direction through the jungle, Dhokul Sing himself was wounded in three places, and was carried on a cot into Kiowda, twenty miles distant on the right bank of the Parbuttee, where he arrived alone; about two hundred persons altogether reached that place which was their rendezvous; next day he dismissed his followers, and with a few servants retired to the thick jungles in the direction of Sereey, it is said.

I came here yesterday, when learning of Captain Fielding's having taken up the pursuit, I deemed it unnecessary to proceed further.

It was my intention to have proceeded to-morrow across the river again, and, by a rapid movement, endeavour to surprise Adjeet Sing*; but I have just received a reply to my letter, in which he accepts the terms proffered to him, and as this was written previous to his knowledge of Dhokul Sing's* disaster, I have little doubt of his sincerity, and have dispatched an escort to accompany him to my camp.

SIR,

I AM directed by the Commander in Chief to transmit, for the information of the Government, the accompanying copy of a dispatch, dated the 3d instant, from Brigadier Knox, to Major-General Sir David Ochterlony, and of its inclosures, reporting his having obtained possession of the fort of Tarragurgh*, and the circumstances which led to the early acquisition of this important place.

The Commander in Chief anticipates the approbation with which the Governor-General in Council will view the judicious conduct of Brigadier Knox, to which, aided by the exertions of his troops, is to be attributed the early possession, without bloodshed, of so strong a fortress.

I have, &c.

JAS. NICOL, Adj.-Gen. of the Army.

Camp, near Ajmere, 3d July 1818.

IN consequence of authentic information which I had received that the Rajah was extremely desirous of leaving the fort, and had even some hopes of making his escape, I requested Major Cartwright to proceed to an advanced post for the purpose of receiving him should he succeed in the attempt, if not the battery was to begin firing half an hour after Major Cartwright's arrival. I am happy to add that within the prescribed time the Rajah himself succeeded in getting out, giving up possession of the first gateway. I have the pleasure to add that we obtained possession of the fort at five P. M. and I herewith transmit a copy of my Detachment Orders of this day's date.

DETACHMENT ORDERS issued by Brigadier A. Knox, Commanding.

Head-Quarters, Camp, near Ajmere, 3d July 1818.

IN offering his congratulations to the troops under his command on the surrender of the strong fortress of Tarragurb, Brigadier Knox feels it peculiarly incumbent on him to express his belief, that the successful issue of this affair is principally to be attributed to the zealous and spirited conduct of the detachment employed in the operations of the 1st instant.

The close and attentive reconnoissance of the town and fort of Ajmere, executed by Lieutenant Hall, of the Quarter-Master-General's Department, and Ensign Garston, of the Engineers, appear to have led to the immediate evacuation of the former, and to the consequent occupation of positions by our troops of the greatest importance to our ultimate success, whilst the decisive effects on the minds of the defenders of the fort, caused by the battery which had been planned by the latter of these Officers, affords the best test of it's position having been judiciously chosen.

To Major Butler, who voluntarily undertook the superintendence of the artillery detail; to Captain Arden, of the 27th regiment native infantry; Lieutenants Pringle and Air, of the pioneers, and generally rally to all the Officers and men employed on this occasion, the Brigadier begs leave to offer his best thanks. The facility with which during a very stormy night, and in spite of great natural obstacles, the battery was erected by the pioneers, clearly shews how much may be expected from the services of that valuable corps.

In the judicious and successful application of the labour of the public servants and cattle on this occasion, Lieutenant Sneyd, of the Commissariat Department, has established an additional claim to that approbation on the part of Brigadier Knox, which his former conduct had so justly excited.

A. KNOX, Brigadier.

Extract from a Report from Lieutenant-Colonel Baldock to the Adjutant-General, dated Hanse, 28th July 1818.

I HAVE the honour to report to you, for the information of the Most Noble the Commander in Chief, that Futteeabad* was occupied on the evening of the 26th instant, by two rissallahs of Skinner's horse, which, when I received intelligence of the place having been evacuated by the Bhuttees, I directed Major Fast to detach from Hissar to take possession of it.

Copy of a Letter from the Adjutant-General to Mr. Adam, Chief Secretary to the Bengal Government, dated 17th August 1818.

SIR,

I AM directed by the Commander in Chief to report, for the information of the Governor-General in Council, that the detachment under the command of Lieutenant-Colonel Thompson gained possession of the town of Madarajpoora* on the night of the 29th ultimo, with the trifling loss of four men killed and ten wounded.

One column entered the town by the breach which had been made in the walls, and two others by escalade, and Lieutenant-Colonel Thompson reports the good conduct of the Officers and troops employed on the service. The fort still held out.

I have, &c.

JAS. NICOL,
Adjutant-General of the Army.

Extract from a Report from Lieutenant-Colonel Thompson, C. B. to the Assistant Adjutant-General, dated Camp, Madarajpoorah, 2d August 1818.

I BEG leave through you to offer my congratulation to Major-General Sir David Ochterlony, Bart. G. C. B. in the surrender last night of the fort of Madogurh to the detachment under my command; the fort is at present occupied by a party of our troops under Captain Watson, 1st battalion 28th, and Baorat Sing quits it as soon as cattle can be provided for the conveyance of his baggage. He expresses his intention of proceeding to Muttra, and I have agreed to assist him with the loan of carriage, cattle, and a tent for his journey; he is also to be permitted to dispose of what grain he has in the fort, but in all other respects his surrender is unconditional; I trust this arrangement will meet the Major-General's approbation.

I cannot refrain from calling the Major-General's attention to the zealous exertions, activity, and cheerful endurance of fatigue manifested by the whole of the Officers and men employed in the present operations, and I should conceive it an injustice were I not to express how much the successful result is to be attributed to the unremitting exertions of Ensign Garstin, Field Engineer, whose perseverance, although in a state of ill health; is highly meritorious and deserving of my best thanks.

Major Butler and the Officers and men of the artillery sustained the well known reputation of that distinguished corps, and are entitled to the highest commendation, the practice of the mortar and breaching batteries (the former under the command of Captain Percina, and the latter under Captain Graham, who zealously volunteered his services to command the breaching batteries both against the town and fort), was most excellent, to which and the fire from the other batteries, under Lieutenants Smith, Baker, and Whinfield, the surrender of the fort with so small a loss on our part must be attributed.

Lieutenants Pringle and Aire, commanding the two companies of pioneers, evinced great zeal, and the exertions and fatigue gone through in erecting the several batteries, where materials were procured with so much difficulty, is highly praiseworthy: the ladders also which preceded the different columns of attack upon the town were carried and placed by the pioneers under the direction of these Officers ; and the whole detachment has been employed working day and night ever since our arrival before the place.

The several columns of attack upon the town were commanded by Captains Leith, Arden, and Watson, and the steadiness shewn by the men during the attack, and the great vigilance exerted after the capture in the occupation by our troops are highly creditable to those Officers who since commanded these alternately, and although no serious opposition was made, yet the determination and ardour displayed by the Officers and men is a sufficient proof that no resistance of the enemy would have availed them.

To Captain Gough and to Lieutenant Hall, Deputy Assistant-Quarter-Master-General, I feel highly indebted for the excellent information and intelligence obtained by them, every circumstance of which has since turned out perfectly correct, and I have further to express myself under great obligation to Lieutenant Hall for his suggestions regarding the plan of attack upon the town, as also his zeal in the application of the means in his power, as being in charge of the Commissariat Department, to the assistance of the Engineer.

Previous to my arrival here the town and fort were invested by the 2d local cavalry, and one squadron of the 2d regiment native cavalry, the former commanded by Captain Borlase, and the latter by Lieutenant Burgh ; and I have much pleasure in reporting to the Major-General that Captain Borlase's arrangements for surrounding the place and preventing communication with the country, were successful, and that I have experienced every assistance in his power from Captain Borlase, and the detachment under his command.

I have to acknowledge the unwearied assistance

I have

I have received from Lieutenants Lloyd and M'Kenzie, my Personal Staff, in carrying on the necessary arrangements and details during the operations. I beg to mention that Lieutenant Lloyd volunteered and did command the party of support to Captain Leith's storming party.

---

DIVISION ORDERS by Major-General Sir D. Och-terlony, Bart. G. C. B. commanding in Rajpootana.

Head-Quarters, Jeypoor, 3d August 1818.

THE Major-General offers his best thanks and congratulations to Lieutenant-Colonel Thompson, the Officers and men of his detachment, on the surrender of Madarajpoorah, a place which for nearly a year resisted the attacks of Meer Khan, and whose garrison had boasted their determination to die in its defence with their Chief.

The early submission of this small but strong fortress, surrounded as it is by a deep and wet ditch, cannot fail to make a serious and most favourable impression, contrasted as it must be by the protracted siege of Meer Khan, and so contrary as it was to the avowed intention of its defenders, and the Major-General under all circumstances considers it equally judicious and humane in Lieutenant-Colonel Thompson, where the superiority was so manifest, to yield to the first overtures of Thaguoor Barrat Sing, who is sufficiently punished for his contumacy by the loss of his ancient possessions which he has delivered over, and are now occupied by our troops.

Lieutenant-Colonel Thompson's report of the zealous exertions, activity, and cheerful endurance of fatigue manifested by the Officers and men are highly creditable, and entitle them generally to the Major-

General's cordial thanks. The Lieutenant-Colonel has expressed himself in the most favourable terms of the zeal and active exertions of Ensign Gartson, Field Engineer, though labouring under indisposition.

He also states that Major Butler, the Officers and men of the artillery, have sustained the well known reputation of that distinguished corps, and particularly alludes to Captain Graham, who volunteered his services in the breaching batteries both against the town and fort.

The active exertions, zealous and cheerful services of the pioneers, under Lieutenants Pringle and Aire, appear on this occasion to have merited the approbation which the Major-General has so often had occasion to express of this most valuable corps.

To Lieutenant Hall, Deputy Assistant-Quarter-Master-General, to whose correct information and intelligence, as well as useful suggestions, the Lieutenant-Colonel states himself highly obliged, the Major-General offers his best acknowledgements.

The Lieutenant-Colonel notices the conduct of Captains Leith, Arden, and Watson, who commanded the columns of attack on the town, as highly creditable to those Officers, also the judicious arrangements made by Captain Borlase, commanding a detachment of cavalry for the previous investment of the town, and assistance after the arrival of the detachment.

Lieutenant-Colonel Thompson likewise acknowledges the assistance he received from his personal staff Lieutenants Lloyd and M'Kenzie, and expresses himself much indebted to Captain Gough, who was requested to proceed to Madarajpoorah by the Major-General.

The Officers thus distinguished are requested to accept the assurance of the Major-General's cordial con-

concurrence in the sentiments expressed by the Lieutenant-Colonel.

Lieutenant Hall is requested to pay to the two hurkarrals who gave him the first and most correct description of the fort, fifty rupees, as a reward for their intelligence and activity, and such smaller rewards to the most active of the men of his department as he thinks deserving, discharging the same in his public accounts.

EDMUND CARTWRIGHT,
A. A. General.

India-Board, August 9, 1819.

DISPATCHES have been received at the East India-House from the Governor-General in Council at Fort William, and from the Governor in Council at Bombay, with inclosures, of which the following are extracts and copies :

Extract from a Report from Lieutenant-Colonel Adams, C. B., to the Adjutant-General, dated Head-Quarters, Nagpore Subsidiary Force, Husingabad, August 24, 1818.

A LETTER from Major Cumming, details the success which had attended a party of reconnoissance he had attached to Moultye*, under Captain Kerr.

The ability and judgment evinced by Captain Kerr, in drawing forth the strength of the enemy after the successful surprise upon, and destruction of, their out-post, together with the gallantry displayed in the repeated charges by Cornet Duffin and the Officers and men engaged, will, I trust, obtain for them his Lordship's approbation.

* On the Tapti, seventy miles N. W. of Nagpore.

Extract from a Letter from Major Cumming to Mr. Jenkins, the Resident at Nagpore, dated Camp, Moultie, 23d August 1818.

I BEG leave to acquaint you that the enemy evacuated the fort and town of Moultie, at a late hour last night. This information was not communicated to me till day-break this morning, when I sent a party to take possession, and at the same time detached a squadron of the 7th cavalry and some infantry after the enemy.

Extract from a Letter from Captain Newton to Major Cumming, dated Camp, Moultie, 24th August 1818.

AT about half-past five this morning, after a march of twenty-one miles, I came upon the enemy who were encamped at the distance of about three hundred yards on the opposite banks of the Bheal river, a very rapid stream, and so deep that in places the cavalry and infantry were obliged to swim. The surprise was complete, for until the cavalry had been formed under Lieutenant Lane and preparing for the charge, which I immediately directed, they could have had no idea of our approach. Their number is said to have been about one hundred and fifty horse, and two hundred Arabs on foot; of this number I have the pleasure to say not more than half could have escaped without a wound, one hundred and seventeen having been counted dead in the field, amongst whom was recognized, by my sepoys, Ramdeen, a deserter from the 22d, and who accompanied the Rajah on his escape. Several of our sebundies who proved traitors to the British Government, in the relinquishment (without resistance) of the town and fortress of Moultye, were also among the slain. The above party proved to be of the number who attacked and destroyed Captain Sparks and his detachment. It afforded me much satisfaction to witness the gallantry and steadiness of the troops I had the honour to command.

The gallant and destructive charge made by the troops of the 7th cavalry, conducted by Lieutenant Lane (who had his horse shot under him), and Cornet Sidney against a numerous and formidable enemy could not be surpassed. Lieutenant and Adjutant Thomson also evinced zeal and judgment throughout this little affair that could not fail to excite my admiration and applause. My loss I am happy to add has been very trifling.

Extract from a Report from Captain Gordon to Captain Bayley, Assistant to the Resident of Nagpore in the Military Department, dated Camp at Larkeegaow, August 30, 1818.

I YESTERDAY morning, at seven o'clock, marched from the village of Kuldee towards Larkeegaow, with the artillery detail as far as the village of Sillee, when two hircarrahs came in and said, that the men who had occupied Larkeegaow during the night, had advanced a mile and taken up a strong position on a deep and narrow nullah, the ravines of which afforded them cover. I left the gun and treasure under charge of twenty-five sepoy of the brigade and all the matchlock-men, and with the remaining part of the detachment, as detailed in the margin*, pushed on to * 1 jemidar, 1 havildar, 1 naik, and 25 troopers, of the 6th regiment of Bengal cavalry.—1 jemidar, 1 havildar, 1 naik, and 27 sepoy, of the 20th regiment of M. N. infantry.—200 sepoy of Major Jenkin's brigade of Nagpore infantry, and 600 of Captain Pedlar's Nagpore horse.

Nowergaow, from whence the enemy was visible; here the sepoy's left their knapsacks, and we moved down to the attack. On our approach within musket-shot, the enemy opened a fire of rockets and matchlocks upon us, which was immediately returned by our infantry. The passage of the nullah was contested for about ten minutes, when our men got through it, carrying their cartridge-boxes and muskets on their heads. Having crossed the nullah, the fugitives were pursued in every direction and cut up.

The loss of the enemy, in killed, amounted to about one hundred; there were many wounded, and thirty prisoners taken. In consequence of their ill-directed fire, I am happy to say, our loss is very trifling.

The enemy's force was composed chiefly of Gosains, Rajpoots, Brahmins, and Musselmans.

I have great reason to be satisfied with all engaged; Lieutenant Fraser and Cornet Wilkinson were most active.

Extract from a Report from Captain Jones to Major Cumming, dated Camp, near Ambarrah, September 6, 1818.

I COULD not give you earlier intimation of the evacuation by the enemy of Amlah, for though they left the place last night, I only obtained information of the same a little before nine o'clock this morning.

Extract from a Letter from Major Munt to Mr. Jenkins, Resident at Nagpore, dated Moultie, September 24, 1818.

I HAVE the official report of Lieutenant Cruickshanks, on the subject of his attack upon the enemy on the 22d instant.

There is a degree of judgment and gallantry observable in the conduct of Lieutenant Cruickshanks in particular on this occasion, which I cannot doubt will give you full hopes of success on every future opportunity that may arise for making use of his talents; and it will be a source of particular gratification to me to convey to Lieutenant Cruickshanks, and the Officers and men employed under his command, the sentiments of commendation which I am persuaded you will have very great pleasure in causing to be communicated to them, for their highly distinguished conduct in this affair.

Extract from a Report from Captain Saunders to Major Waulse, commanding at Chanda, dated Arrapilly, 24 September 1818.

I HAVE the honour to acquaint you that in consequence of having received information that Condoo Bapoo was assembling a large force at Arrapilly with the intention of establishing a systematic predatory warfare in the neighbouring Talooks, particularly Gatcool and Talody, and despairing of forming a speedy junction with Bhema, I determined on attacking this place before the whole of Condoo's troops could be assembled, and therefore marched yesterday evening from Chamorsay and arrived here about day-break this morning, and immediately assaulted the fort, in which were (I learn from the prisoners) four hundred men, who, after a short resistance, fled in the utmost disorder.

Our loss is less than might have been expected, that of the enemy it would be difficult to ascertain: in killed it amounts to one hundred and seventy men, amongst whom is Nashan Condoo, a person entirely in the confidence of Condoo Bapoo, and one of his principal advisers.

Extract from a letter from Mr. Jenkins, Resident at Nagpore, to Mr. Adam, Chief Secretary to the Bengal Government, dated 30th September 1818.

I HAVE the honour to annex, for the information of the Most Noble the Governor-General in Council, the official report from Major Wilson of the capture by escalade of the fort of Ambagurh, which had been treacherously given up to the enemy, and I beg to bring to the favourable notice of Government the judgment and ability evinced by Major Wilson in the recapture of this strong post without the loss of a man of his detachment, whose conduct appears to have been very exemplary. I have at the same time the satisfaction to report the surrender by the enemy of the forts of Langee, Kuttah, and Chandpoor.

Referring to my letter of yesterday reporting the capture of Ambagurh, I have now the honour to detail the circumstances which led to that result. The detachment marched from Toonsur yesterday morning and took up its ground before Ambagurh at ten o'clock A. M. The latter part of the march, was was through a thick jungle, but within half a mile of the bottom of the hill I found an open space to the south and south east, mostly covered with rice fields. We moved forward with the greatest dispatch and order,—Lieutenant Hendrie conducting the left, Lieutenants Haultain and Smith the other points towards the right. A body of the enemy, apparently Arabs, advanced into the plain to meet us, and behind them were displayed considerable numbers, but such was the activity and dexterity of the light infantry under their supports, directed by those officers, that the enemy were completely staggered, and their fire though brisk was perfectly harmless, because they could not choose their own time for it, nor direct it on any but scattered individuals in constant motion. Whole bodies of them fled, after giving a hurried and ineffectual fire, and being rapidly and unremittingly pushed, their posts (with the small guns in them) were all turned and taken without loss, and almost without resistance, which it was not indeed in their power to make. The whole of the success had been so quickly obtained and the enemy so hard pushed, that their strength and courage seemed completely broken with fatigue, and there appeared little doubt but that an attempt on the place itself would soon bring it in our power. Having therefore ordered up a reinforcement with the ladders and pioneers, and posted Lieutenant Haultain so as to prevent any annoyance from the right of the hill, I proceeded up to Lieutenant Hendrie's post to select a spot for the assault or escalade, but as there was a strong inner fort and our men much fatigued, I thought it most advisable to bring on the fresh troops under Captain Ewing and Cornet Kennedy to make the assault. After the arrival of the pioneers and ladders up the hill, the enemy began to abandon the outer fort, which Lieutenant Hendrie perceiving, he promptly promptly and judiciously advanced to the gate and had the wicket cut open with hatchets, the remains of the garrison escaping on the opposite side. This affair was all completed before twelve o'clock with extraordinary rapidity, against five hundred men who were chiefly Arabs, Pattans, &c. and who from their number and quantity of guns, gingals, and ammunition in the posts below, had no doubt intended an obstinate defence.

I trust the conduct of all will meet with your approbation, and I cannot sufficiently commend to you the conduct of Lieutenant Hendrie, who is Acting Brigade Major to the detachments, of Lieutenant Haultain, Adjutant 2d battalion 1st regiment, and Lieutenant Smith 6th regiment Bengal cavalry in the attack of the different posts. To Lieutenant Hendrie the chief praise is due for the immediate capture of the place. The Native officers and men also of the 6th regiment Bengal cavalry, the 2d battalion 1st regiment native infantry and dépôt corps, who were engaged on the occasion, deserve every praise for their boldness and dexterity. I am sorry that circumstances should have prevented Captain Ewing, commanding the 2d battalion 1st regiment, and Cornet Kennedy, 6th regiment Bengal cavalry from being more actively engaged, but they merit every thanks for their zeal and activity.

Copy of a Report from Lieutenant-Colonel Adams, C. B., to the Adjutant-General, dated Hussingabad, 5th October 1818.

SIR,

I HAVE the honour to forward for the information of the Most Noble the Commander in Chief, the inclosed dispatch received from Captain Newton commanding a detachment.

The

The exertions of the troops under Captain Newton's command operating in a jungly and hilly country, at a very unfavourable period, appear to have been highly commendable, and borne with that cheerful spirit and animation which were deservedly rewarded by the happy and complete success which attended the surprise upon Kulloo and his followers.

I have, &c.

J. W. ADAMS, Lieut.-Col.
Commanding Nerbudda Field Force.

---

(Inclosed in the preceding.)

Camp, Door Pahar, 30th September 1818.

IN my letter to your address, dated the 27th instant, I advised you of my intention to move against Kulloo and other Ghond Chiefs posted in the Door Pahar.

After I had given the orders for the march, the ryots of the country came to me and gave information that Kulloo had moved from the Door Pahar, and was then with one hundred matchlockmen and a few horses in the hills leading to Assar, four coss only from Runnypore; they appeared very anxious for me to attack him and pressed their services to conduct me to the spot, which circumstance induced me to pay attention to their report. I accordingly ordered 80 sepoy to be ready to move immediately; Lieutenant Cruickshanks with that zeal and anxiety I have ever known him to evince volunteered to command the party; of which offer I gladly availed myself, and as cavalry was recommended by the guides, I ordered Cornet Allan to accompany me with the squadron; at 11 P. M. we commenced our march in the rain, and after surmounting perhaps as many difficulties as ever

ever were opposed to a detachment moving over hills 1500 and 2000 feet high, unassisted by a moon, and the rain falling all night, we were fully rewarded by the success of a complete surprise on the enemy at eight A. M.

I feel greatly indebted to the whole of the officers and men of this detachment, for the willing and ready support they have afforded me in the execution of my efforts against the enemy for five successive days severe and arduous service. To Lieutenant Cruickshanks, 2d in command, I feel particularly obliged for an example of zeal which could not fail on every occasion to excite my admiration, and give an additional zest to the willing exertions of those under him. I am happy to state that in the affair with the enemy this morning I had only one sepoy wounded.

Extract from a Report from Major Wilson to the Major of Brigade at Nagpore, dated Camp, at Pownie, 8th October 1818.

I HAD the honour yesterday to report the capture of the fort and town of Pownie* by assault, and I beg now to detail for the information of Colonel Scott the particulars of this event.

The part of the rampart occupied by the enemy in force was nearly a mile in length, their right on a river with a deep rivulet in front of it, and their left so far retired as to expose our rear and baggage in any attempt to turn it; I was obliged consequently to attack near their centre to the right and left of the Bhoer ghaut.

The light infantry there being previously extended, were brought gradually forward by Lieutenant Hendrie and lodged under cover about one hundred and fifty yards from the enemy. Lieutenant Haultain, with the main body of 2d battalion 1st regiment was on the right, and that of the dépôt corps on the left. The party of the 6th regiment of cavalry were on the rear ready to push into the gate; and the Mogul horse under Synd Rizah Ally Khan were in reserve, partly for the same purpose, and a part to pursue the enemy round by the south of the town if they gave way. The enemy kept up a constant fire from matchlocks and other pieces of different descriptions planted on the rampart, from which our men were pretty well covered, and when all was ready we moved on with great briskness to the attack, drove the enemy from the rampart, pursued them through the streets towards the fort, which however few had time to enter, and as the walls were much dilapidated, though still difficult of ascent, they were scaled in two places, and the place put in our possession with little further resistance. Lieutenant Hendrie immediately on entering the town, opened the bhar gate for the cavalry, and he was the first also to discover and lead over the walls of the fort when the infantry advanced; the Mogul horse did the same with great resolution, and soon after, under Synd Rizah Ally Khan, forced the barrier gate opposite to them and entered the town, but its intricacy and extent favoured the enemy's escape, and neither the party of the 6th regiment cavalry which entered the bhar gate, nor the Mogul horse could act with effect; the party, however, of the latter were ordered round the town, got to the place where the fugitives were embarking, killed several, and hurried others so precipitately into their boats as to upset two of them, by which all on board were drowned.

I need hardly say any thing more in commendation of the small body of men by whom this success was so rapidly effected; the gallant conduct of Lieutenants Haultain and Hendrie was conspicuous; the Native officers imitated their example, and through a heavy fire and great fatigue the animation and alacrity of all the non-commissioned officers and privates of the party of the 6th regiment Bengal cavalry, the 2d battalion 1st regiment dépôt-corps, and of the Mogul horse ensured the speedy and decisive result which ensued, for though the fort was in a dilapidated state, yet the numbers of the enemy, which are variously estimated at from twelve hundred to two thousand men, and the strength of their position, could not but make them formidable. Our loss, I am happy to say, is not great; the enemy's, from subsequent information, I have reason to believe exceeds one hundred and fifty men, and am only sorry that our small numbers and the nature and extent of the place should have prevented more signal chastisement.

Extract from a Report from Major Munt to the Assistant-Adjutant-General, dated Camp at Baitool, 9th October 1818.

MY communications to Colonel Adams will have placed him in possession of the particular circumstances affecting my situation with regard to the fortress of Asseergurh*, and it is with great satisfaction I have the honour to report to you for his information that a garrison in British pay is now in possession of this important position. It surrendered by negociation. It has more than once fallen to me to have had occasion for consulting with Major M'Pherson, the Officer in civil charge of the district, regarding points connected with the public service during the short time I have hitherto been 'honoured' with the command in this quarter, and on no occasion have I received more valuable assistance from that Officer than in his zealous co-operation in my views for obtaining possession of this commanding station.

Extract from a Report from Major Wilson to the Major of Brigade at Nagpore, dated Camp, Dhimmoor, 17th October 1818.

I HAVE the honour to report, for the information of the Officer commanding, that having yesterday reached Jamboolgurrah in my progress towards Chimmoor, it was ascertained that the latter town had been evacuated by the enemy on being apprized of the capture of Pownie. I learned at the same time that a party of more than two hundred of them had just appeared at both those places, having quitted the former two or three hours previously to the arrival of my detachment, and towards evening information was brought me of their being then at Bhamungaum, a place represented as one of their retreats, about seven miles beyond Chimmoor and fifteen from my camp.

I marched at half past twelve o'clock last night to surprize them, with the detachment of the Pallamkotah light infantry under Captain Agnew, and a party of the 5th regiment Bengal cavalry under Lieutenant Smith, leaving the 2d battalion 1st regiment Depot corps, Mogul horse, and all the baggage, to march to Chimmoor in the morning under Lieutenant Haultain; and I am happy to say we succeeded, as far as situation and circumstances permitted, in surprizing a body of about seventy or eighty of the enemy, and killing thirty-two of them: that it was not more complete was owing to a very deep nullah which delayed the centre party for two or three minutes at a critical time when close upon the enemy, and the number of them was so much fewer than had been told me from many having dispersed in the evening, and taken different directions.

Trifling however as this affair is, I hope I may be permitted to express for the approbation of Colonel Scott, my satisfaction at the assistance afforded me by Captain Agnew, and all the other Officers, and at the good conduct of the Native Officers and men employed on the occasion.

Extract from a Report from Captain Gordon to Captain Bayley, Military-Assistant to the Resident at Nagpore, dated Camp, near Pertaubghur, 22d October 1818.

I HAVE the honour to acquaint you for the Resident's information, that I arrived before Pertaubghur* at eleven o'clock yesterday morning, and found it occupied by the rebel Zemindar Chunder Shaw's men, of Barra Battee. At half past two P.M. I moved out of camp to reconnoitre, and ascended a hill adjoining the fort, on the northern face and opposite the wicket. Seeing me approach them so near, the garrison became alarmed, discharged a few matchlocks, and evacuated the place. I immediately descended the hill, moved round to the village of Pertaubghur on the S. E. of the fort, and from that side moved up and took possession of it about half past seven P. M. I secured the wicket and gate, and left in it one hundred sepoys, when I returned to camp, which I reached at half past nine o'clock P. M.

Extract from a Report from Captain Roberts to the Assistant-Adjutant-General, dated Bunkeire, 5th December 1818.

I HAVE the honour to state that the detachment under my orders moved down to Futtypoor yesterday morning, in rear of which, and on the slope of the hills which are covered with thick jungle, with two nullahs in front, the enemy were encamped. The streets of the town they had barricadoed. The guns were brought up on a height this side of the town, on the banks of a deep nullah, which was round the north side of Futtypoor; this spot commanded the enemy's positions, and afforded complete range for the shrapnells.

The infantry under the command of Lieutenant Tulloch, supported by half the cavalry, were pushed on to clear the town. On reaching the first nullah on the other side of the town, the enemy's fire from the heights became very brisk. The guns were now advanced to a second position, sufficiently near to fire grape, when the enemy ultimately retreated. From their numbers, I am inclined to believe their loss has been heavy; as they were situated opportunity presented to carry their killed and wounded into the hills.

The Officers and men of the detachment merit my best thanks, and I beg to draw the commanding Officer's attention to Lieutenant Debrett, who is entitled to my warmest approbation and acknowledgments. The guns were served in superior style, every shell bursting over the thickest of the enemy. They are stated to have had four thousand men.

Copy of a Letter from Mr. Jenkins, Resident at Nagpore, to the Honourable Mountstuart Elphinstone, dated January 19, 1819.

SIR,

I HAVE much satisfaction in acquainting you, that Major Duncan, with the light wing of the 1st battalion 2d regiment of Bengal native infantry, by a well concerted enterprise, succeeded in completely surprising and defeating, on the 13th instant, a body of five hundred Gonds and Pindaries, under the Chiefs Futteh Sing, Ram Sing, and Pertaub Sing.

This party was very strongly posted within the hills near Sohugpore*, having stockades in their fronts, which were all turned in the night, and the enemy, driven out of the village by the bayonet, fled in all directions, many being killed or drowned in a deep nullah, at the bottom of the mountains.

Two villages and the stockades were burnt or destroyed, with large quantities of grain and ammunition.

Copy of a Letter from Mr. Russell, the Resident at Hyderabad, to the Honourable Mountstuart Elphinstone, dated February 5, 1819.

SIR,

I HAVE the pleasure to inform you, that the fort of Nowah* was taken by assault by the force under the command of Major Pitman, on the 30th ultimo. The garrison, consisting of upwards of five hundred men, principally Arabs, having twice refused to surrender, and all their attempts to escape having been frustrated by the vigilance of Major Pitman's troops, were the greatest part of them put to the sword, four hundred and thirty-nine bodies having been buried after the assault, and one hundred being prisoners, of whom upwards of eighty are desperately wounded.

Major Pitman's return of casualties through the whole of his operations against the fort, from the 16th to the 31st ultimo, exhibits six European Officers wounded, two native Officers, and thirty-two men killed, and ten native Officers and one hundred and seventy men wounded. The names of the European Officers wounded are Lieutenant Sutherland, reformed horse, Lieutenant Kennedy, Captain Curry (severely), and Lieutenant Burr, Russell brigade, and Captains Johnston and Larkin, Berar infantry.

India-Board, August 27, 1819.

DISPATCHES have been received at the East India-House from the Governor in Council at Bombay, respectively dated the 6th, 20th, and 31st of March, and 24th April 1819, of which dispatches, and of their inclosures, the following are extraets and copies :

Extract from a Dispatch from the Governor in Council at Bombay to the Secret Committee, dated March 6, 1819.

WE have the honour to acquaint your Honourable Committee, that the military operations, under Major-General Sir William Grant Keir, in Sawuntwarree, have been marked with such a degree of promptitude, energy, and vigour, on the part of the Major-General, and the Officers and men em-

employed under his command, as to merit the highest commendation; and we have much satisfaction in transmitting, for the information of your Honourable Committee, the copy of a dispatch from the Major-General to the Adjutant-General of the Army, reporting the details of the capture, by assault, of the outworks of Rairee, on the 13th of last month, the effect of which was attended by the surrender of that fortress on the following morning, the greater part of the garrison having evacuated it during the night.

The short, but brilliant, operations of the force employed under Sir William Grant Keir, occupied only a period of seventeen days from the time our troops passed the frontier, until the conclusion of the treaty.

GENERAL ORDER by the Government of Bombay, dated 28th February 1819.

THE Right Honourable the Governor in Council has much satisfaction in publishing to the army the following dispatch from Major-General Sir William Grant Keir, K.M.T. reporting the capture by assault of the strong fortress of Rairee, belonging to the State of Sawunt-warree, against which the British Government had been imperiously called upon, after all negociation had failed, to equip a force and obtain reparation for injuries committed on the inhabitants of the British territories, in violation of the treaty existing between the two States.

The Governor in Council cannot contemplate, without feelings of the greatest admiration, the activity, judgment, and zeal displayed by the Major-General and the troops under his command in the prompt execution of the service in which they were engaged.

The

The British force, consisting of the troops specified in the margin*, passed the frontier of the Sawunt-warree territories on the 1st of February, and proceeded to invest the fort of Newtee, the garrison of which surrendered to the Major-General on the 4th. This success was immediately followed up, and the capture of Rairee effected in the gallant manner detailed in the Major-General's dispatch.

The speedy reduction of this fort must be mainly attributed to the able and judicious arrangements made by the Major-General, the rapidity with which the outworks were attacked, and the valour and energy so conspicuously displayed by the Officers and men in the performance of their duty.

The Governor in Council entirely concurs in the sentiments of approbation and applause bestowed on Lieutenant-Colonel Clifford, C. B. who commanded the attack, and on the whole of the Officers and men composing the detachment under his immediate command; and sincerely hopes, that the public service will not long be deprived of the services of the two gallant Officers of His Majesty's 89th regiment, who were wounded on the occasion.

The Governor in Council also notices with much satisfaction the commendation bestowed by the Major-General on the active and cordial co-operation of Lieutenant Tanner, and the Officers and men of the Honourable Company's cruiser Thetis, whose conduct on the occasion fully entitle them to the approbation of Government.

The military operations in Sawunt-warree have terminated with the conclusion of a treaty with the Government of that State on the 17th instant.

* Wing of H. M. 89th regiment, three troops of Madras N. C., part of the 2d batt. 2d regiment N. I., 2d 6th do. do., 2d 9th do. do., with a proportion of artillery and pioneers.

Copy of a Report from Major-General Sir William Grant Keir to the Adjutant-General, dated Camp, Rairee, 14th February 1819.

SIR,

I HAD the honour yesterday evening to forward a brief report of the success of the attack on the enemy's lines before Rairee, and have now the pleasure to acquaint you that the fort was this morning taken possession of by a detachment from my camp.

The difficulties experienced in the disembarkation of the ordnance and stores retarded our operations in a considerable degree, but on the night of the 12th instant we succeeded in erecting our batteries, and opened on the fort at day-break the next morning with four battering guns and as many eight-inch mortars, which were served with such vigour and precision as to dismantle the whole of the guns in the outer works in the course of an hour, when our fire was directed against the general defence of the place; about three o'clock a breach was effected in a curtain of the advanced outworks, and a party of three hundred and fifty grenadiers formed for the assault, under the command of Lieutenant-Colonel Clifford, His Majesty's 89th regiment. The troops moved to the attack about four o'clock, and passed the breach without difficulty, driving the enemy in considerable numbers toward the second lines, which were immediately carried and a lodgment effected within half musket-shot of the upper fort, to which the enemy were pursued and many bayoneted at the lower gate, which was for a short time in our possession. The spirit and rapidity of the attack, added to the advantageous position which was gained by the advance of our troops, struck the enemy with such terror, that nearly the whole of the garrison evacuated the fort during the night.

This morning Sambajee Sawunt proposed to surrender, and was permitted to march out with about fifty adherents, the small remnant of a garrison, which is said to have consisted of near twelve hundred men at the commencement of the siege.

I beg leave to inclose a more detailed report of the attack, transmitted by Lieutenant-Colonel Clifford, whose conduct on the occasion is deserving of the highest applause.

I have likewise the pleasure to forward a copy of the Field Orders, conveying my sentiments on the behaviour of the troops, together with a list of killed and wounded.

I shall march toward Warree in order to accelerate the treaty with that Government, which will I trust be speedily brought to a favourable conclusion.

I have the honour to be, &c.

W. G. KEIR, Major-General.

Field Order by Major-General Sir William Grant Keir, K. M. T.

Camp, Rairee, 14th February 1819.

THE Major-General congratulates the troops on the successful termination of the operations against the fort of Rairee, and begs that the Officers and men employed will believe him highly sensible of their exemplary good conduct and exertions during the siege.

The Major-General is impressed with a high sense of the great advantage he has derived from the advice and assistance afforded him by Captain Dickenson, of the Engineers, to whose skill and indefatigable exertions he considers himself, in a great degree, indebted for the speedy reduction of the place.

Lieu-

Lieutenant Groundwater and the detachment of artillery have performed their duties entirely to the satisfaction of the Major-General. The accuracy of the firing in the batteries reflects the highest credit on the Officers who directed, and the exertions and steadiness of the whole detachment merit the highest praise.

Captain Talbot and the Madras pioneers have particularly distinguished themselves by the alacrity and perseverance with which they have discharged their laborious duties throughout the whole of the service ; and the Major-General requests Captain Talbot to accept of this public acknowledgement of the advantages he has derived from his exertions.

The Major-General is sorry he had not an opportunity of employing the Madras cavalry, as he feels confident that their conduct would have been highly meritorious. He has, however, appreciated the zeal of Cornet Bridges on all occasions, and particularly noticed the dashing style in which he led his detachment across the river, to the support of the advanced guard, on the 9th instant.

The whole of the Staff have merited the Major-General's warmest approbation, and he begs them to accept his sincere thanks for their good conduct.

The whole of the troops have uniformly conducted themselves with credit ; but it has fallen more particularly to the lot of the detachment which stormed the pettah and outworks of the fort, to display that gallantry which the Major-General feels persuaded is common to all ; and he begs to offer his highest tribute of applause and thanks to Lieutenant-Colonel Clifford, C. B. for the spirit, judgement, and decision manifested by him on that occasion. The Major-General deems it an act of justice to the gallant troops engaged yesterday to publish the following extract from the report received from Lieutenant-Colonel Clifford.

The Major-General cannot conclude this well 1819. P p earned earned testimonial of zeal, gallantry, and good conduct without expressing his acknowledgements for the judicious, spirited, and cordial co-operation of Lieutenant Tanner, commanding the Honourable Company's cruiser Thetis, and he requests that Officer to convey to his Officers and crew his best thanks for their meritorious exertions since the commencement of the siege.

ALTHOUGH we failed in getting complete possession of the fort, yet our present occupation of these towers and their lines must, I trust, lead to its speedy surrender. On this occasion I have to regret the loss of the brave Officers and men killed and wounded, although infinitely less than could have been expected on such a service, amongst the latter are Lieutenants Naylor and Dowdall, of His Majesty's 89th regiment, two fine gallant young men that promised fair to be an ornament to their profession. Although both are severely wounded yet I trust and hope the army will not be deprived of their further services. Where every man did his duty it is not an easy matter to bring into notice the conduct of individuals, yet I cannot avoid particularizing the prominent and gallant conduct of Captain Stannus, Assistant-Adjutant-General, who volunteered his service on this occasion, and for whose advice and assistance I feel particularly indebted. The determined and gallant conduct of your Aide-de-Camp Lieutenant Marriott, as well as that of his brother in the Royal Navy, also volunteers, was conspicuous to the whole detachment. Lieutenant Marriott and Captain Stannus were the first Officers that entered the tower through a port hole before the scaling ladders had arrived. Captain Wilson A. C. General and Lieutenant Dashwood, of the engineers, were also conspicuous for their exemplary zeal and gallantry.

I formed the command into two divisions, Captain Saunderson, H. M. 89th regiment commanded one, and Captain Garraway, 2d battalion 9th regiment Native infantry the other. I have every reason to be highly satisfied with their conduct and example. To my Brigade-Major and Quarter-Master of Brigade, Lieutenants A. B. Taylor and Pearse, His Majesty's 89th Regiment, I feel much indebted for their support and zeal.

I have had the honour to serve in the four quarters of the world, and on no occasion was the conduct of troops, both Europeans and Natives more conspicuous for gallantry and devotion to the service than on the present.

I beg to inclose you a list of the killed and wounded.

Extract from a Dispatch from the Governor in Council at Bombay, to the Secret Committee, dated 20th March 1819.

WE have the honour of transmitting to your Honourable Committee copies of the following Dispatches:

From Brigadier-General Sir John Malcolm to the address of Lieutenant-Colonel Nicol, Adjutant-General of the Bengal Army, dated the 18th February last, inclosing a report from Lieutenant-Colonel Smith of an attack which had been made on the adherents of Appa Sahab, in the vicinity of Asseer.

From Brigadier-General Sir John Malcolm, of the 28th February, containing particulars relative to the death of Cheetoo.

Extract from a Letter from Brigadier-General Sir John Malcolm, K. C. B. to the Adjutant-General, dated Camp Kauldra Keiree, 18th February 1819.

I HAVE the honour to inclose, for the information of the Most Noble the Commander in Chief, copy of a report from Lieutenant-Colonel Smith of an affair he had with the adherents of Appa Sahib, ex Rajah of Nagpore, in the vicinity of Asseer. Lieutenant-Colonel Smith had reached Seonah, from whence he marched to this attack by a rapid movement, and appears entitled to equal credit for the celerity with which he hastened to the point of action, the measures he adopted to ensure success, and the energy and talent he displayed in carrying the plan he had formed into execution. I trust this affair will entitle Lieutenant-Colonel Smith and those under his command to the approbation of His Excellency the Most Noble the Commander in Chief.

Lieutenant-Colonel Smith has done ample justice in his report to those under his orders. During a most fatiguing operation of nearly twenty-four hours, in which they marched above forty miles, all appear to have been animated with the same spirit. The forward valour and strict attention to discipline of Skinner's horse, to whom from the early flight of the enemy the attack fell, was conspicuous. Major Skinner and his gallant party have increased, by their conduct on this occasion, the reputation of the distinguished corps to which they belong. I can only add that the consequences of this affair have been the total dispersion in different directions of this body, and I have reason to think that the number who have suffered is greater than Lieutenant-Colonel Smith has reported.

Extract from a Report from Lieutenant-Colonel Smith to the Assistant Adjutant-General, dated Camp, Keiree, February 15, 1819.

I REACHED Seonah on the 13th instant. On the rising of the moon, about nine P. M. I marched with a brigade of camel howitzers, two hundred and fifty rank and file of 1st batt 14th regiment, and four hundred of Skinner's horse, and continued my route until four in the morning, when I reached Keiree. After disencumbering the infantry of their knapsacks I continued my march, and entered the hills a little before daylight. On the road I learnt that there were two camps at Khutlah, at some distance from each other the one on the right being occupied by three or four hundred Arabs, and that on the left by the Bloonsla*, with an equal number of horse. I directed Major Skinner to advance with two columns of horse, and I further instructed that Officer to pursue the enemy in all directions, and to the last extremity. The artillery and infantry moved forward briskly, and occasionally in double quick time, direct upon the village to support the movements of the cavalry. Major Skinner, after rounding the village (as no encampment was observed), continued his rapid movement over the plain, until his corps was stopped in its progress by a chasm, at least two hundred feet in depth. From that singular spot the enemy, amounting to between two and three hundred Arabs and Hindoostanees, were discovered in a dell beneath. Considerable time elapsed before a road could be found leading down the precipice, but on that being discovered no obstacle, however great, could restrain the exertions of this zealous Officer, who availed himself of the earliest movement to rush down upon the enemy in single files who, on the first alarm, fled panic struck, followed by Major Skinner, and were ultimately pursued by a squadron of his brave corps to the very gates of Asseer, and but for a body of horse, which sallied out from the pettah of that fortress to the support of the fugitives, I am persuaded not a man would have escaped the sword.

It does not appear that more than eight or ten of the enemy were killed and wounded; but I am happy to add, that the victors returned with from one hundred to two hundred matchlocks, swords, and other weapons: but what is still more creditable to this highly respectable and meritorious corps not a man quitted his ranks, although the incitement to plunder was by no means inconsiderable.

I cannot sufficiently express the high sense I entertain of Major Skinner's spirited and judicious conduct, and the bravery displayed by his corps on this occasion, and as such I should do an injustice to my own feelings were I to omit to recommend their services to the notice of the Brigadier-General.

It is with no small pride that I shall now bring to the consideration of the commanding Officer the exemplary conduct of the artillery and infantry, who throughout this affair evinced a spirit and ardour which I have seldom seen equalled on any service; and I have only to regret that they were not brought to a closer contest with the enemy.

To Captain Spears and Lieutenant Helton, commanding the infantry, to Lieutenant Conran, commanding a division of the howitzer brigade, and to Captain Coyle, my Brigade Major, I am greatly indebted for the zeal manifested by those Officers, and for their animated exertions in every stage of this laborious service. I am equally indebted to Mr. Assistant-Surgeon Nelson, for his activity and address in affording immediate relief to the wounded of the enemy, as also to a wounded horsemann of Skinners.

Besides the arms taken from the enemy, from fifty to sixty horses, one elephant, a camel, and all his baggage, fell into our hands.

I have to lament the death of a non-commissioned officer and private of the 14th, occasioned by excessive fatigue.

I have also the honour to report, that I this morning got possession of five horses belonging to Cheetoo Pindarry, which were secreted by the Tokoor of Mooriah, for the service of that predatory Chief.

I CANNOT doubt from the communications I have received, that the Pindarry Chief Cheetoo has been killed by a tiger. Independent of his sword, rings, and clothes, three hundred rupees were found in the saddle, which would never have been left there had it been an artifice; but the fact is quite put beyond doubt in my mind, by the original papers found among his clothes. I beg to offer my congratulations to the Most Noble the Governor-General in Council, on the death of the greatest and last of those freebooters, whose atrocities provoked the resentment of the British Government.

WE have the honour to transmit copies of dispatches from Brigadier-General Doveton, reporting the capture, by storm, of the pettah of Asseerghur*, on the morning of the 18th, with very trifling loss on our part, and that a desperate and unexpected sally had been made by a part of the garrison on the troops in the pettah, on the evening of the 19th, when Lieutenant-Colonel Fraser, of the Royal Scots, was unfortunately killed.

We regret to add, that private letters received from the camp yesterday, mention the melancholy circumstance of the explosion of one of our magazines, containing from three to four hundred barrels of gunpowder, by which accident about sixty of one hundred and twelve men, who were near the spot, were immediately killed, and twenty or thirty severely wounded.

Copy of a Letter from Brigadier-General Doveton, C. B. to Captain Stewart, Acting Resident at the Court of Dowlut Rao Scindia, dated Camp, near Nimbolah, 19th March 1819.

SIR,

HAVING been desired by the Resident at Nagpore to make known all my future proceedings in the territory of His Highness Dowlut Rao Scindia to you, I have the honour to report, for the information of the Most Noble the Governor-General, that having on the 17th instant received a dispatch from Brigadier-General Sir John Malcolm, K. C. B. and K. L. S. stating the failure of his attempts to bring Jeswant Rao Lar* to reason, as well as his outrageous conduct on the receipt of his Sovereign's commands, which left no other alternative but having recourse to our military means, I issued orders for a combined attack on the pettah of Asseer at dawn of day on the succeeding morning by detachments from the divisions under the personal commands of Brigadier-General Sir John Malcolm and myself, and which I am happy to inform you was attended with complete success. The enemy in the pettah made a very trifling resistance; the promptitude and energy, however, with which the attack was made by the troops under the command of Lieutenant-Colonel Fraser, of His Majesty's Royal Scots, reflect high credit on him and all the Officers and men employed. Our loss has been but trifling, not, I believe, exceeding twenty killed and wounded. Among the latter I am concerned to mention the Deputy Quarter-Master-General, Major Macleod, who having expressed a wish to accompany Lieutenant-Colonel Fraser, to whom his previous knowledge of the pettah might be useful, I consented to it. Lieutenant Bland, of His Majesty's Royal Scots, is also wounded. We are now in complete possession of the pettah, the troops well under cover; and the superintending engineer is busily employed in erecting a mortar battery to bombard the fortress, and a breaching one to bear on the lower fort. When these are completed Brigadier-General Sir John Malcolm's division will be placed in possession of the batteries and the pettah, and I shall move myself with the rest of the troops to take up such a position as may be best calculated for erecting batteries to breach the upper fort.

I have, &c.

to Captain Stewart, Dated Camp, near Nimbolah,

SIR,

IN continuation of my operations before the fortress of Asseerghur, I have the honour of making known to you, for the information of His Excellency the Most Noble the Governor-General, that yesterday evening a desperate and unexpected sally from the fortress was made upon an advanced part of our troops in the pettah, and it is with extreme regret I have to add, that Lieutenant-Colonel Fraser, of His Majesty's Royal Scots, who had been appointed by me to command in the pettah, was killed when in the act of gallantly rallying the party, and keeping the advance in their position. The enemy were however immediately driven back, and compelled to retire again into the fort. Our loss on this occasion amounts to one Field Officer killed, and one subaltern and five rank and file wounded. I have also to state that a breaching battery of six eighteen and two twelve pounders was opened with admirable effect on the lower fort this morning. I expect likewise that a mortar battery of four heavy mortars and two heavy howitzers will be completed and armed during the night, and which will also probably open at sun-rise to-morrow morning. I have, &c.

WE have the honour of transmitting to your Honourable Committee copy of a dispatch from the Honourable the Commissioner in the Deccan, inclosing a copy of a report from Brigadier General Doveton, C. B. announcing the occupation of the lower fort of Asseergurh by the division under the command of Brigadier-General Sir John Malcolm, on its being evacuated by the enemy.

We have much satisfaction in accompanying this dispatch with copy of a letter from Brigadier-General Doveton to the Acting Resident at the Court of Dowlut Rao Scindia, dated the 11th instant, reporting that the upper fort was also occupied by the British troops on the 9th, on the garrison marching out and laying down their arms on the public parade.

We beg leave to offer our warmest congratulations to your Honourable Committee on the reduction of this important fortress, but regret at the same time to observe, that the person of the Ex-Rajah of Nagpore, regarding whose reception into the fort no doubt can now exist, has not been secured. Letters which have been received at

Extract from a Letter from Brigadier-General Doveton, C. B. to Captain Stewart, Acting Resident at the Court of Scindiah, dated Camp, before Asseerghur, 31st March 1819, inclosed in a Dispatch from the Honourable Mountstuart Elphinstone, Commissioner in the Deccan, dated 7th April 1819.

I HAVE herewith the honour of transmitting a copy of Sir John Malcolm's report of yesterday, and of the list of wounded of his division, together with copy of the orders issued by me this day.

Extract from a Report from Brigadier-General Sir J. Malcolm, K. C. B. to Brigadier-General Doveton, dated Camp, near Asseerghur, 30th March 1819.

I HAVE great satisfaction in informing you that I this morning occupied with the division under my command Malaghur, on the lower fort of Asseer.

The enemy had been made very uncomfortable for the last three days by my approaches to the Southward, and particularly by the occupation of a high peak called the Moghul's Cap, that completely commands the lower fort, and to which I had with the aid of elephants carried up and placed in battery a brigade of six pounders and two small howitzers. The symptoms of alarm I had seen made me observe more than I otherwise should, when I this morning went to the batteries at day light, the stillness in the lower fort. I hastened to my advanced post within one hundred yards of the foot of the breach, breach, to the top of which I sent a man (lately belonging to the garrison and well acquainted with the fort) protected by three sepoys. When he reached the top and looked round he made a signal to advance; satisfied from this that I could at all events take possession of the breach and the heights on its right, I deemed it of importance not to lose a moment in doing so, and ordered Captain Edsell, who commanded the posts at the Northern batteries, to collect his party (four hundred men), and leading one hundred under cover near the top of the breach to occupy with the remainder the ramparts of Malaghur as far as the gateway, but not to advance further till supported by two hundred men from the troops on duty in the pettah, and a party of pioneers with crow-bars to force it's gates open. These I directed to join him, while Lieutenant-Colonel Smith was ordered to move with three hundred men and a light howitzer to the gateway to blow it open in the event of the enemy trying to oppose Captain Edsell's progress. The party protecting the South battery were ordered also to advance and form a lodgement near the breach that had been effected in that part of the wall, but not to enter the fort unless there was opposition.

To guard against the possibility of accident, all the troops that had been warned for the assault were directed to move to their positions. The rapid execution of these orders placed me in possession of the fort in a few minutes, and the gateways were burst open in little more than a quarter of an hour. The enemy appeared so far taken by surprise that they did not open a heavy fire from the upper works till the troops were well under cover. This fire was soon rendered uncertain, and afterwards silenced by that which Major Blair opened upon them from his different batteries: owing to these circumstances the casualties have been very few.

ORDERS by Brigadier-General Doveton.

Head-Quarters, Hyderabad Subsidiary-Force, Camp Asseerghur, 31st March 1819.

THE Brigadier-General has received a report from Brigadier-General Sir John Malcolm, K. C. B. and K. L. S. of his having early yesterday morning occupied Malaghur, or the lower fort of Asseer, which was intended to have been assaulted in the Afternoon by the Brigadier-General's division.

The promptitude and decision with which Brigadier-General Sir John Malcolm availed himself of the information which he received of the enemy having evacuated it is highly creditable to him.

The Brigadier-General having also received a report from Lieutenant-Colonel Crosdill, the commanding Officer of artillery, of the uncommon and incessant labour of the whole of the troops, pioneers, &c. employed in working parties in getting the guns into the batteries of a very steep and most difficult ascent, fully appreciates their extraordinary and cheerful exertions, which reflect such distinguished credit on them all, and which he will have great satisfaction in bringing to the notice of superior authority.

Extract from a Letter from Brigadier-General Doveton to Captain Stewart, Acting Resident at the Court of Scindiah, dated Camp, Asseerghur, 11th April 1819.

MY dispatch, of the 7th instant, will have informed you of my breaching battery having opened, as well as that of Brigadier-General Sir John Malcolm from the north face, on the morning of that day. They kept up an incessant and well directed fire on the walls of the upper fort, until the forenoon of the 8th. On the evening of the 7th, I received a communication from Sir John Malcolm, that Jeswunt Rao Lar had sent out a message, expressive of his wish to surrender the fortress unconditionally, and of paying his respects to me, as the next morning, with the request that the firing from our batteries might cease. This was complied with, and he accordingly waited on me, accompanied by Brigadier-General Sir John Malcolm.

I have further the honour to report, for the information of His Excellency the Most Noble the Governor-General, that the Lar at first made considerable objection to the garrison laying down their arms, and to his own return to the fort; but finding me determined on these points, he at last took his leave, and was with some difficulty prevailed on by Brigadier-General Sir John Malcolm to return late in the evening to the upper fort.

The next morning, however, the garrison began to evacuate it at the hour which had been fixed on, and by noon the whole of them were paraded in front of our troops, at a spot selected for the purpose, where they grounded and delivered up their arms.

Jeswunt Rao Lar and his principal Officers, with the standards of Dowlut Rao Scindia, will be de-delivered over to the Commander of that Prince's troops, to be conveyed to Gwalior, and the garrison themselves are to be sent back to their several countries.

Carlton-House, September 17, 1819.

THIS day the Right Honourable the Lord Mayor, the Aldermen, Recorder, Sheriffs, Common Council, and Officers of the City of London, waited upon His Royal Highness the Prince Regent with the following Address and Petition; which was read by Sir John Silvester, Bart. the Recorder:

To His Royal Highness the Prince of Wales,
REGENT of the United Kingdom of Great Britain and Ireland.

The humble Address and Petition of the Lord Mayor, Aldermen, and Commons of the City of London, in Common Council assembled.

May it please your Royal Highness,

WE, His Majesty's most dutiful and loyal subjects, the Lord Mayor, Aldermen, and Commons of the City of London, in Common Council assembled, humbly approach your Royal Highness with feelings of the most serious alarm and regret at the extraordinary and calamitous proceedings which have recently taken place at Manchester.

We humbly represent to your Royal Highness that, under the free principles of the British Constitution, it is the undoubted right of Englishmen to assemble together for the purpose of deliberating upon public grievances, as well as on the legal and constitutional means of obtaining redress.

That for the exercise of this right a meeting was held at Manchester on the 16th August last, and without entering into the policy or prudence of convening such assembly, it appears to us, from the information which has transpired, that the said meeting was legally assembled, that its proceedings were conducted in an orderly and peaceable manner, 1819, S s and

and that the people composing it were therefore acting under the sanction of the laws, and entitled to the protection of the Magistrates.

We have nevertheless learnt with grief and astonishment, that while the meeting was so assembled, and when no act of riot or tumult had taken place, the Magistrates issued their warrants for the apprehension of certain persons then present, for the execution of which, although no resistance was made on the part of the people, or those against whom the warrants were issued, they immediately resorted to the aid of the military, when, without any previous warning of their intention, the Manchester Yeomanry Cavalry suddenly rushing forward opened a passage through the multitude, furiously attacking by force of arms peaceable and unoffending citizens, whereby great numbers of men, women, and children, and even peace officers were indiscriminately and wantonly rode over and many inhumanly sabred and killed.

We feel ourselves called upon to express to your Royal Highness our strongest indignation at these unprovoked and intemperate proceedings which we cannot but view as highly disgraceful to the character of Englishmen, and a daring violation of the British Constitution.

That from your Royal Highness's known and declared attachment to the Constitution and the Laws, we feel the most decided conviction that your Royal Highness never could have been induced to express your approval of the conduct of the abettors and perpetrators of these atrocities had not your royal confidence been abused by interested and misrepresented statements of these illegal and fatal transactions.

We humbly submit to your Highness, that at a time when the great body of His Majesty's subjects are suffering under the severest privations, however erroneous may be their ideas as to the means

means of redress, a kind and conciliating attention to their complaints is equally called for by policy and justice, and that depriving them of the means of expressing their grievances by cruelty and despotism can only tend to increase the present discontents, destroy public confidence in the pure and equal administration of justice, excite disaffection, and lead to acts of open violence or secret revenge.

We therefore humbly pray that in order to avert these calamities; to maintain the authority of the law; and to protect the lives and liberties of the subject, your Royal Highness will be graciously pleased to institute an immediate and effectual inquiry into the outrages that have been committed, and cause the guilty perpetrators thereof to be brought to signal and condign punishment.

Signed, by order of Court,

Henry Woodthorpe.

To which Address and Petition His Royal Highness was pleased to return the following Answer:

“ I receive with feelings of deep regret this Address and Petition of the Lord Mayor, Aldermen, and Commons of the City of London, in Common Conneil assembled.

“ At a time when ill designing and turbulent men are actively engaged in inflaming the minds of their fellow subjects, and in endeavouring by means the most daring and insidious to alienate them from their allegiance to His Majesty and the established Constitution of the Realm, it is on the vigilance and conduct of the Magistrates that the preservation of the public tranquillity must in a great degree depend; and a firm, faithful, and active discharge of their duty cannot but give them the strongest claim to the support and approbation of their Sovereign and their Country.

“ With the circumstances that preceded the late meeting at Manchester you must be unacquainted, and of those which attended it you appear to have been incorrectly informed.

“ If however the laws were really violated on that occasion by those to whom it immediately belonged to assist in the execution of them, the tribunals of this country are open to afford redress ; but to institute an extrajudicial inquiry under such circumstances as the present would be manifestly inconsistent with the clearest principles of public justice.”

St. James's, November 23, 1819.

THIS day His Royal Highness the Prince Regent proceeded in state from St. James's Palace to the House of Lords, where he arrived at two o'clock; and, having alighted from the state coach, he was received at the portico by the Great Officers and others, and proceeded to the robing room in the usual manner; His Royal Highness was there robed, his hat on his head, and the procession moved into the House in the usual order.

His Royal Highness being seated on the throne, the Great Officers and others standing on the right and left, Sir Thomas Tyrwhitt, Gentleman Usher of the Black Rod, was sent with a message from His Royal Highness to the House of Commons, commanding their attendance in the House of Peers. The Commons being come thither accordingly, His Royal Highness,

Highness, in the name and on the behalf of His Majesty, was pleased to deliver the following most gracious speech to both Houses of Parliament :

My Lords, and Gentlemen,

IT is with great concern that I am again obliged to announce to you the continuance of His Majesty's lamented indisposition.

I regret to have been under the necessity of calling you together at this period of the year ; but the seditious practices so long prevalent in some of the manufacturing districts of the country have been continued with increased activity since you were last assembled in Parliament.

They have led to proceedings incompatible with the public tranquillity and with the peaceful habits of the industrious classes of the community ; and a spirit is now fully manifested, utterly hostile to the Constitution of this Kingdom, and aiming not only at the change of those political institutions which have hitherto constituted the pride and security of this country, but at the subversion of the rights of property and of all order in society.

I have given directions that the necessary information on this subject shall be laid before you ; and I feel it to be My indispensable duty to press on your immediate attention the consideration of such measures as may be requisite for the counteraction and suppression of a system which, if not effectually checked, must bring confusion and ruin on the nation.

Gentlemen of the House of Commons,

The estimates of the ensuing year will be laid before you.

The necessity for affording protection to the lives and property of His Majesty's loyal subjects has compelled Me to make some addition to Our military force ; but I have no doubt you will be of opinion that the arrangements for this purpose have been effected in the manner likely to be the least burthensome to the country.
of

Although the revenue has undergone some fluctuation since the close of the last session of Parliament, I have the satisfaction of being able to inform you that it appears to be again in a course of progressive improvement.

Some depression still continues to exist in certain branches of Our manufactures, and I deeply lament the distress which is in consequence felt by those who more immediately depend upon them; but this depression is in a great measure to be ascribed to the embarrassed situation of other countries, and I earnestly hope that it will be found to be of a temporary nature.

My Lords, and Gentlemen,

I continue to receive from foreign Powers the strongest assurances of their friendly disposition towards this country.

It is My most anxious wish that advantage should be taken of this season of peace to secure and advance our internal prosperity; but the successful prosecution of this object must essentially depend on the preservation of domestic tranquillity.

Upon the loyalty of the great body of the people I have the most confident reliance; but it will require your utmost vigilance and exertion, collectively and individually, to check the dissemination of the doctrines of treason and impiety, and to impress upon the minds of all classes of His Majesty's subjects, that it is from the cultivation of the principles of Religion, and from a just subordination to lawful authority, that We can alone expect the continuance of that Divine Favour and Protection which have hitherto been so signally experienced by this kingdom.

By

By His Royal Highness the PRINCE of WALES,
 REGENT of the United Kingdom of Great Britain and Ireland, in the Name and on the
 Behalf of His Majesty,

A PROCLAMATION,

Requiring Passes, formerly granted to Ships and Vessels trading in the way of the Cruizers belonging to the Governments on the Coast of Barbary, to be returned into the Office of the Admiralty of Great Britain, and other Passes of different Forms to be issued.

GEORGE, P. R.

WHEREAS by Our Royal Proclamation, bearing date the third day of November, in the forty-third year of Our reign, We did charge and command all Our loving subjects who then were, or should be, possessed of any passes for ships and vessels belonging to Our subjects trading to Portugal, the Canaries, Guinea, the Indies, into the Mediterranean, or elsewhere, in the way of the cruizers belonging to the Governments on the Coast of Barbary (except such passes as had been granted to ships gone or going to the East Indies, or other remote voyages where they could not be timely furnished with new passes), that they should, before the thirty-first day of December one thousand eight hundred and three, return the same and furnish themselves with passes of a new form, under the hands and seals of the Commissioners for executing the office of High Admiral of Great Britain and Ireland, in lieu thereof, for their several ships and vessels, in such manner as by the said recited Proclamation was directed: and whereas it hath been humbly represented unto Us, that there is the greatest reason to believe that many

many of Our passes may, either by accident or undue means have fallen into the hands of foreigners, who by the clandestine use of such passes may carry on their trade ; We, taking the premises into Our Royal consideration, and judging it necessary to put a speedy stop to all such indirect practices, which do not only tend to the prejudice of Our trading subjects, but may occasion a misunderstanding between Us and the Governments on the Coast of Barbary, for preventing thereof have thought fit, by the advice of Our Privy Council, to publish this Our Royal Proclamation, and do hereby declare, that the passes of the present form shall continue in force for all vessels sailing from the ports of Our United Kingdom of Great Britain and Ireland during the present year, in order to give sufficient time to Our trade to be furnished with passes of the new form, and that after the expiration of that time, no passes but those of the new form shall be considered as valid, except in the case of vessels returning from foreign voyages, where they cannot be timely furnished with new passes ; and We do hereby further declare, that in the case of vessels returning from foreign voyages, passes of the present form shall continue in force during the terms hereinafter mentioned, that is to say ;

For vessels returning from the ports to the northward of the Streights of Gibraltar, or from the ports within the Mediterranean, to the thirty-first of March one thousand eight hundred and twenty

For vessels returning from the West Indies, North America, and the western coasts of Africa, to the thirtieth of June one thousand eight hundred and twenty.

For vessels returning from the East Indies and all other distant parts, to the thirtieth of June one thousand eight hundred and twenty-one.

And

And We do hereby strictly charge and command all Our loving subjects, who are, or shall be possessed of any such passes, that they do, on or before the expiration of the periods herein before mentioned respectively, return the same into the office of the Admiralty of Great Britain, or to the respective Collectors of Our Customs at the out ports of Our United Kingdom of Great Britain and Ireland, or to the Governors of some of Our foreign plantations or dominions, in order to their being cancelled; and that they do furnish themselves with passes of the new form, under the hands and seals of Our Commissioners for executing the office of High Admiral of Our United Kingdom of Great Britain and Ireland, in lieu thereof, for their several ships and vessels, according to the Treaties subsisting between Us and the said Governments on the Coast of Barbary, and the regulations made by Our Royal predecessor King George the First, by Order in His Privy Council on the fourteenth day of June in the year one thousand seven hundred and twenty-two, so far as the same remains unaltered, by the regulations made by Us by Our Orders in Council, bearing date respectively on the twenty-eight day of August one thousand seven hundred and seventy-six, on the thirty-first day of December one thousand seven hundred and eighty-three, and the third day of November one thousand eight hundred and two, or Our Order in Council of this day's date, and according to the further regulations then there made, and our instructions given to Our said Commissioners for executing the office of High Admiral of Great Britain and Ireland touching the same: and whereas many ships and vessels belonging to Our loving subjects continue several years trading from port to port in the Mediterranean without returning home, whereby they cannot so conveniently procure their passes to be exchanged: We do hereby, for the ease of Our trading subjects, publish and declare, Our pleasure, that upon the application of any owner of any ship or vessel, or other substantial merchant, to the office of the Admiralty of Great Britain, and oath made by him of the property of such ship or vessel, and that three fourths of the company are our subjects, according to an Act made in the twelfth year of the reign of Our Royal predecessor King Charles the Second (intituled “ An Act for enconraging and “ increasing of shipping and navigation),” or such other proportion as may be authorised by Act of Parliament, and upon entering into a bond for the return of such pass at the end of the period therein specified: it shall and may be lawful for Our Commissioners for executing the office of Lord High Admiral of Our United Kingdom of Great Britain and Ireland, or Our High Admiral of Our United Kingdom of Great Britain and Ireland for the time being, and they are respectively empowered to make out a new pass for such ship or vessel, and send the same to such of Our Consuls in the Mediterranean as the said owner or merchant shall desire, with directions to such Consul, that, upon application to him from the master of the ship, for which the pass is made out, and surrendering up his old pass, and entering into bond for the return of such new pass, he shall deliver out the said new pass to such master, and transmit the old one with the bond to the office of the Admiralty of Great Britain.

And in order more effectually to hinder, for the future, any abuses that may be attempted by foreigners, relating to the new passes to be issued as aforesaid, we do hereby further declare Our Royal will and pleasure, that the new form of passes, marked A, as recommended to Us by Our Commissioners for executing the office of Lord High Admiral of Our United Kingdom of Great Britain and Ireland, in their memorial, bearing date the eighth day day of September last, and approved by Us by Our Order in Council, of this day's date, shall be issued from and after the first day of January next, within the United Kingdom of Great Britain and Ireland, and as soon after in His Majesty's colonies, as the same may be received at each colony respectively ; and that passes issued in the United Kingdom of Great Britain and Ireland, of the above-mentioned form, shall be in force during the voyage for which the said passes shall be taken out, and no longer, and shall be returned, at the termination of such voyage, to the Commissioners of our Customs, or to their Chief Officer at one of the outports, provided such voyage shall terminate in the United Kingdom of Great and Ireland, or to the Governor or Lieutenant-Governor in any of the islands of Jersey, Guernsey, Alderney, or Man ; and in case such voyage shall terminate in any of our possessions abroad, then that such passes shall be delivered up to the Governor or other person having chief authority there ; but if such voyage shall terminate at any place out of our dominions, then such pass shall be delivered up to our Consul or his Deputy at such place, or who may be nearest thereto ; and that passes to be issued in our colonies or possessions abroad shall, in like manner, be in force during the voyage or voyages for which they shall be taken out respectively, and no longer, and shall be returned at the termination of such voyage or voyages respectively, in the manner hereinbefore directed, according to the port or place in which such voyage or voyages shall terminate respectively ; and that in all cases whatever of passes to be issued, such surety, by way of bond, shall be given to secure the due return of the passes, and to guard against any fraudulent or improper use of them, as hath been usual, or as our Commissioners for executing the office of Lord High Admiral of Our United Kingdom of Great Britain and Ireland, or Our High Admiral of Our United Kingdom of Great Britain and Ireland for the time being, may deem necessary to require according to the circumstances of the case.

And whereas it has been recommended to Us, by our Commissioners for executing the office of Lord High Admiral of Our United Kingdom of Great Britain and Ireland, that for the more effectual prevention of abuses, and for the diminution of expence it may be convenient, in certain cases, that passes to be granted for the purposes aforesaid should be united with the ship's certificate of registry, Our will and pleasure is, that if any person shall be desirous of having the Mediterranean pass annexed to the certificate of registry of his ship, such pass so annexed may be issued agreeably to the form B, recommended to Us by Our Commissioners for executing the office of Lord High Admiral of Our United Kingdom of Great Britain and Ireland in their memorial as aforesaid ; and that such pass shall not be separated from such certificate of registry, but shall be returned at the same time when such certificate of registry shall be delivered up to be cancelled, and as often as any new certificate of registry shall be granted, an annexed pass shall also be granted under the same conditions, if the party shall be desirous thereof.

But whereas the laws for the registry of British shipping do not apply to ships belonging to Gibraltar and Malta, and whereas it is expedient that passes granted to the ships of the said places should be accompanied by some document proving that they belong to His Majesty's subjects in His Majesty's said possessions respectively, it is Our further will and pleasure, that the Governors or Deputy-Governors of the said possessions respectively, who shall be authorised to issue passes, shall issue them only in the form marked C, as recommended to us by Our Commissioners for executing the office of Lord High Admiral of Our United Kingdom of Great Britain and Ireland in their memorial as aforesaid, and that the said Governors or Deputy Governors shall issue them only to such ships as shall be certified (in such manner as We shall be pleased by any Order or Orders in Council to direct), to belong to Our subjects, and to the possessions under their respective Governments, except that when any ship having a pass issued in the United Kingdom, or in any of His Majesty's Colonies, the time of which pass shall have expired, and which by these regulations ought to be returned, or where the owner or master of a ship having a British certificate of registry shall be desirous of obtaining a Mediterranean pass; the Governors or Deputy Governors as aforesaid may grant for such ship a pass of the form aforesaid marked C. to be in force to the end of the ships then voyage, and no longer, and to be returned to be cancelled at the end of such voyage as hereinbefore directed in other cases respectively; and the said Governors or Deputy Governors shall sign their names in the margin of all passes issued by them respectively as specified in the said form; and in all cases the Governors or Deputy Governors issuing such passes shall take a bond (as above directed), for the delivery up of such pass on the first ensuing arrival of such ship in any port of the United Kingdom, or of a British possession, of which the Governor or Deputy Governor may be authorised to issue passes.

It is Our further will and pleasure, that for the more convenient issue of such passes, Our Commissioners for executing the office of Lord High Admiral of Our United Kingdom of Great Britain and Ireland, or Our High Admiral of Our United King-

Kingdom of Great Britain and Ireland for the time being, shall be authorised to furnish to the Commissioners of Our Customs in London, Edinburgh, and Dublin, and to the Governors of Our Colonies, and of Gibraltar and Malta, passes of the necessary forms signed and executed by Our Commissioners for executing the office of Lord High Admiral of Our United Kingdom of Great Britain and Ireland, or Our High Admiral of Our United Kingdom of Great Britain and Ireland for the time being, in blank as to the names of the ship, which passes the Commissioners of Our Customs as aforesaid or their Officers; and the said Governors shall be authorised to fill up and issue on the receipt of the bond required to be taken for the same.

And it is Our further will and pleasure, that it shall be lawful for Our Commissioners for executing the office of Lord High Admiral of Our United Kingdom of Great Britain and Ireland, or Our High Admiral of Our United Kingdom of Great Britain and Ireland for the time being, and they are hereby empowered to lodge Mediterranean passes of the same form with the new passes for ships and vessels belonging to Gibraltar and Malta, in the hands of Our Lord High Commissioner of the Ionian Islands, and to empower our said Lord High Commissioner of the Ionian Islands to issue and deliver out such passes to any of the inhabitants of the said Islands, to be applied to ships actually belonging to the said Islands, and none other, provided the person or persons applying for the same do comply with and conform to the several rules and regulations now in use, or that may be required to be observed by Our subjects, or that may be directed to be observed by the said inhabitants of the Ionian Islands by Our Commissioners for executing the office of Lord High Admiral of

Our United Kingdom of Great Britain and Ireland, or Our High Admiral of Our United Kingdom of Great Britain and Ireland for the time being.

And We do hereby order, that the Commissioners of Our Customs in Great Britain and Ireland do cause to be carried into execution such parts of the said Order of Council, of the fourteenth day of June one thousand seven hundred and twenty-two, concerning passes as relate to themselves and the proper Officers under them, so far as the same remains now in force, and of Our Orders aforesaid made in Council on the twenty-eighth day of August one thousand seven hundred and seventy-six, on the thirty-first day of December one thousand seven hundred and eighty-three, and the third day of November one thousand eight hundred and two, or Our Order in Council of this day's date, that they do direct their Officers in the several parts of Our United Kingdom of Great Britain and Ireland to demand of the masters of all merchant ships, so soon as they shall return into port from a foreign voyage, all passes granted as aforesaid which shall be in their possession to be produced to the said respective Officers of Our Customs; and if the same shall appear to be of an older date than the periods herein before severally and respectively mentioned for the return of the passes of the present form, then such passes shall be delivered up to the said respective Officers of Our Customs, and be by them returned to the Office of the Admiralty of Great Britain. And in case the master of any such ship or vessel shall refuse to produce or deliver up such passes according to the true intent of Our said Order, then the said Officer shall certify the name of every such master, and of the ship or vessel, to Our Commissioners for executing the office of Lord High Admiral of Our United Kingdom of Great Britain and Ireland, or to Our High Admiral of Our United Kingdom of Great Britain and Ireland for the time being, to the end that directions may be given for putting the bond entered into on the granting any such pass, in suit. And all Our Governors, Lieutenant-Governors, and Commanders in Chief of any of Our islands, colonies. or plantations, Consuls residing in foreign parts, and all other Our Officers and Ministers whatsoever, and all other Our loving subjects whom it may concern, are hereby expressly required and commanded to yield due obedience unto, and strictly to observe all the orders, instructions, regulations, and directions before mentioned, on pain of Our high displeasure.

Given at Our Court at Carlton-House, this twentieth day of November one thousand eight hundred and nineteen, in the sixtieth year of Our reign.

GOD save the KING.

Spencer Phillips, M.A. Trinity College, being the Delegates appointed by the University to attend on this occasion; accompanied by their Royal Highnesses the Dukes of York and Clarence, His Royal Highness Prince Leopold, the Bishops of London and Landaff, Earl Delawar, the Dean of Westminster, Sir John Silvester (the Recorder of London), Earl of Yarmouth, Mr. Wynn, the Marquess of Buckingham, Mr. Peel, Sir W. Scott, Mr. Ashurst and Mr. Fane (the Members for the county), Mr. Atkins Wright (the Member for the city), the Chancellor of the Exchequer, the Earl of Guildford, Lord Kenyon, Lord Dela-zouch, Baron Hardenbrook, and several other Noblemen and Gentlemen who were educated at the University, waited upon His Royal Highness the Prince Regent, to present to His Royal Highness the following Address:

"To His Royal Highness the PRINCE REGENT.

WE, His Majesty's most dutiful and loyal subjects, the Chancellor, Masters, and Scholars of the University of Oxford, beg leave to approach your Royal Highness in this alarming and awful state of our country, with renewed assurances of our zealous attachment to His Majesty's Person, Family, and Government, and to that happy Constitution in Church and State which is established in this realm.

With these sentiments we are unalterably impressed. We have already more than once been permitted to lay them at your Royal Highness's feet; and we are sensible that the best mode, and the most acceptable to your Royal Highness, by which we can manifest the deep conviction with which they are rooted in our minds, is by impressing them also on the minds of others; and by inculcating the doctrines of true religion, and the principles of loyalty to the Throne, obedience to the Laws, and attachment to the Constitution, on those whom we are preparing for the discharge, in their various stations, of duties inseparably connected with the public interests.

But we view with the deepest apprehension the continually increasing efforts which are made to undermine throughout the country, the ground-works of every duty both public and private; and at a time when all authority is outraged, and all public order insulted and violated, and when dangers of unusual magnitude, arising out of the rapid and connected progress of blasphemy and sedition, threaten both the peace of the community, and the personal security of individuals, we should be equally wanting to our feelings and our duty, if we did not in this public manner again express our abhorrence of such efforts, and our anxiety to maintain unimpaired the authority of the laws, the dignity of the Crown, and the independence of the Legislature. On these principles we will continue to act, as we trust we have hitherto acted. We know that they are the foundations of that public happiness which our country, by the blessing of Providence, has enjoyed, under the auspicious Government of your Royal Highness's illustrious House, and we are convinced that a zealous and active support of them is required from us by every consideration both of civil and religious duty.

Given, in our House of Convocation, this 28th day of October, in the year of our Lord 1819.

To which Address His Royal Highness was pleased to return the following most gracious Answer :

“ I return you my warmest thanks for this loyal and dutiful Address.

“ I was fully persuaded that the University of Oxford, distinguished as it is for the soundest principles of Loyalty and Religion, could not contemplate, without the utmost reprobation and alarm, the means so actively employed to destroy public morals at their very source, to bring into hatred and contempt all the civil authorities of the country, and ultimately to subvert the whole fabric of our Constitution both in Church and State. Such an avowal of your principles, at this most important conjuncture, is nevertheless highly gratifying to Me; and I am persuaded you will ever consider it to be your indispensable duty to spare no exertions in instilling them into the minds of those entrusted to your care, as the only solid foundation of private honour and happiness, and of public security and prosperity.”

At the Court at Carlton-House, Thursday, November 25, 1819.

A CHAPTER of the Most Noble Order of the Garter having been summoned for this day, the Knights Companions, in their mantles and collars, with the Officers of the Order hereafter mentioned, in their mantles, chains, and badges, attended His Royal Highness the Prince Regent in his own apartment soon after four o'clock; and, being called over by Black Rod (in the absence of Garter Principal King of Arms), a procession was made to the Chapter-Room in the following order:

Marquess of Anglesey.      Earl Bathurst.

Earl of Liverpool.

Duke of Wellington.

Duke of Montrose.

Marquess of Hertford.

Marquess of Stafford.      Earl of Winchilsea.

Earl of Pembroke.      Duke of Beaufort.

Earl of Hardwicke.      Duke of Rutland.

Marquess Camden.

Earl of Westmorland.

Mar-

Marquess of Salisbury.

His Royal Highness the Prince Leopold of Saxe-Cobourg.

His Royal Highness the Duke of Clarence.      His Royal Highness the Duke of York.

Sir Thomas Tyrwhitt, Knt. Gentleman Usher of the Black Rod.

The Lord Bishop of Salisbury, Chancellor of the Order.

His Royal Highness the PRINCE REGENT.

The Prince Regent and the Knights Companions being seated, the Chancellor signified to the Chapter the pleasure of His Royal Highness, in the name and on the behalf of the Sovereign, for filling the vacant stall in the Royal Chapel of St. George at Windsor: and, as by the statutes none but a Knight can be elected, Black Rod was commanded to introduce the Duke of Northumberland, who was knighted by the Prince Regent with the sword of state, and thereupon withdrew.

The suffrages were then collected by the Chancellor, beginning with the Junior Knight Companion, and presented to the Prince Regent, who commanded his Lordship to declare the Most Noble Hugh Duke of Northumberland duly elected a Knight of the Most Noble Order of the Garter.

His Grace was, thereupon, received at the door of the Chapter-Room by the Earl Bathurst and the Marquess of Anglesey, the two Junior Knights-Companions, and conducted between them to the Prince Regent, preceded by Black Rod, bearing (in the absence of Garter) the ensigns of the Order on a crimson velvet cushion.

The Duke kneeling near the Prince Regent, and Black Rod presenting, on his knee, the Garter, His Royal Highness, assisted by their Royal High-Highnesses the Dukes of York and Clarence, the two Senior Knights Companions, buckled it on his Grace's left leg; the Chancellor pronouncing the admonition.

Black Rod then presented the ribband with the George; and His Royal Highness, with the assistance of the said two Senior Knights Companions, put the same over his Grace's left shoulder; the Chancellor pronouncing the admonition.

The Duke, having kissed the Prince Regent's hand, and made the usual salutations to the Knights Companions (bowing only to those of the Blood Royal), withdrew.

The Chapter ended, Black Rod, by the command of the Prince Regent, called over the Knights Companions; and a procession was made back to the private apartment of His Royal Highness, in the order as before.

The sword of state was thereupon delivered to the Prince Regent, by Sir William Keppel, Knight Grand Cross of the Order, and Sir Manley Dixon, kneeling, was knighted therewith, after which he had the honour to kiss His Royal Highness's hand.

Then His Royal Highness the Duke of York and of Albany, First and Principal Knight Grand Cross of the Order, having received from the Officer of Arms the ribband and badge of a Knight Commander, presented them to the Prince Regent, who was pleased to invest Sir Manley Dixon with the same.

The Vice-Admiral having again had the honour to kiss the Prince Regent's hand, and having received from His Royal Highness the star of a Knight Commander, retired.

Major-General Sir Thomas Munro was then introduced, knighted, and invested with the same ceremonies.

His

His Royal Highness the Prince Regent to present to His Royal Highness the following Address :

To His Royal Highness George Prince of Wales,
REGENT of the United Kingdom of Great Britain and Ireland.

May it please your Royal Highness,

WE, His Majesty's most dutiful and loyal Subjects, the Chancellor, Masters and Scholars of the University of Cambridge, beg leave to offer to your Royal Highness a renewed assurance of our unabated devotion to your Royal Highness, and to His Majesty's Government.

Connected by the most sacred obligations, with the support of the civil and ecclesiastical establishments, we trust that the sincerity of our attachment is unquestioned : but we are peculiarly anxious, at this juncture, to express to your Royal Highness, how deeply sensible we are of the dangers by which they are assailed.

The attacks of infidelity and blasphemy (audacious and persevering beyond all former example), have awakened our liveliest apprehensions : Convinced, as we are, that the corruption of the human heart renders it liable to be seduced by doctrines flattering to the pride of human reason, and favourable to an uncontrolled exercise of the most powerful of human passions : while the general extension of literary acquirements (a signal blessing, if under the control of good principles), has facilitated the circulation of works subversive of all morality and religion.

We therefore beg leave to offer to your Royal Highness our sincerest thanks, for having directed the persons engaged in this pernicious traffic, to be brought to justice ; and we confidently trust that the decisions of our Tribunals will effect its complete suppression.

While

While our most revered institutions are thus protected from insult, we are sensible that minds open to conviction must be guarded by the powers of reason and argument. We shall ever bear in mind that it has been the great glory of Christianity to derive an accession of strength from the most open and powerful attacks of its adversaries. We are proud to reflect that many of the ablest and most devoted champions of our Faith, both in ancient and modern times, have sprung from the bosom of our University. And we assure your Royal Highness, that we look back to their learned and pious labours, not only as supplying weapons against the renewal of attacks which they have successfully repelled, but as furnishing the strongest incitement to imitate their glorious example, in combating new errors, and in training the minds of those with whose education we are intrusted, in the soundest principles of religion.

We are aware of the intimate connection that subsists between the attacks upon our holy religion, and the designs which are carried on against our laws and Constitution. The same persons have taken a conspicuous lead in both; and the same evil spirit of presumption and insubordination prompts them to resist all control, and to rise in rebellion against all laws, both human and divine. They have availed themselves of the distress and sufferings of the lower orders, to excite in them a hatred of that Government, which is equally necessary for the protection of all ranks, and in every condition, whether of prosperity or adversity.

They have abused our most valuable privileges, for the worst and most dangerous purposes.

The right we enjoy of petitioning our Government upon its public measures, they have perverted by meeting for the avowed object of demanding of that Government to put an end to its own existence, by substituting for the established Constitution of an

an essential branch of the Legislature, a wild and impracticable Democracy, unknown to our laws. Such purposes, we conceive, are equally unconstitutional under the Government over which your Royal Highness presides; and inadmissible under any Government which possesses the right of defending and maintaining itself.

In other instances they have openly proceeded to carry such revolutionary purposes into execution; and in many more, the meetings which have assembled under pretexts more consistent with the law, have been accompanied with such circumstances as demonstrated that their real objects were totally foreign to deliberation or discussion among themselves, or solicitation or remonstrance with the Government.

In this state of the Country we acknowledge with gratitude the paternal care and prudence of your Royal Highness in assembling the Parliament. We look forward with confidence to its decisions, whether judicial or legislative; and we trust that, with the aid of its deliberations, your Royal Highness will (by the blessing of Almighty God) successfully defend against the machinations of daring and desperate adventurers, that Government which has stood the test of so many ages; and which, in our own age, your Royal Highness has been the happy instrument, under Providence, of reseuing from the greatest perils both external and internal, by unparalleled and ever-glorious victories, and by firmness, justice and moderation in Council.

Given under our common Seal, the 24th day of November 1819.

To which Address His Royal Highness was pleased to return the following most gracious answer :

“ I return you my warmest thanks for this loyal and dutiful Address.

“ It is peculiarly gratifying to me to receive, at this time, such a testimony of your zealous and unabated attachment to the civil and religious establishment of your Country; and I am fully persuaded that you will ever consider it as your indispensable and first duty to cherish and inculcate that reverence for our holy religion, and that firm adherence to the true principles of the Constitution in Church and State, on which the preservation of all that is most valuable to us must wholly depend.

“ At this important conjuncture, I rely with confidence on the wisdom of Parliament, and on the active and cordial co-operation of the great body of His Majesty's Subjects to enable me to arrest the progress of infidelity and sedition; to frustrate the designs of the disaffected, and, under the favour of Divine Providence, to restore tranquillity to the Nation.”
